HOW MALBY HELPED TO BEAT THE STATE

His Own Sworn Version of His Part in Land Litigation While Senator.

SUED LAND COMPANY LATER

And Told How by His Aid It Nullified a U. S. Supreme Court Decision, and Ousted State from Forest Tract.

The troubled affairs of the Saranac Land and Timber Company have kept the courts busy for several years, but it was not until recently that attention was called to the connection of Congressman George R. Malby with the litigation in which that company has been involved. That connection furnishes a rather startling chapter on which some light is thrown in a complaint sworn to by Mr. Malby in a suit begun by him last year in the Supreme Court of Franklin County to recover compensation for services rendered to the lumber concern which, he avers, were of quite an exceptional nature.

Like so many other concerns engaged in forest land deals on the outskirts of the State's forest preserves in the Adirondacks, the Saranac Land and Timber Company is made up of men who have figured prominently in politics in both parties. The defendants named by Congressman Malby in his complaint are Martin V. B. Turner, Smith M. Weed, who, years ago, was the recognized leader of the Democrats in the northern tier, and still wields considerable influence in Democratic politics in that section of the State; John B. Riley, who a year ago was elected a Judge in Clinton County on the Democratic ticket; Peletiah D. Marsh, Frank E. Smith, and George N. Ostrander, who has been a witness in the forest, fish, and game investigation in Albany within the last few days.

This company, incorporated in New Jersey with 122 shares of capital stock about 1894, acquired the underlying or "bottom" titles to a tract of valuable timber land at the headwaters of the Saranac River, which the State Controller had ordered sold for non-payment of taxes several years before, and to which, in the course of these sales, the State had taken title for the purpose of adding the lands to the Adirondack Park lands. As soon as the Saranac Land and Timber Company obtained its titles it at once began suits to oust the State from possession. The suit was tried by United States Justice Alfred C. Cox, who upheld the State in possession, the United States Supreme Court affirming the decision of Justice Cox in April, 1900.

The complaint makes no mention of the fact, but persons interested in the company recently told a TIMES reporter that in some way a hint was conveyed to the owners that by retaining Mr. Malby, who then was a State Senator, the decision of the United States Supreme Court might be nullified. The complaint itself tells the story of subsequent events in this language:

> That after said company had been defeated in its action or actions in the United States Circuit Court and its said appeal to the United States Supreme Court, and about the beginning of the year 1904, it sought to retain and engage this plaintiff to assist in procuring a proper referee for and to act as counsel in the trial of the actions pending in this court and to try and effect a compromise thereof with the State. Certain negotiations thereupon ensued between plaintiff and the above-named defendants, it and their officers and agents which about the early part of the year 1904 resulted in the making of an agreement between plaintiff and defendants whereby it was agreed that this plaintiff should assist in procuring a suitable referee before whom to try the said actions then pending in this court and act as counsel in prosecuting said actions to the determination or settlement thereof, and in case said actions were successfully prosecuted and said lands recovered by said company or a settlement and compromise thereof effected satisfactorily to the defendants, then as compensation to plaintiff for his services therein there was to be transferred and delivered to him by defendants fifty-eight (58) shares of the capital stock of said company, and his said services in case said company was successful were thereupon fixed and agreed upon as fifty-eight one hundred and twenty-seconds of the property of said company.
> That after the making of said agreement this plaintiff entered upon the performance thereof upon his part, and consulted and advised with said company and its attorneys as to a suitable referee before whom to try said cases, which resulted in the appointing of the Hon. A. X. Parker of Potsdam, N. Y., as such referee by order of this court, dated March 15, 1904.

The case was set down for trial in May, 1904. The proceedings before the referee involved the legality of the Controller's action in selling the lands to the State. It had been a custom among concerns owning timber lands in the Adirondacks to permit their taxes to lapse for as long as twenty years, when the State could sell the lands at public auction for non-payment, when the original owners had a splendid opportunity to bid them in again for a good deal less than the taxes would have amounted to.

Congressman Malby swears that the litigation before the referee involved many intricate questions, the construction of many laws which had never been passed upon by the courts, and the reversal of adverse decisions on other questions by the highest courts. Mr. Malby swears that he devoted much time and energy to the work. He continues:

> That said referee, about Aug. 25, 1906, duly made his report, finding in favor of said company, and adjusting that it was the owner of and entitled to the possession of said lands in said N. E. ¼ of said township, upon which judgment was duly entered in favor of said company in Franklin County Clerk's office, Aug. 30, 1906; upon information and belief that the report of said referee and the judgment entered thereon was obtained for said company as a result of the time, research, judgment, and services given to it by this plaintiff, and that the referee in reaching the conclusions which he did, found it necessary to and did refuse to follow decisions of the Court of Appeals of this State and of the United States Supreme Court, which decisions and the legal principles announced therein had for years been regarded as settled and fixed principles of law by courts and lawyers generally, and all of which said referee was prevailed upon to do by reason of the efforts and arguments of this plaintiff.
> That from about the beginning of the year 1904 to and including about the latter part of the year 1906, this plaintiff, at the request of said company, its agents and attorneys, and the other defendants herein, sought to bring about a settlement and compromise between said company and the State of New York of the issues involved in said action and upon propositions submitted by said company, but was unable to effect such settlement or compromise.

In 1907, when William S. Jackson became Attorney General and Mr. Malby had exchanged his seat in the State Senate for one in Congress, the persons interested in the company succeeded in effecting a settlement perfecting the judgment rendered on the report of the referee as well as their title to the valuable forest lands, aggregating some 11,250 acres. Then, according to the complaint, they repudiated the agreement with Congressman Malby. Under [illegible] according to some of the [illegible] Malby stood to receive [illegible] of $10,000 for what he did [illegible] of the State of New York [illegible] the courts the [illegible] of the State upheld [illegible] the highest court in [illegible] the United States Supreme Court.

The complaint was sworn to by Mr. Malby on Aug. 17 last year. His counsel is Lewis E. Carr of Albany, who had charge of the defense of Senator Jotham P. Allds in the latter's bribery trial before the Senate.

ABRUZZI DECISION SOON?

Report That Senator Elkins Is Going to Paris to Meet His Daughter.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—The latest report in Paris concerning Miss Katherine Elkins is that she is here, staying at some obscure hotel and accompanied only by a maid, in order to meet her father, who is expected here from America.

The Duke of the Abruzzi, it is also said, will come to Paris early next week, when the question of his marriage to Miss Elkins will be finally settled one way or the other.

There is no positive confirmation of the report that Miss Elkins is in Paris, although she is said to have been recognized yesterday at the exhibition of toys being held in the Grand Palais in the Champs Elysées.

The Eclair states that the Duke will have an interview with the King of Italy immediately after the latter's return from Montenegro, and that after the meeting in Paris the Elkinses and he will go for a tour of the Italian lakes.

From Rome it is reported that Miss Elkins before her marriage to the Duke will be received into the Roman Catholic Church; that the King of Montenegro and Prince Victor Napoleon will be the Duke's witnesses and two American Senators Miss Elkins's witnesses at the wedding, and that all the members of the Italian royal family will be present. All these statements are said to come from persons having intimate relations with the Duke.

At the hotel here where the Elkins family usually stop the report that Miss Elkins is in Paris is steadfastly denied.

"TAFT OR TEDDY?"

Watterson Says Republicans Must Decide Which Master to Serve.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 31.—Henry Watterson will say in The Courier-Journal to-morrow, under the caption, "Under Which King, Bezonian?"

"When The Courier-Journal, just a few months ago, asked its newspaper colleagues to consider Theodore Roosevelt as they had never considered him before, and, while free from tumult, excitement, and acrimony of immediate combat to take serious account of the political situation, we got for our portion the derision of some, the deprecation of others, and incredulity from all.

"We played-out Democrats don't count. If we utter a word we are accused of 'disturbing the business of the country.' A single hint about the robber barons and the crooked tariff they have put upon us, with Taft and Aldrich and Cannon at their head, spells 'treason' in us. But Teddy can cry, 'I shall insist upon honesty if it breaks up the best business in the land,' amid the applause of the multitude, including the Kentucky Republicans, with their approval of Taft and Aldrich and Cannon, and the 'best tariff ever' yet clinging to their lips. Yum, yum.

"Nevertheless, it remains hard to serve two masters at once, both Taft and Teddy. It is hard to ride two horses running in opposite directions. The conundrum is up to the Republicans. They cannot play both ends against the middle. They cannot be insurgents with Beveridge in Indiana, and standpatters with Bradley in Kentucky. Our junior Senator is an eloquent stump speaker and a capital debater. Presently he is going to tell us whether he milks ducks with his colleague from Rhode Island, or his colleagues from Wisconsin and Kansas; why, in case the Payne-Aldrich tariff, for which he voted, is 'the best ever,' it still needs revision; and what he now thinks of Uncle Joe Cannon.

"In short and in fine, here with Bradley in Kentucky, as with Tim Woodruff et al. in New York, it is Taft, or Teddy. Teddy or Taft?

"Under which king, Bezonian; speak or die."

ALERT TO KEEP OUT CHOLERA

Health Department Here Examining All Passengers from European Ports.

Health Officer Doty has tightened inspection at this port to prevent the possible entry of cholera here. This action is taken because of the existence of the disease in Russia, Germany, and Italy. All vessels arriving from ports in Europe where cholera is reported are rigorously inspected. Not only the steerage, but the cabin passengers are subjected to a thorough examination.

All passengers who show suspicious symptoms will be transferred to Hoffman Island. The steamships will be disinfected before being allowed to go to their piers.

The König Albert, which got in from Italian ports with 316 cabin and as many steerage passengers, was detained in Quarantine all morning, while her passengers were being examined. The Pannonia, which got into Quarantine in the late afternoon, was detained two hours. She brought 136 cabin and 1,133 steerage passengers.

TOO MANY JERSEY PEACHES.

Crop So Big and Prices So Low It Doesn't Pay to Market Them.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITEHOUSE, N. J., Aug. 31.—The peach crop, on which so many of the farmers depend, is this year a failure, not because the peaches are poor or few but because they are so abundant that it will not pay to ship them to market. Only the very best will sell for enough to pay the freight, and the farmers are selling them as fast as they can at the best prices obtainable, to get them off their hands before hope of marketing them at all has departed.

The best price for middling fruit on the trees is 17 cents a basket. Ninety cents has been obtained occasionally for the best. Never in the history of the State have the orchards borne so abundantly as this year.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNANDALE, N. J., Aug. 31.—From 40 to 85 cents a basket is the prevailing price for the best peaches here.

One farm shipped 1,500 baskets to-day, and it is estimated that it will market 15,000 by the time the season has closed. No attention is being paid to the poorer fruit. The market is so glutted that it does not pay to ship any but the best.

Might Nationalize the Meat Trade.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Thursday, Sept. 1.—Sir Joseph Ward, the Premier, in a speech to-day on American trusts, informed Parliament that should any American combination endeavor to control the New Zealand meat market the members of Parliament would be consulted as to whether or not the entire meat trade should be nationalized.

SAILS AWAY LEAVING A SUICIDE NOTE

Doctor's Wife Addresses Strange Missive to The Times Before She Starts Abroad.

WIRELESS WARNS HUSBAND

Reply Says Mrs. Wolbarst's Letter Was Just a Joke, but Her Relatives Were Alarmed.

A declaration of her intention to kill herself and give all her property to her husband was contained in a letter received yesterday morning by THE NEW YORK TIMES from Mrs. Bessie Bernstein Wolbarst of 105 East Nineteenth Street, who sailed for Germany on Tuesday morning with her husband, Dr. Abraham L. Wolbarst, whom she married less than a year ago. The letter, which thoroughly frightened Mrs. Wolbarst's father, Edward Bernstein, a clothing merchant of 636 Broadway, was written by Mrs. Wolbarst some time on last Sunday, forty-eight hours before she and Dr. Wolbarst sailed. It was not mailed, however, until late on Tuesday evening, when Joseph Moellers, Dr. Wolbarst's office attendant, dropped it, he says, in the letter box at the corner of Nineteenth Street and Fourth Avenue.

Here it is:

> Dear Sirs: This is to tell you, when the news of my death reaches the public, that it was my own will to die and (I) did so by my own hands.
>
> This I also want every one to know, my husband was innocent—all he did was to marry me—that was enough.
>
> I leave all I have, personal and real estate, to him.
>
> Sunday. (Signed)
> BESSIE BERNSTEIN WOLBARST.

The letter was addressed to "NEW YORK TIMES, Times Building, Forty-second Street and Broadway, city." It reached the office by the first mail. It was not known then at the office that Dr. and Mrs. Wolbarst had gone abroad, and an attempt was made to reach the doctor. Moellers answered the telephone at the doctor's office, and said that Dr. and Mrs. Wolbarst had sailed, but that Mr. Bernstein, the young woman's father, could be reached on the telephone.

Mr. Bernstein at first was incredulous and then greatly shocked. He was sure at first there must be some mistake, and that the letter was a forgery. He said he had seen Dr. Wolbarst and his daughter on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm on Tuesday, and had watched them from the pier as the ship sailed away. He had never seen his daughter, a bride of ten months, in better spirits, and it was impossible to believe that she contemplated killing herself. He came at once to THE TIMES office, where the letter was shown him.

"It is her handwriting without a doubt," he declared, sinking into a chair. "What can be done?"

It was his fear, and that of every one else who had seen the letter that Mrs. Wolbarst suddenly had become mentally upset, and might jump overboard. After a hurried conference, in which Mr. Bernstein and his son took part, it was decided to sen da wireless message to the purser of the Kronprinz Wilhelm, requesting him to acquaint Dr. Wolbarst with the contents of his wife's letter. It was deemed best not to send the message to the husband direct, for fear both of the shock to him and that by some mischance the telegram might come to Mrs. Wolbarst's hands first.

The message was dispatched about 10:45 o'clock and for the next six hours no member of the Bernstein or Wolbarst family drew an easy breath.

Mr. Bernstein said Dr. Wolbarst had intended to go abroad to spend some months. His daughter had not cared especially about going, but her husband had declared that he would not go unless she accompanied him. So she returned from th ecountry a few days ago.

Early in the afternoon Joseph Moellers, the attendant, who is looking after the Wolbarst apartment in his employer's absence, got a letter from Mrs. Wolbarst which had been sent over the ship's rail at Sandy Hook by the pilot. This note, written as the ship was off Coney Island, was cheerful and friendly. She begged Moellers's pardon for leaving the house in such an upset condition following their hurried departure, and said he might "celebrate" at her expense if he wished. She concluded by sending her love and that of Dr. Wolbarst to him, signing herself, "Aufwiedersehen, Bessie Bernstein Wolbarst."

It was not until after 5 o'clock that a message, as mystifying as Mrs. Wolbarst's letter, came from the purser of the Kronprinz Wilhelm. It said:

> On Board S. S. Kronprinz Wilhelm, Aug. 31, via Halifax.
>
> NEW YORK TIMES, New York.
>
> Mrs. Wolbarst says letter was written in joke and mailed by mistake by unknown party. (Signed) PURSER.

The message was read to Mr. Bernstein over the telephone. He expressed great relief, but could not offer no explanation of the letter. He seemed to think all danger of hi sdaughter's suicide was past, and added:

"I can make no further comment."

Moellers says Mrs. Wolbarst is very high strung, and, though unable to offer any explanation of the letter, he suggested that she might have been affected temporarily by the excitement of quick preparations to go abroad. He does not believe she will do herself any injury.

NEW BOSS IN DELMONICO'S.

Eugene Garnier, Sr., Retires and Eugene, Jr., Reigns in His Stead.

Eugene Garnier, who has been the manager of Delmonico's restaurant for thirty-eight years, retired last night and there was a farewell gathering of the employes who have served under him in the restaurant. They gave him a silver loving cup, and John Gladis, the head waiter in the café cried when asked to deliver a speech. John Gladis just said that after his long service under Mr. Garnier he couldn't make a speech on an occasion like that. Then he sat down.

To-day, Mr. Garnier's son, Eugene Garnier, Jr., will take his father's old place. The cup given to Mr. Garnier, Sr., was a large and handsome one, with the tale of his years of service inscribed upon it. William Hars, head waiter of the restaurant, presented it. He said that the occasion was one of sorrow, not gladness, and added that he hoped Mr. Garnier, Jr., would be as good and kind to the employes as his father had been.

Jacques Cattaneo, the head bookkeeper, who has been connected with the uptown café for forty years, referred to Mr. Garnier as the "Captain of the good ship Delmonico," and said plainly he feared that the ship would sink without his guidance.

All the employes were called upon to speak, and not one of them could say enough in favor of their "boss," to whom they all referred as the best and kindest man they ever had the pleasure to work under.

BULLET MAY BE LEFT IN MAYOR'S THROAT

PATIENT DOING EXCELLENTLY

He Met the Doctors at the Station After Touring in His Automobile —Chatted with Neighbors.

After a thorough examination of Mayor Gaynor by six doctors at his home in St. James, L. I., yesterday, it was decided that no operation will be necessary for the present to remove the bullet from the Mayor's throat, and that possibly no such operation need ever take place. The doctors found the Mayor in excellent condition, and are thoroughly satisfied with his progress.

The Mayor met the doctors at the train at St. James and drove them to his home in his automobile. He left the house in an automobile shortly after 11 o'clock in the morning, saying that he was going for a long ride. Just before the noon train arrived at the station he drove up there and was greeted with surprise by many friends.

While the Mayor waited for the train to arrive he chatted and joked with the people on the platform. When the train drew in to the station and the six doctors alighted, carrying ominous-looking bundles, consternation seized the crowd. They did not have their instruments and apparatus stowed in the automobile before the rumor was all about that they had come to operate upon the Mayor. St. James spent a very uneasy three hours while the doctors were at the Mayor's house, and even when they came out they would not talk of their visit, and there were rumors that the operation had been unsuccessful.

It was some time before apprehension of the Mayor's neighbors were allayed. City Chamberlain Hyde, who is probably the Mayor's closest personal friend, was the first to hear the news that the doctors had not come with any intention of operating, but simply to make a thorough examination, and that possibly the operation would not be necessary at all. Drs. Arlitz, Dowd, Parrish, Stewart, and Brewer, who attended the Mayor at Hoboken, and Dr. Cornelius G. Coakley, who is one of the best-known throat specialists in the country, made up the party of medical men.

"The Mayor's throat was found to be in excellent condition," said Mr Hyde. "There has been a wonderful improvement in his voice, and there is every evidence that with sufficient rest it will regain its full power." It has been known that the Mayor came out of the hospital with a slight impediment in his speech, experiencing some difficulty with sibilant sounds.

All the doctors, with the exception of Dr. Parrish, who is the Gaynor family physician, left immediately after the examination. He remained for a short automobile ride with the Mayor and then returned to Brooklyn.

There was a good deal of excitement about the City Hall when the news reached there that the doctors had gone to St. James. His office was besieged by callers.

Secretary Meloney finally got the Mayor's home on the telephone and was told of the result of the examination.

GLAD GAYNOR IS BETTER.

City Officials Pass Resolutions and So Do Push-Cart Pedlers.

At a meeting of practically all the important city officials who are in town in City Hall resolutions were adopted yesterday expressing satisfaction at Mayor Gaynor's recovery and appreciation of his work as head of the city government. The resolutions, which were signed by Acting Mayor Mitchel, Corporation Counsel Watson, Water Commissioner Thompson, Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards, and Deputy Controller Mathewson, were:

> Whereas, The Hon. William J. Gaynor has proven himself a wise, just, and fearless executive, who has endeared himself to his official associates and appointees, and to the public generally; and
>
> Whereas, The Mayor has lately survived a grave peril, and has, with unexampled fortitude and philosophy, won a splendid triumph over the extremities of physical injury and bodily pain. Now, therefore, be it
>
> Resolved by the undersigned official associates and appointees of the Mayor, that they hereby record their gratification and delight at the Mayor's rapid progress toward recovery, and their profound hope that the Mayor shall be speedily restored to a full measure of health and strength, and so be soon enabed to resume the great public work in which he has been engaged for many years, and which he has so effectively continued since his term as Mayor began.

A holiday was observed yesterday by the members of a Federation of Push-Cart Peddlers' Associations of the city to celebrate Mayor Gaynor's recovery. Several hundred marched to City Hall where the committee was received by Acting Mayor Mitchel. They presented to him resolutions on the shooting, in which the assault was characterized as "cruel, savage and unprovoked" and the man who did it as a "dastardly and wicked coward" and a "vile wretch and reptile."

The organizations represented were the United Citizen Peddlers, the Rivington Street Citizen Merchants, the East Side Pushcart Peddlers, the Harlem Peddlers, the Williamsburg Citizens' Association, the Williamsburg Protective Association, the Belmont Pushcart Peddlers, and the United Citizens of Brooklyn.

The parade started yesterday from the hearquarters of the Federation, 92 Columbia Street, and proceeded through Ludlow, Houston, Orchard, Broome and Willett Streets, East Broadway and Park Row. Each man wore a rosette with Mayor Gaynor's picture in the centre.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 31.—At the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Convention in session here to-day, a resolution expressing satisfaction for the improved condition of Mayor William H. Gaynor, of New York, who was to have been a speaker, and hoping that he might be spared for a long and useful life, was offered by Capt. Charles Campbell, of New York, and adopted.

70 MILES OVER LAKE FLOWN BY CURTISS

American Breaks Record for Over-Water Flight, and Possibly for Speed.

JOURNEY LASTS 78 MINUTES

Loraine, the Actor-Aviator, Held Record Before—Curtiss Cheered by Immense Crowds.

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CEDAR POINT, Ohio, Aug. 31.—I completed a flight to-day from Euclid Beach Park, near Cleveland, to Cedar Point, a distance of seventy miles, without stopping. The start was made at 1:06 and the arrival was at 2:24.

My return was delayed until Thursday on account of rain. The course along the shore line is of a zigzag contour. There are cliffs and woods along the line, making places for a lighting scarce.

The lake wind is not so steady as the ocean trade winds. It was puffy the last twenty miles, and the riding then a little rough. Otherwise the flight was smooth. The wind was twenty miles an hour from the northeast. My course was west. The wind was at my side all the way.

I believe this is the longest flight yet made entirely over the water, and is also a record for speed—70 miles in 78 minutes.

My average height was between 400 and 500 feet.

My experience leads me to believe that the best route of the proposed New York-Chicago flight would be along the shores of the lakes. G. H. CURTISS.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—Another chapter in the story of aviation was written to-day by Glenn H. Curtiss, who piloted his biplane over Lake Erie, from Euclid Beach Park, east of Cleveland, to Cedar Point, off Sandusky Bay, in an hour and eighteen minutes.

For a part of the time Curtiss flew at the rate of a mile a minute. A gale interfered with him in the last twenty miles of the flight.

Curtiss rose from the beach at Euclid Beach at 1:06 P. M. Fifty thousand persons had gathered there since early morning, despite yesterday's postponement, and cheered the start. The airman hung low over the water for some seconds, then rose to 100 feet, and steered straight west, picking up his speed after a few dips to a mile a minute. He passed Cleveland Harbor and Rocky River, at the far western edge of Cleveland, at that speed, had [illegible] at Lorain, thirty-three miles distant, but put on speed again [illegible] Vermilion. At Huron he steered north and fought a gale to Cedar Point, landing gracefully before the Breakers Hotel at 2:24 P. M.

"Fine," he said, when asked how he liked the trip.

He had seen and waved his hand at the crowds gathered along the course several times, approaching within 150 feet of the shore line at Huron, but he flew for part of the way a mile out over the lake. His average was 350 feet out.

A return trip had been planned to-day, but the gale made necessary a postponement till to-morrow.

"I don't want to face that wind again to-day. I will start back at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning," Curtiss said at Cedar Point to-night.

Curtiss ran from the crowd at Cedar Point, where 25,000 persons surrounded his machine, and hurried to the hotel. He at once telephoned to Mrs. Curtiss, who had clung to a telephone at Euclid Beach Park since the time the biplane was lost to sight there a few minutes after the start. Curtiss told his wife the trip had been successful, that he felt "fine," and asked her to join him at the Point to witness the start to-morrow.

Mrs. Curtiss and the airman's mother, Mrs. Adams, alone of the Euclid Beach Park crowd did not cheer the start of the flight. They were so intent on the details that they forgot to do so. The waves were running high, and Mrs. Curtiss had glanced at them questioningly. But she showed no fear.

"Why doesn't he rise?" she asked when the machine failed to rise fast at the start. "Ah!" she exclaimed when the machine rose to a height of 100 feet 300 yards from shore. Then the machine dipped, rose, dipped and rose again.

"Those are air puffs—he's hunting better currents," she explained.

Curtiss used the eight-cylinder fifty horse power biplane of his own construction in which he made his recent flight down the Hudson River from Albany to New York.

How many persons in all saw the flight it is impossible to compute, but the number was probably over 200,000.

Mr. Curtiss's feat is similar in some respects to that performed on Aug. 10 by Robert Loraine, the actor, who has taken up aviation under the name of "Mr. Jones." Until yesterday Mr. Loraine's feat constituted the record for over-sea flight.

He started in a Farman biplane from Blackpool, England, at 6:25 A. M., and steered for Llandudno, Wales. He crossed the River Ribble, and made his way along the low-lying coast of Lancashire. The thick fog at the mouth of the Mersey estuary gave considerable trouble, and from Formby Point he had to steer in a more southerly direction until nearly over Liverpool. Crossing the Wirral Peninsula did not present much trouble, the wide expanse of flat land along the coast making an ideal flying ground. After skirting Air Point, on the Welsh side of the Dee, the airman sighted Little Orme Head. He steered to the left of it, and taking a look around the flat plain which is supposed to be the old bed of the Conway River, and noticing the golf links of the Rhos-on-Sea Club, he decided to alight there. He came quietly to earth on the golf course a few miles from Llandudno.

Mr. Loraine left Rhos-on-Sea to continue his journey at 5:30 in the evening. His departure was witnessed by thousands of spectators. After a short run along the golf course, making a circuit of the links, he steered for the Little Orme Head, and crossed Llandudno Bay, passing a little seaward of the pierhead. Proceeding round the Great Orme, he made straight across the sea for Point Lynas, Northeast Anglesey. Mr. Loraine alighted at Camlyn, North Anglesey, eighteen miles from Holyhead.

Had he flown in a straight line from Blackpool to Camlyn he would have covered about seventy miles in the two flights, but as a matter of fact he flew about sixty miles on the first lap, owing to his skirting of the coast. His rate of speed was somewhat less than that of Mr. Curtiss yesterday.

WIDER PLEADS GUILTY.

Thieving Bank Cashier Asks for an Immediate Sentence.

When Erwin J. Wider, the cashier of the Russo-Chinese Bank, who got away with about $525,000 in securities, was arraigned yesterday before Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions he withdrew his plea of not guilty to an indictment found last week and pleaded guilty also to three new indictments charging grand larceny.

Through his counsel Wider asked that he be sentenced at once, but at the request of Acting District Attorney Moss, who said that he wanted to make a further investigation, Judge O'Sullivan adjourned sentence until Sept. 9. Mr. Moss said that other persons might be involved in the thefts.

AMERICAN AIRMAN'S FEAT.

Weymann Flies 105 Miles with a Passenger—Will Try for $20,000 Prize.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—The American aviator Weymann to-day flew in a biplane from Mourmelon to Paris, a distance of 105 miles, carrying a passenger.

He landed at Montmirail, forty miles from the start, for luncheon, and on again ascending, went to Massy, fifty-five miles from Montmirail, where he stopped to replenish his gasoline.

As soon as possible Mr. Weymann will start for the special Michelin prize of $20,000 for a flight from Paris to Clermont-Ferrand, a distance of 217 miles as the crow flies.

OUR CENSUS FIGURES TO-DAY

To be Given Out at Washington—Rapid Growth of North Yakima.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—It was stated to-day that the New York City census figures would be announced at 9 P. M. to-morrow.

The population of Bloomfield, N. J., announced to-day, is 15,070, as compared with 9,668 in 1900.

JUSTICE DROPS HER SCALES.

They Crash Down 100 Feet Near Group of Court Attendants.

GREENSBURG, Penn., Aug. 31.—The blind goddess that stands with outstretched arm on the huge dome of the Westmoreland County Court House dropped her scales yesterday afternoon just as court criers were announcing the adjournment of Criminal Court.

The heavy balances struck the pavement more than a hundred feet below with a loud crash but a few feet from a group of court attendants. None was hurt.

A PRINCE QUARANTINED.

Tsai-Hsun on Liner Delayed by Supposed Plague Case.

TOKIO, Thursday, Sept. 1.—The Steamer Manchuria, which sailed from Shanghai on Aug. 24 for San Francisco, has been quarantined because of a suspected case of the plague on board.

Among her passengers are the Chinese Prince Tsai-Hsun and his suite, comprising a naval mission which intends to spend several weeks in America studying the United States navy.

MUSTN'T SPEAK TO HIS WIFE.

Enforcing Month's Separation, Judge Orders Husband Not to Go Near Her.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 31.—In enforcing a month's separation as a means of finally bringing a wife and husband together after a series of quarrels, Justice Morschauser has issued an injunction restraining James Turner from speaking to his wife, going upon her farm, or in any way annoying her. The court feels that if the couple are kept apart for a few weeks and the husband takes a complete rest they will think things over and probably be reconciled.

Mrs. Turner has sued for a separation on the grounds of cruelty. Turner, accepting Justice Morschauser's injunction, resignedly says he will build a bungalow on the farm over the Connecticut line and live there alone.

Turner owns four farms which adjoin the line between New York and Connecticut. He and his wife have been living on the farm in Pawling, just within New York State.

BAG OF JEWELS A FOOTMAT.

Left in a Hack and Overlooked by All Until Owner's Return.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 31.—A hackman unknowingly carted around in his rig for two hours, last night, a bag that contained a diamond necklace, two sunbursts, several diamond pins, a rope of pearls, a dozen rings, and other jewelry said to be worth several thousand dollars.

The jewels are the property of the Misses Ruth and Grace Reddy of Chicago, who arrived last night at the Colonial Hotel in Eighth Avenue, and in the excitement of the greeting from friends left their jewel bag in the hack, where it was for two hours a footmat for several fares the cabby had in the meantime.

While dressing the Misses Reddy missed their jewels. A search for the carriage was made and it was located and the bag found in it. The hack driver received numerous fares for his unwitting care of the bag.

FLINT'S SUBMARINE DEAL.

American Rights of the Labeuf Type of Torpedo Boat Acquired.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Charles R. Flint concluded contracts yesterday on behalf of his company for the exclusive commercial control of the Labeuf type of submarine torpedo boat in America.

He expects to open negotiations with the United States Government immediately after his return to New York. He says he feels confident that the Secretary of the Navy will, after due examination, favor the adoption of the Labeuf type of submarine, which is the one now used by France.

Since the recent disaster off the port of Calais, in which the entire crew of a submarine lost their lives after a collision, M. Labeuf has, it is said, perfected a device for making escpae under such conditions easy.

WHITNEY AT BATTLE HARBOR.

Party Returning from Etah After a Successful Trip.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 31.—The first word from Harry Whitney, who sailed last June on the Boethic, with Paul Rainey of Cleveland, for Etah, was received in a wireless message saying that his party had reached Battle Harbor, Labrador, en route for home, and expected to arrive next week. It added that all were well on board and that the party had enjoyed a successful hunting trip.

When the party left Boston on June 15, Capt. Bartlett, who accompanied Peary on his successful trip to the pole and who was in charge of the Whitney expedition, could give no definite information as to when they would return. The date was fixed for some time in September or October if the trip was successful and they did not get caught in the ice. There was considerable doubt as to whether the party would not winter again in the North. Provision was made to do so, although Mr. Whitney and Capt. Bartlett were not at all anxious to winter there. But, according to the dispatch to-day, the trip has been brought to a successful conclusion much sooner than anticipated.

No mention is made in the message regarding the package left by Dr. Cook with Mr. Whitney on his former trip.

ROOSEVELT OUT WITH PLATFORM

Declares for More Drastic Control of Corporations, in Speech at Osawatomie.

FAVORS TARIFF COMMISSION

Advocates Complete Reform of Financial System After Full Investigation.

SCORES BROKEN PROMISES

Crowd Applies Remark to New Tariff and Cheers Madly—Introduced as Greatest Man in the World.

Special to The New York Times.

OSAWATOMIE, Kan., Aug. 31.—"My policies up to date"—that, in a phrase, is the substance of the speech delivered at Osawatomie to-day by Col. Theodore Roosevelt. It was politics of the most advanced sort that the Colonel talked. He was heard by thousands of Kansas politicians of the most advanced kind, progressives or insurgents, or whatever they may be called, and they liked every word of his speech and cheered him to the echo again and again.

In a word, Col. Roosevelt laid down his revised platform, modified and corrected to bring it up abreast of the times, and his enthusiastic audience promptly climbed aboard, shouting their approbation and entire confidence with all their lung power. Briefly summarised, here is the platform:

Col. Roosevelt declares first of all for the abolition of special privilege.

"We must drive the special interest out of politics," he declared to an accompanying yell that could be heard for a mile over the rain-soaked prairies. "We can have no effective control of the corporations while their political activity remains."

To Curb Special Privilege.

Under this head of special privilege the Colonel declared for five points as follows:

First—[illegible] publicity of corporate affairs, [illegible]

Second—Government supervision of capitalization.

Third—Limitation of franchises so that the operations under them can be controlled and abuses prevented.

Fourth—The holding of officers, especially directors of corporations, personally responsible for violations of law.

Fifth—Complete control of combinations.

Passing from the discussion of these points, which occupied a considerable portion of his address, the Colonel took up next the tariff. This he made the second plank in his platform. He avoided direct comment on the Payne-Aldrich law, but inferentially announced his dissatisfaction with it by declaring for a permanent expert tariff commission and for revision hereafter schedule by schedule.

His third plank was devoted to swollen fortunes, in discussing which he followed rather closely the lines of his speeches on this subject in the last year or two of his Presidency, but went a step further in his suggestions for remedies.

That led naturally to the fourth plank, dealing with financial panics and favoring such scientific investigation as will make possible a complete reform of the financial system.

The fifth plank dealt in the old manner with the army and navy. Plank No. 6 treated of conservation, along the lines of the Denver speech. Seventh, the Colonel talked of the farmers as he did in his first speech at Oriskany last week. Eighth came a discussion of property rights as against human rights, with the emphasis strongly in favor of the human kind.

Ninth came a talk on National efficiency and against overcentralization, with something about the "new nationalism." He declared that the country must be ready to face "temporary disaster, whether or not brought on by those who will war against us to the knife." But those who oppose reform "will do well to remember that ruin in its worst form is inevitable if our National life brings us nothing better than swollen fortunes for the few and the triumph, in both politics and business, of a sordid and selfish materialism."

Hints at the Recall.

In his tenth plank, with which he closed, the Colonel declared for the direct primary system, coupled with a strong and efficient corrupt practices act, and he used one sentence which pointed sharply at the recall, saying:

"I believe that promt removal of unfaithful or incompetent public servants should be made easy and sure in whatever way experience shall show to be most expedient in any given class of cases."

Right at the start of his speech Col. Roosevelt made an interpolation in the prepared address which made the great audience fairly howl. It was evident that instant application of what the Colonel said was made by many in the crowd to the sponsors of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law who have been declaring it a fulfillment of the platform pledge of 1908. He had said that it was the "struggle in Kansas which determined that our country should be in deed, as well as in name, devoted to both union and freedom!" He paused there to comment on the fact that from 1776 to 1863 the facts of our National life had belied the language of the Declaration of Independence. Then he went on to apply that lesson to present conditions and said:

"A broken promise is bad anywhere, but it is worst in the field of politics. No man in public life should be content to make a pledge on the stump that after his election he doesn't keep. If he makes a pledge and doesn't keep it, hunt him out of public life."

A tremendous shout greeted that, and it was apparent that the thousands of Kansas insurgents who were crowded around the speaker's stand made instant application of it to suit themselves. All over this State President Taft has been denounced for breaking faith on his pledge for tariff revision, and at the recent primaries four of the standpat Congressmen who voted for the bill were defeated for renomination. The opportunity to make local application of the Colonel's remark was amply present and the shouts showed that it was not neglected.

Denver Enthusiasm Exceeded.

Denver was a great day in what the baggage checks of the party term "the Western tour of Col. Theodore Roosevelt." Osawatomie was in certain respects a greater. The crowds were not so large, but that was obviously only because there are not so many people within reach of this little Kansas town where John Brown fought for a free State more than fifty years ago. But if anything could exceed the enthusiasm of these Colorado friends and followers of the Colonel, it was the enthusiasm of the Kansas disciples.

They have been flocking into Osawatomie for the last two days, coming from the most distant parts of the State. They came last night and early this morning in throngs. Many of them rode all night in order to be here on time, and the drenching rain that poured over the State all night, and most of the morning could not deter them or dampen their ardor.

As the special train passed through the little towns on the flat Western Kansas prairies last night every station presented its yelling, whooping contingent of Roosevelt partisans. They stood for hours in the soaking downpour simply to get the chance to yell at the train as it flew by, doing thirty-five or forty miles an hour. Even when they knew there was not the slightest chance of seeing their idol on the rear platform of his car they stuck to it just the same, and it was after midnight before those on the train could shoot by a station without hearing a chorus of yells die away in the distance.

Early this morning the tumult and the shouting began again. There were crowds around the stations by 6 o'clock, and wherever the train stopped there was a howl for the appearance of the Colonel.

At Osage City, before 7 o'clock, a special car was waiting on a side track with Gov. Stubbs, Senator Bristow, William Allen White, and a carload of other red-hot insurgents who had been in attendance on the Kansas Republican platform convention at Topeka yesterday. The car was crowded to the limit, and just bubbling over with enthusiasm.

Many Other Insurgents on Hand.

All the insurgent nominees for Congress were on hand except Victor Murdock, the original Kansas insurgent, who is on his way to help Insurgent Charles N. Fowler out in his New Jersey fight. The four insurgents who defeated regulars at the recent primaries were all on board, and so were a lot of the primary winners for membership in the Legislature and for other State offices.

Their car was attached to the Colonel's and the real Simon-pure Kansas Roosevelt men came along to take part in the celebration at Osawatomie. They wanted to get at the Colonel just as soon as the train began to move, and it was difficult to restrain their enthusiasm long enough to give Col. Roosevelt time to eat. At that he was interrupted before he had concluded the meal.

It was still raining when the train reached Ottawa, but there was a great crowd at the station. They shouted and whooped it up when the Colonel stepped out on the platform of his car and made a little talk to them. Judge Madison, the insurgent representative from the Seventh District, got off the train in order to hear better what the Colonel had to say, and was left as the train started up in its usual fashion without warning. The Colonel saw the portly Judge hustling after the train, however, and stopped it in time to take him aboard before his breath was all gone.

It was still raining when the train pulled into Osawatomie, but the people stood around the station in a great crowd and yelled themselves hoarse as soon as they caught the outline of his car and long before they had seen his face or form.

The Colonel stepped out on the platform of his car and waved his hand at the crowd and there was a tremendous outburst of cheers. Then, when he returned to the car, the crowd waited patiently for him to come out again.

Roosevelt Speaks From Car.

Gov. Stubbs and several different delegations of Kansans went into the Colonel's car and had little talks with him, chiefly concerning the arrangements for the day. Before these matters had been settled the crowd had become so impatient that Col. Roosevelt went out on the rear platform again and this time made a little talk. Still the crowd waited.

Gifford Pinchot made a short speech to them, and they cheered him vociferously when he declared that the platform adopted by the Republicans yesterday would be written again by the people at the polls. James R. Garfield also talked briefly, and some of the Kansas insurgents took turns at endeavoring to entertain the people. Representatives Calderhead and Scott, two of the standpatters who were defeated for renomination at the primaries, were in the crowd, but they did not show themselves on the Colonel's car.

It was arranged finally that the Colonel should go up to the Masonic Temple at noon and hold a reception where he could have a chance to shake hands with some of the joyous Kansans, and that afterward he should go to luncheon at the State Hospital for the Insane here. At the luncheon Col. Roosevelt made a short talk in which he adverted to the subject of keeping faith on political promises which made such a hit at his afternoon speech.

Formal Address at Park.

The formal address was delivered at the State Park, the dedication of which was the occasion of the celebration here. This park is the battle ground where John Brown and his band fought fifty-four years ago to-day. It had been purchased with money collected by the Woman's Relief Corps and presented to the State. There is a fine grove of elms and hickory there, in the midst of which a stand had been set up, with seats for perhaps 500 persons around it. But those who could find seats were only a small percentage of the throng that greeted Col. Roosevelt.

Osawatomie has a population of about 2,600. Special trains had been run in, however, from the surrounding country, one of them coming from as far as Coffeyville, more than 200 miles away. The rains of the last day or two had made the roads simply tracks through deep black mud, but that had not prevented thousands of farmers from coming into Osawatomie and bringing their families. The whole neighborhood was there, and it was the greatest John Brown celebration this John Brown town ever saw.

When the Colonel's automobile came chugging through the mud up to the Park at least 15,000 people were swarming among the trees and many more were on their way. Around the speaker's platform the crowd was so dense that it was almost impossible to force one's way through, and it took a long time to get room enough to enable the automobile to run in by the stand.

When he left the car the Colonel was fairly hauled through the mob to the stand, and he climbed up the steps, forcing his way through solid ranks of men and women who seemed intent only on getting near enough to touch him.

There was a continuous cheer from the moment the car was observed nearing the Pak until some time after the Colonel and Gov. Stubbs had taken their places on the stand. Away beyond the reach of the Colonel's voice, or even the voice of a much more powerful speaker, the crowd stood in solid ranks. It was physically impossible to make even a majority of them hear what was said. Yet not even those who stood on the outskirts and could not hear a word went away or grew restless. They seemed satisfied simply to stand there and look at their political idol; to see him in action was enough.

"Greatest Man in World."

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Bernard Kelly of Paola. Mrs. Cora M. Deputy, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the battleground, made a short talk telling about the purchase of the park and introducing Gov. Stubbs. Jumping on the table that had been brought up for the use of the speakers, the Governor shouted:

"Citizens of Kansas: Be still for a minute and I will introduce the greatest man in the world. For years, for centuries, for ages men have dreamed of a government that would restrain the strong and protect the rights of the weak. Our forefathers laid the foundation. Their conception was clear and strong. We are fortunate in having here to-day a man who has exerted a greater influence than any other man for liberty, justice, and righteousness in public and private life, who exerts a greater influence for good government than any king, potentate, or ruler in the world to-day."

And then the crowd let off some of their pent-up enthusiasm. They set up a yell that carried far across the park and down to the town. They put their lung power into it and showed what enthusiastic Kansas farmers can do when it comes to cheering for a man they really like.

Col. Roosevelt climbed up on the table as the Governor got down and plunged almost immediately into the delivery of the speech that he had prepared before he left New York. With eagle-eyed attention the crowd watched and followed him. At every paragraph and often at the close of a sentence the cheers rang out, or there was a hearty clapping of hands.

Epigrams Bring Applause.

A couple of epigrams which the Colonel threw in as he went along evoked liberal applause. [illegible] had to do with a discussion of [illegible]ortunity and was:

"Help [illegible] who stumbles, but it's [illegible] a man who lies down [illegible]"

The other came in a repetition of the familiar talk about demagogues and visionaries. It was:

"Don't follow a man whose intentions are excellent, but whose eyes are a little too wild to make it safe to trust him."

In general the crowd was most enthusiastic with Col. Roosevelt on every point, and it lost no opportunity of showing him so with voice and hands. It also applauded Gifford Pinchot and James R. Garfield when they were introduced by Gov. Stubbs after the conclusion of the Colonel's talk.

Almost every Kansas man is a politician, and the value of the speech from the point of view of the progressive cause was quickly appreciated by the whole crowd, especially the leaders, like Gov. Stubbs, Senator Bristow and the Congressional nominees. It didn't need the Colonel's word of "special warning to those who are as progressive as I hope I am" to make apparent the alignment of Col. Roosevelt with the progressive or insurgent wing of the Republican party. The events of the day, if those of the Western trip up to this time have not done so, clearly show that the Taft administration has nothing in the way of indorsement or special support to expect from Col. Roosevelt.

The emphasis with which he constantly proclaims himself a Westerner explains his feelings in the matter. There is no longer the least question as to how this Western country regards the Colonel. He is not only their idol; he is their Moses as well, and they lose no chance to show him how they feel about it.

Col Roosevelt's train left at 4 o'clock for Lawrence, Kan., where he will be the guest of Gov. Stubbs.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH.

Demand for Close Governmental Supervision of Big Corporations.

OSAWATOMIE, Kan., Aug. 31.—Theodore Roosevelt's speech at the John Brown celebration in this city to-day was as follows:

"There have been two great crises in our country's history; first when it was formed, and then again when it was perpetuated. The formative period included not merely the Revolutionary War, but the creation and adoption of the Constitution and the first dozen years of work under it.

"Then came sixty years during which we spread across the continent—years of vital growth, but of growth without rather than growth within. Then came the time of stress and strain which culminated in the civil war, the period of terrible struggle upon the issue of which depended the justification of all that we had done earlier, and which marked the second great period of growth and development within.

"The name of John Brown will be forever associated with this second period of the Nation's history; and Kansas was the theatre upon which the first act of the second of our great National life dramas was played. It was the result of the struggle in Kansas which determined that our country should be in deed as well as in name devoted to both union and freedom, that the great experiment of democratic government on a National scale should succeed and not fail.

Forget the Evils of the Civil War.

"It was a heroic struggle; and, as is inevitable with all such struggles, it had also a dark and terrible side. Very much was done of good, and much also of evil; and, as was inevitable in such a period of revolution, often the same man did both good and evil. For our great good fortune as a Nation, we, the people of the United States as a whole can now afford to forget the evil, or at least to remember it without bitterness, and to fix our eyes with pride on the good that was accomplished.

"Even in ordinary times there are very few of us who do not see the problems of life as through a glass, darkly; and when the glass is clouded by the murk of furious popular passion the vision of the best and the bravest is dimmed. Looking back, we are all of us now able to do justice to the valor and the disinterestedness and the love of the right, as to each it was given to see the right, shown both by the men of the North and the men of the South in that contest which was finally decided by the attitude of the West.

"We can admire the heroic valor, the sincerity, the self-devotion shown alike by the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray and our sadness that such men should have had to fight one another is tempered by the glad knowledge that ever hereafter their descendants shall be found fighting side by side, struggling in peace as well as in war for the uplift of their common country, all alike resolute to raise to the highest pitch of honor and usefulness the Nation to which they all belong. As for the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, they deserve honor and recognition such as is paid to no other citizens of the Republic; for to them the Republic owes its all, for to them it owes its very existence.

Lincoln as a Guide To-day.

"I do not speak of this struggle of the past merely from the historic standpoint. Our interest is primarily in the application to-day of the lessons taught by the contest of half a century ago. It is of little use for us to pay lip loyalty to the mighty men of the past unless we sincerely endeavor to apply to the problems of the present precisely the qualities which in other crises enabled the men of that day to meet those crises.

"It is half melancholy and half amusing to see the way in which well-meaning people gather to do honor to the men who, in company with John Brown, and under the lead of Abraham Lincoln, faced and solved the great problems of the nineteenth century, while at the same time these same good people nervously shrink from or frantically denounce those who are trying to meet the problems of the twentieth in the spirit which was accountable for the successful solution of the problems of Lincoln's time.

"Of that generation of men, to whom we owe so much, the man to whom we owe the most is, of course, Lincoln. Part of our debt to him is because he forecast our present struggle and saw the way out. He said:

> I hold that while man exists it is his duty to improve not only his own condition, but to assist in ameliorating mankind.

And again,

> Labor is prior to and independent of capital; capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed but for labor. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration. Capital has its rights which are as worthy of protection as any other rights. . . . Nor should this lead to a war upon the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built.

"It seems to me that in these words Lincoln took substantially the attitude that we ought to take; he showed the proper sense of proportion in his relative estimates of capital and labor, of human rights and property rights. Above all, in this speech, as in many others, he taught a lesson in wise kindliness and charity; an indispensable lesson to us of to-day. But this wise kindliness and charity never weakened his arm or numbed his heart. We cannot afford weakly to blind ourselves to the actual conflict which faces us to-day. The issue is joined, and we must fight or fail.

Destruction of Special Privilege.

"In every wise struggle for human betterment one of the main objects, and often the only object, has been to achieve in large measure equality of opportunity. In the struggle for this great end nations rise from barbarism to civilization, and through it peoples press forward from one stage of enlightenment to the next. One of the chief factors in progress is the destruction of special privilege. The essence of any struggle for healthy liberty has always been and must always be to take from some one man or class of men the right to enjoy power, or wealth, or position, or immunity, which has not been earned by service to his or their fellows.

"At many stages in the advance of humanity this conflict between the men who possess more than they have earned and the men who have earned more than they possess is the central condition of progress. In our day it appears as the struggle of free men to gain and hold the right of self-government as against the special interests, who twist the methods of free government into machinery for defeating the popular will. At every stage and under all circumstances the essence of the struggle is to equalize opportunity, destroy privilege, and give to the life and citizenship of every individual the highest possible value both to himself and to the Commonwealth.

"Practical equality of opportunity for all citizens, when we achieve it, will have two great results:

"First, every man will have a fair chance to make of himself all that in him lies, to reach the highest point to which his capacities, unassisted by special privilege of his own and unhampered by the special privileges of others, can carry him, and to get for himself and his family substantially what he has earned.

"Second, equality of opportunity means that the Commonwealth will get from every citizen the highest service of which he is capable. No man who carries the burden of special privileges of another can give the Commonwealth that service to which it is fairly entitled.

Change the Rules of the Game.

"I stand for the square deal. But when I say that I am for the square deal I mean not merely that I stand for fair play under the present rules of the game, but that I stand for having those rules changed so as to work for a more substantial equality of opportunity, and of reward for equally good service.

"This means that our Governments, National and State, must be freed from the sinister influence or control of special interests. Exactly as the special interests of cotton and slavery threatened our political integrity before the civil war, so now the great special business interests too often control and corrupt the men and methods of government for their own profit.

"We must drive the special interests out of politics. That is one of our tasks to-day. Every special interest is entitled to justice—full, fair, and complete.

"Now, mind you, if there were any attempt by mob violence or in any other way to plunder and work harm to the special interest, whatever it may be, that I most dislike; to the wealthy man, whomsoever he may be, for whom I have the greatest contempt, I would fight for him, and so would you if you are worth your salt. He should have justice. Every special interest is entitled to justice. But not one is entitled to a vote in Congress, to a voice on the bench, or to representation in any public office.

"The Constitution guarantees protection to property, and we must make that promise good. But it does not give the right of suffrage to any corporation.

"The true friend of property, the true conservative, is he who insists that property shall be the servant, and not the master, of the commonwealth; who insists that the creature of man's making shall be the servant, and not the master, of the man who made it. The citizens of the United States must effectively control the mighty commercial forces which they have themselves called into being.

"There can be no effective control of corporations while their political activity remains. To put an end to it will be neither a short nor an easy task, but it can be done.

To Stop Corporation Corruption.

"We must have complete and effective publicity of corporate affairs, so that the people may know beyond peradventure whether the corporations obey the law and whether their management entitles them to the confidence of the public. It is necessary that laws should be passed to prohibit the use of corporate funds, directly or indirectly, for political purposes; it is still more necessary that such laws should be thoroughly enforced. Corporate expenditures for political purposes, and especially such expenditures by public-service corporations, have supplied one of the principal sources of corruption in our political affairs.

"It has become entirely clear that we must have Government supervision of the capitalization not only of public service corporations including particularly railways, but of all corporations doing an inter-State business. I do not wish to see the Nation forced into ownership of the railways if it can possibly be avoided, and the only alternative is thorough-going and effective regulation, which shall be based on a full knowledge of all the facts, including a physical valuation of the property. This physical valuation is not needed, or at least is very rarely needed, for fixing rates, but it is needed as the basis of honest capitalization.

Control of the Corporations.

"We have come to recognize that franchises should never be granted except for a limited time, and never without proper provision for compensation to the public. It is my personal belief that the same kind and degree of control and supervision which should be exercised over public service corporations should be extended also to combinations which control necessaries of life such as meat, oil and coal, or which deal in them on an important scale. I believe that the officers and especially the directors of corporations should be held personally responsible when any corporation breaks the law.

"Combinations in industry are the result of an imperative economic law which cannot be repealed by political legislation. The effort at prohibiting all combination has substantially failed. The way out lies not in attempting to prevent such combinations, but in completely controlling them in the interest of the public welfare. For that purpose the Federal Bureau of Corporations is an agency of the first importance. Its power and therefore its efficiency, as well as that of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, should be largely increased.

"We have a right to expect from the Bureau of Corporations and from the Inter-State Commerce Commission a very high grade of public service. We should be as sure of the proper conduct of inter-State railways and the proper management of inter-State business as we are now sure of the conduct and management of the National banks. The Hepburn act, and the amendment to that act in the shape in which it finally passed Congress at the last session, represent a long step in advance; and we must go yet further.

For a Tariff Commission.

"There is a widespread belief among our people that, under the methods of making tariffs which have hitherto obtained, the special interests are too influential. Probably this is true of both the big interests and the little interests. These methods have put a premium on selfishness, and naturally the selfish big interests have gotten more than the selfish small interests.

"The duty of Congress is to provide a method by which the interest of the whole people shall be all that receives consideration. To this end there must be an expert tariff commission, wholly removed from the possibility of political pressure or of improper business influence. Such a commission can find out the real difference between cost of production, which is mainly the difference of labor cost here and abroad. As fast as its recommendations are made, I believe in revising one schedule at a time. A general revision of the tariff almost inevitably leads to log-rolling, and the subordination of the general public interest to local and special interests.

"The absence of effective State, and especially National, restraint upon unfair money-getting has tended to create a small class of enormously wealthy and economically powerful men, whose chief object is to hold and increase their power. The prime need is to change the conditions which enable these men to accumulate power which it is not for the general welfare that they should hold or exercise.

"We grudge no man a fortune which represents his own power and sagacity, when exercised with entire regard to the welfare of his fellows. But the fortune must be honorably obtained and well [illegible] It is not even enough that it should [illegible] been gained without doing damage [illegible] the community. We should permit it [illegible] gained only so long as the gaining [illegible]sents benefit to the community. This, I know, implies a policy of a far more active governmental interference with social and economic conditions in this country than we have yet had, but I think we have got to face the fact that such an increase in governmental control is now necessary.

Taxes on Large Fortunes.

"No man should receive a dollar unless that dollar has been fairly earned. Every dollar received should represent a dollar's worth of service rendered. The really big fortune, the swollen fortune, by the mere fact of its size, acquires qualities which differentiate it in kind as well as in degree from what is possessed by men of relatively small means. Therefore I believe in a graduated income tax on big fortunes, and in another tax which is far more easily collected and far more effective—a graduated inheritance tax on big fortunes, properly safeguarded against evasion, and increasing rapidly in amount with the size of the estate.

"The people of the United States suffer from periodical financial panics to a degree substantially unknown among the other nations which approach us in financial strength. There is no reason why we should suffer what they escape. It is of profound importance that our financial system should be promptly investigated and so thoroughly and effectively revised as to make it certain that hereafter our currency will no longer fail at critical times to meet our needs.

"It is hardly necessary for me to repeat that I believe in an efficient army and a navy large enough to secure for us abroad that respect which is the surest guarantee of peace. Justice and fair dealing among nations rest on principles identical with those which control justice and fair dealing among the individuals of which nations are composed; with the vital exception that each nation must do its own part in international police work. National friendships, like those between men, must be founded on respect as well as on liking, on forbearance as well as upon trust. In all this it is peculiarly the duty of the United States to set a good example.

Conservation a Moral Issue.

"Of conservation I shall speak more at length elsewhere. Conservation means development as much as it does protection. I recognize the right and the duty of this generation to develop and use the natural resources of our land, but I do not recognize the right to waste them, or to rob, by wasteful use, the generations that come after us. The natural resources must be used for the benefit of all our people and not monopolized for the benefit of the few. That is one of the fundamental reasons why the special interests must be driven out of politics.

"Of all the questions which can come before this Nation, short of the actual preservation of its existence in a great war, there is none which compares in importance with the great central task of leaving this land even a better land for our descendants than it is for us, and training them into a better race to inhabit the land and pass it on. Conservation is a great moral issue, for it involves the patriotic duty of insuring the safety and continuance of the Nation.

"Let me add that the health and vitality of our people are at least as well worth conserving as their forests, waters, lands, and minerals, and that in this great work the National Government must bear a most important part.

"I have spoken elsewhere also of the great task which lies before the farmers of the country to get for themselves and for their wives and children not only the benefits of better farming, but also those of better business methods and better conditions of life on the farm. The burden of this great task will fall, as it should, mainly upon the great organizations of the farmers themselves. I am glad it will, for I believe they are well able to handle it. In particular, there are strong reasons why the Departments of Agriculture of the various States, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the agricultural colleges and experiment stations should extend their work to cover all phases of life on the farm, instead of limiting themselves, as they have for too often limited themselves in the past, solely to the question of the production of crops.

Property Rights Pushed Too Far.

"Nothing is more true than that excess of every kind is followed by reaction—a fact which should be pondered by reformer and reactionary alike. We are face to face with new conceptions of the relations of property to human welfare chiefly because certain advocates of the rights of property as against the rights of men have been pushing their claims too far.

"The man who wrongly holds that every human right is secondary to his profit must now give way to the advocate of human welfare, who rightly maintains that every man holds his property subject to the general right of the community to regulate its use to whatever degree the public welfare may require it.

"But I think we may go still further. The right to regulate the use of wealth in the public interest is universally admitted. Let us admit also the right to regulate the terms and conditions of labor, which is the chief element of wealth, directly in the interest of the common good. The fundamental thing to do for every man is to give him the chance to reach a place in which he will make the greatest possible contribution to the public welfare.

"No man can be a good citizen unless he has a wage more than sufficient to cover the bare cost of living, and hours of labor short enough so that after his day's work is done he will have time and energy to bear his share in the management of the community, to help in carrying the general load. We keep countless men from being good citizens by the conditions of life with which we surround them.

"We need comprehensive workmen's compensation acts, both State and National laws to regulate child labor and the work of women, and especially we need in our common schools not merely education in book learning, but also practical training for daily life and work. We need to enforce better sanitary conditions for our workers and to extend the use of safety appliances in industry and commerce both within and between the States.

"Also, friends, in the interest of the workingman himself we need to set our faces like flint against mob violence just as against corporate greed; against violence and injustice and lawlessness by wageworkers just as much as against lawless cunning and greed and selfish arrogance of employers.

"If I could ask but one thing of my fellow countrymen my request would be that whenever they go in for a reform they always remember the two sides, and that they always exact justice from one side as much as from the other. I have small use for the public servant who can always see and denounce the corruption of the capitalist, but who cannot be persuaded, especially before election, to say a word about lawless mob violence; and I have equally small use for the man, be he Judge on the bench or editor of a great paper, or wealthy and influential private citizen who can see clearly enough and denounce the lawlessness of mob violence, but whose eyes are blind when the question is one of corruption in business on a gigantic scale."

Pleads For a Broad Nationalism.

"National efficiency has many factors. It is a necessary result of the principle of conservatism widely applied. In the end it will determine our failure or success as a Nation. National efficiency has to do not only with natural resources and with men. It is equally concerned with institutions. The State must be made efficient for the work which concerns only the people of the State, and the Nation for that which concerns all the people.

"There must remain no neutral ground to serve as a refuge for lawbreakers, and especially for lawbreakers of great wealth, who can hire the vulpine legal cunning which will teach them how to avoid both jurisdictions. It is a misfortune when the National Legislature fails to do its duty in providing a National remedy, so that the only National activity is the purely negative activity of the judiciary in forbidding the State to exercise power in the premises.

"I do not ask for over-centralization, but I do ask that we work in a spirit of broad and far-reaching Nationalism when we work for what concerns our people as a whole. We are all Americans. Our common interests are as broad as the continent. I speak to you here in Kansas exactly as I would speak in New York or Georgia, for the most vital problems are those which affect us all alike. The National Government belongs to the whole American people, and where the whole American people are interested, that interest can be guarded effectively only by the National Government. The betterment which we seek must be accomplished, I believe, mainly through the National Government.

"The American people are right in demanding that new Nationalism without which we cannot hope to deal with new problems. The new Nationalism puts the National need before sectional or personal advantage. It is impatient of the utter confusion that results from local legislatures attempting to treat National issues as local issues. It is still more impatient of the impotence which springs from the over-division of Governmental powers, the impotence which makes it possible for local selfishness or for legal cunning, hired by wealthy special interests, to bring National activities to a deadlock.

"This new Nationalism regards the executive power as the steward of the public welfare. It demands of the judiciary that it shall be interested primarily in human welfare rather than in property, just as it demands that the representative body shall represent all the people, rather than any one class or section of the people.

Must Face Temporary Disaster.

"I believe in shaping the ends of government to protect property as well as human welfare. Normally, and in the long run, the ends are the same, but whenever the alternative must be faced I am for men and not for property. I am far from underestimating the importance of dividends, but I rank dividends below human character. I know well that the reformers must not bring upon the people economic ruin, or the reforms themselves will go down in the ruin. But we must be ready to face temporary disaster, whether or not brought on by those who will war against us to the knife.

"Those who oppose all reform will do well to remember that ruin in its worst form is inevitable if our National life brings us nothing better than swollen fortune for the few and the triumph in both politics and business of a sordid and selfish materialism.

"If our political institutions were perfect they would absolutely prevent the political domination of money in any part of our affairs. We need to make our political representatives more quickly and sensitively responsive to the people whose servants they are. More direct action by the people in their own affairs under proper safeguards is vitally necessary. The direct primary is a step in this direction if it is associated with a corrupt practices act effective to prevent the advantage of the man willing recklessly and unscrupulously to spend money over his more honest competitor.

"It is particularly important that all moneys received or expended for campaign purposes should be publicly accounted for not only after election but before election as well. Political action must be made simpler, easier, and freer from confusion for every citizen. I believe that the prompt removal of unfaithful or incompetent public servants should be made easy and sure in whatever way experience shall show to be most expedient in any given class of cases.

Officers Must Serve the People.

"One of the fundamental necessities in a representative Government such as ours is to make certain that the men to whom the people delegate their power shall serve the people by whom they are elected, and not the special interests. I believe that every National officer, elected or appointed, should be forbidden to perform any service or receive any compensation directly or indirectly from inter-State corporations, and a similar provision could not fail to be useful within the States.

"The object of government is the welfare of the people. The material progress and prosperity of a nation are desirable chiefly so far as they lead to the moral and material welfare of all good citizens. Just in proportion as the average man and woman are honest, capable of sound judgment, and high ideals, active in public affairs—but first of all sound in their home life, and the father and mother of healthy children—just so far, and no further, we may count our civilization a success.

"We must have—I believe we have already—a genuine and permanent moral awakening, without which no wisdom of legislation or administration really means anything, and, on the other hand, we must try to secure the social and economic legislation without which any improvement due to purely moral agitation is necessarily evanescent. What we need is good citizens.

"The prime problem of our nation is to get the right type of good citizenship, and to get it we must have progress and all our people must be genuinely progressive."

GARFIELD AND PINCHOT TALK.

Former Speaks on Special Interests and Latter on Conservation.

OSAWATOMIE, Kan., Aug. 31.—James R. Garfield spoke on the relation of special interests to politics at the John Brown Park dedication.

"Special interests of all kinds, whether corporate or otherwise, are entitled to just consideration and fair treatment, but not to representation in any public office," began Mr. Garfield. "The legislator who owes his nomination or election to the influence of any special interest will inevitably yield to the demands of his master as against the public welfare. The executive officer whose election or appointment is due to the influence of special interests will likewise yield to the demands of his master. The Judge who owes his position to a special interest may be depended upon to determine in favor of that interest any case in which it is involved. All such representatives should be driven from public office if we are to maintain safe government and work out the problems of our Republic.

"The task of freeing politics from improper influence of special interests is no easy task. Under the guise of the demand of fair treatment the special interests, both State and National, have obtained far more than they are entitled to. Through the corrupt influence of money furnished by special interests to particular candidates the special interests have obtained and are maintaining an influence over public offices. The present great fight for the perpetuation of political liberty is to free ourselves from that kind of influence. It has been said that a general charge of this kind is not borne out by special instances, but every man who has served in any public capacity in State or Nation knows that there are public officers whose allegiance is not to the public, but to the particular interests that have placed them there.

"It is the railroad in one State, the business corporations in another, the Farmers' Alliance in another, the labor unions in another—all of these, as I have said before, are entitled to just consideration, but none of them to representation. Whenever special interest is represented then the public welfare is necessarily jeopardized. The representatives in any office must be simply representatives of all classes, all interests, and all people."

Gifford Pinchot made conservation the keynote of his address.

"Every man gets his living from the earth, either directly or indirectly," declared Mr. Pinchot. "The amount of wealth or the possible prosperity and well-being of the whole people depend on how we use this earth, and what we do with its products.

"The conservation idea is that all the people ought to get from our natural resources every advantage they can yield, both now and hereafter. But that condition cannot be brought about if the big fellows get an undue share of the wealth of the earth. In no phase of life is there more opportunity for the operation of the principle of square dealing than in that which involves equality of all men and women in sharing in our prosperity. To curtail men's opportunities by allowing a few to control the riches of the earth is essentially wrong. Conservation merely proposes, under such restrictions as are necessary, to work these natural resources so as to give the greatest benefit to every man, woman, and child, now and hereafter."

PARKER DEFENDS JUDGES.

Says History of Bakeshop Case Itself Shows Their Conscientiousness.

Judge Alton B. Parker, who wrote the prevailing opinion of the Court of Appeals of New York in the "bakeshop case," mention of which was made by Theodore Roosevelt in his recent address to the Colorado Legislature, made the following statement yesterday in defence of the Supreme Cout:

"It is safe to assert that the attack upon the Supreme Court of the United States by Mr. Roosevelt in his address to the Legislature of Colorado will not be approved by the bench and bar and the thoughtful people of this country who appreciate the importance of the judiciary in our Governmental system and the necessity for a continuance of the existing public confidence and affection in our courts.

"It happens that in the case of People vs. Lochner, referred to in the address as the 'bakeshop case,' the prevailing opinion of the Court of Appeals of this State was written by myself, with concurring opinions by Judges Gray and Vann. Judges O'Brien and Bartlett wrote dissenting opinions; so that in all five opinions were written in the Court of Appeals, showing the appreciation by that court of the fact that the question was a very close one about which minds must differ; indeed this fact was made very prominent in the interesting debates around the consultation table as well as in the opinions written.

"The history of this case indicates how narrow was the dividing line between upholding and rejecting the statute. The trial Judge held the statute constitutional. The Appellate Division affirmed his decision by a vote of three to two, and the Court of Appeals affirmed the Appellate Division by a vote of four to three. The Supreme Court of the United States reversed the Court of Appeals by a vote of five to four.

"Every Judge in every court gave to this important question his best effort, which is strongly evidenced by the differences of view of the members in the several courts. That fact should be quite sufficient to protect the greatest court in the world from offensive criticism from any source, and especially from one who has heretofore manifested his dissatisfaction with a department of government which was performing the independent functions conferred upon it by the Constitution so as to neither encroach upon its co-ordinate departments of government, nor to allow them to encroach upon it."

BARNES ASSAILS ROOSEVELT.

Intimates That He Is Seeking Presidential Nomination in 1912.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 31.—The leading editorial in to-day's Evening Journal, edited by William Barnes, Jr., headed, "No Compromise," says:

"Mr. Roosevelt has said much about 'fight' at the Saratoga Convention. About what?"

The action of the State Committee in selecting Mr. Sherman instead of Mr. Roosevelt for temporary Chairman of the State Convention is then set forth and is followed up with this discussion:

"The Republican people of this State are indifferent whether Mr. Sherman or Mr. Roosevelt presides over the temporary deliberations of their State convention. But if Mr. Roosevelt is to act as temporary Chairman and to use that position to make an address such as he has been making in the West, his selection would not be at all satisfactory to the Republicans of the State. If he is to make a speech advocating direct nominations or other forms of populistic proposal, his selection would not be satisfactory to the Republican people of this State. If he is to make a speech launching his candidacy for the Presidency in 1912, such an address would hardly be satisfactory to the Republican people of this State.

"However, those Republicans who believe that in his activity at the present time and his possible candidacy for the Presidency there is a menace to the welfare of every business man and every wageworker in the country, have a right as delegates to that convention to oppose his selection. Is this Mr. Roosevelt's fight?"

Mr. Barnes says the direct nominations plan will come before the convention and be defeated, which paves the way for this statement:

"When it comes to the question of nominations we are inclined to believe that the candidate, whoever he may be, will not, if elected, violate the party platform, as Gov. Hughes did, in his advocacy of direct nominations."

ATTACKED BY SOCIALISTS.

Roosevelt Is Criticised at the International Congress.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31.—Ex-President Roosevelt came in for sharp criticism in a discussion of anti-militarism at to-day's session of the International Socialist Congress.

Several speakers attacked the American, the most bitter being Georg Ledebour, a Socialist member of the German Reichstag, who described Mr. Roosevelt as a "political drummer." Among other things Herr Ledebour said:

"He has forgotten that he represents a democratic nation whose existence was due to a revolution. Shame on him for joining the British rulers against Egyptian patriots!"

On the general subject of anti-militarism so many conflicting opinions developed that the Congress was in a constant turmoil. The members of the Committee on International Disarmament were unable to agree among themselves.

WASHINGTON INTERESTED.

Wants to Know Most How Roosevelt Will Treat the Taft Administration.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Politicians here are looking forward to the meeting of the New York Republican Convention not so much on account of the importance of the convention in itself, but because of the expression they believe it will necessarily bring forth from Col. Roosevelt as to his attitude toward President Taft's Administration. It is pointed out that it is almost certain now that Col. Roosvelt will control the convention, and the deduction from that certainty is that the declaration of the convention will be nothing more than the announcement of the attitude Col. Roosevelt finally decides to adopt.

Every Republican State convention, so far, has made a specific declaration concerning the President, his administration and last session of Congress. It is confidently believed that the New York convention will follow the same course and that Col Roosevelt will, to all intent, dictate the phrasing of the important clause, if he does not actually write the whole resolution.

The talk here is that Mr. Taft is feeling keenly the failure of Col. Roosevelt to mention him once in all the speeches he has made but it is also said that he is waiting confidently for kind words from his friend, whenever those words do come. The feeling here is that if Col Roosevelt manages to get through the New York convention without definitely declaring his position, it will mean simply that he is biding his time with his eye more on the campaign of 1912 than on that now in progress.

CHINA WANTS ROOSEVELT.

So Dr. Giel Heard Out There—Strong Man Needed to Aid Child Ruler.

A rumor that Col. Roosevelt may become the adviser to the Regent of China at a very large salary was prevalent out there a month ago, according to Dr. William Edgar Giel, who returned from China yesterday on the Hamburg-American liner Bluecher.

Dr. Giel comes from Doylestown, Penn., and for a year he has been studying the political situation in China. He left Peking on Aug. 1, and at that time the rumor that Col. Roosevelt might be called to assist in piloting the country through a rather stormy period was in circulation and found many who believed that he would be willing to abandon the fight against the bosses here to become a boss himself in the Flowery Kingdom.

In speaking of conditions Dr. Giel said there was an anti-baby movement in China, the leaders being opposed to the rule of the child Emperor. This movement, he said, if it grew rapidly, as many thought, might result in a revolution.

Dr. Giel said that it was surprising the progress China was making. She is going ahead faster now than Japan. Plans are being made for public schools and the prisons are being built on modern lines. China is friendly to this country, he said, and the political leaders in that country regard President Taft highly.

INSURGENTS AT RECEPTION.

Mrs. Roosevelt Assists Mrs. Robinson at Henderson House Affair.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 31.—A few weeks ago Theodore Douglas Robinson, nephew of Theodore Roosevelt, lost by a few votes the nomination for Congress, C. S. Millington, with the backing of Vice President Sherman and State Committeeman Daniel Strobel, being renominated. At Henderson House, the home of his father, Douglas Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson held a reception this afternoon, which was attended by more than 500 persons.

Those present were the delegates and others who had worked for Robinson, with their wives and friends, representing all the towns in Herkimer County. Although the gathering was social, the undercurrent showed that the men present are in for a fight against the organization.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, who has been at Hnderson House since her husband started on his Western tour, assisted her sister, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, and Mrs. Theodore D. Robinson in receiving.

EAST SIDE INDORSES SULZER'S CANDIDACY

Tells His Constituents He's in the Fight for Governor to Stay and to Win.

THINKS NOMINATION DUE HIM.

Will Work for Woman Suffrage, T[illegible] He Says—Many Speakers Praise Hi[illegible] and Take a Whack at Roosev[illegible]

More than 2,500 constituents of Co[illegible]gressman William Sulzer gave last n[illegible] an enthusiastic indorsement to his gu[illegible]natorial aspirations. The Progress A[illegible]sembly Hall, 28 Avenue A, was fi[illegible] when Sulzer, and his Henry Clay fo[illegible]lock, appeared and the audience chee[illegible] several minutes. Among other things [illegible]zer promised, if elected, to further [illegible] interests of woman suffrage. There w[illegible] a dozen other speakers and all said [illegible] best things about him, nor lost op[illegible]tunity to say disagreeable things a[illegible] Col. Roosevelt.

After a lot of fireworks were explo[illegible] Gen. Daniel E. The General made almo[illegible] great a hit as the Congressman. He [illegible] he had known Mr. Sulzer for twenty [illegible] years, and had found him a loyal [illegible] to pretty nearly everybody who de[illegible] one. He was sure that Mr. Sulzer [illegible] be a worthy successor to Gov. Hug[illegible]

When it became Sulzer's turn to [illegible] he was greeted with much enthu[illegible] Then he said:

"Tariff reform is now an issue [illegible] cannot be ignored or sidetracked. [illegible] protective policy of the Republican [illegible] is absurd. For more than ten years [illegible] cost of living, mounting higher and [illegible]er each year, has been the most [illegible]diate, the most pressing, and the [illegible] universally observed fact about eco[illegible] conditions in this country. Wages [illegible] remained practically the same, b[illegible] cost of the necessaries of life h[illegible] going higher and higher and [illegible] more and more oppressive. [illegible] people have anything to say ab[illegible] [loud cheers,] and I believe they [illegible] to have something to say about the [illegible]nation this year. With all modesty [illegible] due respect to other candidates, I [illegible] have earned the right to be a ca[illegible] for Governor by twenty-one ye[illegible] faithful service to the people and [illegible] advocacy of party principles and [illegible]dates. BARNES IN COMMAND OF SHERMAN FORCES

Replaces Woodruff in Charge of Anti-Roosevelt Fight and the Fur Begins to Fly.

BLAST, THEN COUNTER BLAST

Awful to Slur the Vice President, Says Barnes—Dreadful to Disgrace a High Office, Says Griscom—Still at It.

Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff was virtually shunted aside yesterday as a leader in the fight of the Old Guard on Col. Roosevelt and his "progressive" programme. William Barnes, Jr., the Republican boss of Albany, stepped into the headquarters of the State Committee at noon, took possession of Mr. Woodruff's desk, and soon every available stenographer at Republican State headquarters was busy taking dictation from Mr. Barnes, who sent out sheaves of messages to his lieutenants all along the line, while the awed attendants went about whispering with wise nods that "the Boss was on the job."

Meantime, Mr. Woodruff kept out of the way, and it was officially announced at Republican State headquarters that he was busy with his real estate business and wouldn't have a word to say about politics.

Mr. Barnes had scarcely taken his place on the firing line before shrapnel began to fly between the Old Guard headquarters and the camp of the opposition in the downtown law office of Lloyd C. Griscom, President of the New York County Republican Committee. The first shot came from Mr. Barnes. When told that the Roosevelt forces, at a conference on Tuesday, had decided to place the name of Col. Roosevelt before the Republican State Convention as a contestant against Vice President James S. Sherman for the place of temporary Chairman, he said:

"I am surprised and even shocked by what I have been reading in the morning papers about the statements of Mr. Greiner and Mr. Griscom, that they intended, if possible, to wantonly affront the Vice President of the United States, between whom and the Presidency there stands only a single life, by an endeavor to get the State Convention to reverse the action of the Republican State Committee in electing Mr. Sherman for temporary Chairman. Men who have the interest of their party at heart and hope to aid in the election of the Republican ticket after it is nominated would hardly advocate such an uncalled for act at the opening of the State Convention."

The reporters scurried downtown with this brief contribution from Mr. Barnes. When Mr. Griscom heard about it he ordered his stenographers into action and unlimbered a battery of typewriters. He opened fire thus:

"No one deplores more than I that the Vice President of the United States should have permitted his name to be used in an effort to perpetuate the power of a particular faction of the Republican Party in this State or that he sholud have disregarded the advice of the President to consult with Mr. Roosevelt before the meeting of the State Committee on Aug. 16. Mr. Sherman telephoned the President on Aug. 15 and informed him that it was proposed to oppose Mr. Roosevelt's selection as Temporary Chairman with Mr. Root's name. The President's reply is set forth in his letter to me of Aug. 20:

> I protested against the idea of a contest on such a matter, peremptorily declined to be drawn into a contest against Mr. Roosevelt, and again renewed my urgent advice that there be a prompt and full conference with Mr. Roosevelt before the committee meeting with a view to securing harmony and victory for the party.

"It is a matter of public knowledge that Messrs. Sherman, Ward, Barnes, and Woodruff avoided all conference with Mr. Roosevelt before the meeting and thrust Mr. Sherman's name before the committee without previous consultation with myself and a large proportion of the committee.

"The misuse of President Taft's name, which brought about the election of Mr. Sherman, is also a matter of public knowledge. I still confidently hope that Mr. Sherman and his best friends will see that he cannot accept an election surrounded by such deceit. Mr. Barnes and his friends have drawn Mr. Sherman into an untenable position, and I can well understand that they would like to make further use of him. I am sure that Mr. Sherman's real friends will not welcome Mr. Barnes's statement."

The reporters started off on another trip uptown and found Mr. Barnes directing the action of his forces in other parts of the field by way of the telegraph wires and the United States mails. He took time to peruse the typewritten output from the Griscom headquarters, and then came back with this:

"I am entirely satisfied in my own mind with the course I have pursued, and I trust Mr. Griscom is as well pleased with the little part he has played as between the President of the United States and Mr. Roosevelt."

This shot was fired in time to catch Mr. Griscom in his headquarters, so he had the last word in the day's scrap.

"Both the President and Mr. Roosevelt know what I am doing, and why I am doing it," said Mr. Griscom. "They are the best judges of my conduct, and I may add that I have no regrets."

All through the day there was great activity in both camps. Mr. Griscom had a number of his district leaders down at his office for a council of war. Mr. Barnes was sending messages to leaders up State.

The only activity of Mr. Woodruff, so far as could be learned, was to order a primary fight started against Naval Officer Frederick J. H. Kracke, in the Eighteenth district in Kings. Mr. Kracke, though he comes from Mr. Woodruff's own political bailiwick, has arrayed himself with the opposition in the Roosevelt-Old Guard imbroglio. Stanley Gunnison, a young Brooklyn lawyer, who is the son of the President of the St. Lawrence University, will lead the fight on Mr. Kracke. There is little doubt that it will lead to no change in the leadership of the district, even though it may cause Mr. Kracke some temporary inconvenience.

Friends of Mr. Barnes expressed themselves as very confident.

"When Griscom and his bunch find out what they are up against it is my opinion that they won't dare to make the motion to have Mr. Sherman replaced," said one.

Mr. Griscom expressed the greatest confidence also. In the Griscom camp the attempt of Mr. Barnes to hold up before the eyes of the Federal office holders whom it is expected the President's frankly stated attitude will greatly impress, the dread possibility of the President being taken off and Vice President Sherman, whom they are planning to oppose, taking his place, is accepted as a sign that their enemy is getting desperate.

Mr. Griscom received yesterday a letter from ex-Senator Irving L. L'Hommedieu from Orleans County, in which he admitted that the delegation elected at the County Convention there was not, as first reported, a Roosevelt delegation, but that the sentiment for direct primaries and for Col. Roosevelt in the district was so strong that he had not abandoned hope of bringing the delegates around before the State Convention was called to order.

At the Griscom headquarters the position of Mr. Barnes as leader of the Old Guard forces was being spoken of as one of "splendid isolation," while the temporary absence of Mr. Woodruff, Speaker Wadsworth, and National Committeeman Ward of Westchester from positions where they would be exposed to the Roosevelt fire was commented on as significant.

SHERMAN WON'T TALK.

Has "Nothing to Say" in Reply to Griscom's Declination Suggestion.

Special to The New York Times.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Aug. 31.—"I have nothing to say, boys, nothing to say. Just say that Mr. Sherman has nothing to say and you won't be scooped."

In these words Vice-President Sherman positively declined to-night to make a statement in [illegible] New York dispatches saying [illegible] had suggested he decline the Temporary Chairmanship of the coming New York State Convention.

"When will you have something to say?" he was asked.

"I don't— Nothing to say, nothing to say," he repeated with a cheerful smile. "I have nothing to say relative to politics or anything else."

ARGUE AGAINST CIVIL SERVICE

Special Sessions Judges Say It Won't Do for Probation Officers.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission held another hearing yesterday on the issue as to whether probation officers of the police courts and the Court of Special Sessions shall be appointed by the Magistrates and Justices or selected by civil service examinations. The opinion of those who appeared seemed to be about equally divided.

Justice Olmsted of Special Sessions submitted that he did not believe good probation officers could be selected by any kind of scholastic test, and he was confident the Magistrates and Justices would exercise discretion in making their appointments. Justice Moss talked along similar lines.

Dr. McKenna of the St. Vincent de Paul Society spoke in favor of competitive examinations, mildly suggesting that politics might otherwise control appointments. Jusice Olmsted asked the doctor how he would meet the difficulty if it was found that an Irish, Jewish, and Italian officer were needed and the first three men on the civil service lists were all of one nationality. The doctor replied that he believed the distribution of nationality and religious belief among the competitors would be satisfactory.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo of Manhattan said that at a recent meeting of the men under him the question had been considered and the majority voted for the competitive system.

Miss Maud Miner, on behalf of the Woman's Probation Association, spoke in favor of the civil service system. Remarks on the same side of the argument were made by Dr. Orlando F. Lewis of the Prison Association and Dr. Hastings H. Harte of the Children's Saving Branch of the Sage Foundation.

NUNS PUT OUT A FIRE.

Blaze Threatened 260 Inmates of the Home for the Aged.

Nuns attached to the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor at Bushwick and De Kalb Avenues, Williamsburg, prevented a panic yesterday among the 260 inmates, whose ages range from 50 to 90 years, while flames were raging in the kitchen. The blaze started from a frying pan while Sister Johanna was helping to prepare the noon luncheon on a gas range.

As the pan blazed up and communicated with the woodwork, Sister Johanna, finding herself unable to check the progress of the fire, immediately communicated with Mother Superior Celestine. In turn the twenty-three nuns were notified of the danger and every one rushed to their respective posts, advising the aged inmates to remain calm. About fifty were invalids and were in rolling chairs or on crutches. These were nearest to the fire. They became excited, and the nuns had considerable difficulty in calming their fears.

An alarm was turned in, but before the firemen arrived the nuns, who had formed a bucket brigade, had managed to extinguish the blaze with a slight damage.

PROF. MATTHEWS ROBBED.

His Cottage at Narragansett Entered and Jewelry Stolen.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 31.—Burglars continue to be busy at Narragansett. Last night there was a bold robbery at Shinglenook, the summer home of Prof. Brander Matthews.

Shinglenook is in the heart of the cottage colony in Central Street. Burglars entered the cottage while Prof. and Mrs. Matthews were dining alone in their villa, getting in by a window over the porch. They proceeded to a room occupied by Mrs. Nelson Macy, a daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Matthews, and got away with about $300 worth of jewelry. Among the jewels lost is a necklace of aquamarines and pearls.

This is the third robbery of the season at Narragansett and, following closely upon the robbery several nights ago at the summer house of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Thomson, it gives rise to the belief that a band of professional burglars is at work here.

The police have been notified, but no clue has been discovered.

SHOTS NOT AT HIGGINBOTHAM

Magistrate Just Dropped Into a Saloon When a Fight Was On.

Somebody started a story yesterday that strikers of the sugar refinery in Williamsburg had tried to assassinate Magistrate Higginbotham, and for a while a few persons believed it, especially because of the delay of the Magistrate in reaching the Bedford Avenue court. Captain Dooley of the Bedford Avenue police station found that a shooting occurred in a saloon at 238 South Third Street, where Cooney Cadell, a bootblack, shot J. B. Brannigan, of 242 South First Street in the arm.

The presence of Magistrate Higginbotham was explained by friends, who said that he was interested in the primary campaign of Daniel J. Carroll, who is fighting the regular Democratic organization in the Fourteenth Assembly District.

SOLD VETERANS GLASSES.

Said He Was Examining Their Eyes for Pension Bureau—Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Pensioners throughout the country have been victimized by a man representing himself to be an agent of the Pension Bureau, who has been making an examination of the eyes of veterans and telling them they were going blind.

The man, who gave his name as Philip Golden, was arrested at Cape May Court House Friday. He had a hearing at Camden on Saturday, and then was held to the Grand Jury. Golden had been working in the vicinity of Springfield, Ill.; St. Louis, Philadelphia, and Southwestern New Jersey. According to Pension Bureau officials, he represented that by purchasing glasses from him the pensioners would not only avoid blindness, but would obtain substantial increases in pension.

Qualey and Corbett Give Bail.

John A. Qualey and Harvey Corbet, who were indicted recently for the alleged swindling of Leo Kressler out of $3,000, the Superintending Engineer of their Magnesia-Asbestos Company's plant, in which Mrs. W. T. Bull said she sunk $35,000, and for which they were also indicted, gave $5,000 bail each and pleaded not guilty to the Kressler charge yesterday.

MUST PUNISH MEN, NOT TRUSTS--WILSON

Princeton President Tells Bar Association Fiction of Corporation as Legal Person Should Go.

LAW MUST REACH HEADS

Directors Who Order Anti-Social Policy Insurgents Who Must Pay Penalty, He Says at Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 31.—Before the American Bar Association at its annual convention here to-day, Woodrow Wilson, President of Princeton University, discussing "The Lawyer and the Community," declared that the "fatuous, antiquated, and quite unnecessary fiction" which treats the corporation as a legal person must be abandoned. "Corporations do no wrong," he said, "individuals do wrong. You cannot punish corporations. Fines fall upon the wrong persons—upon the stockholders and the customers rather than upon the men who direct the policy of the business." He declared that the "officer, committee, or board which orders an act or originates a policy contrary to the law of the land or intended to neutralize or contravene it is an insurgent against society," and as such they "should be punished and they alone. Society cannot afford to have individuals wield the power of thousands without personal responsibility. It cannot afford to let its strongest men be the only men who are inaccessible to law."

"I wish to say a good deal about our present struggle for law," said President Wilson. "Society is looking itself over in our day from top to bottom, is making fresh and critical analysis of its very elements, is questioning its oldest practices as feerly as its newest, scrutinizing every arrangement and motive of its life, and stands ready to attempt nothing less than a radical reconstruction, which only frank and honest counsels and the forces of generous co-operation can hold back from becoming a revolution.

"You cannot but have marked the recent changes in the relation of lawyers to affairs in this country. Lawyers constructed the fabric of our State governments and of the Government of the United States, and throughout the earlier period of our National development presided over all the larger processes of politics. But now the Nation has grown keen after certain practical objects and will not willingly brook the impediments set up by constitutions. The life of the Nation does not centre now upon questions of governmental structure or of the distribution of governmental powers. It centres upon economic questions, questions of the very structure and operation of society itself, of which government is only the incident.

Constitutional Lawyers Relegated.

"Constitutional lawyers have fallen into the background. We have relegated them to the Supreme Court, without asking ourselves where we are to find them when vacancies occur in that great tribunal. Lawyers have been sucked into the maelstrom of the new business system of the country. Everywhere that business has thickened and had a large development, they have become experts in some special technical field. They do not practice law. They do not handle the general, miscellaneous interests of society.

"Society has suffered a corresponding loss—at least American society has. It has lost its one-time feeling for law as th ebasis of its peace, its progress, its prosperity. Lawyers are not now regarded as the mediators of progress. Society was always ready to be prejudiced against them; now it finds its prejudices confirmed.

"Meanwhile look what legal questions are to be settled, how stupendous they are, how far reaching, and how impossible it will be to settle them without the advice of learned and experienced lawyers! We have witnessed in modern business the submergence of the individual within the organization, and yet the increase to an extraordinary degree of the power of the individual—of the individual who happens to control the organization. Most men are individuals no longer so far as their business, its activities, or its moralities is concerned. They must do what they are told to do, or lose their connection with modern affairs. They are not at liberty to ask whether what they are told to do is right or wrong. And yet there are men here and there with whom the whole choice lies. There is more individual power than ever, but those who exercise it are few and formidable and the mass of men are mere pawns in the game.

Individual Responsibility.

"Corporations do not do wrong. Individuals do wrong, the individuals who direct and use them for selfish and illegitimate purposes to the injury of society and the serious curtailment of private rights. You cannot punish corporatonsi. Fines fall upon the wrong persons—upon the stockholders and the customers rather than upon the men who direct the policy of the business. If you dissolve the offending corporation you throw great undertakings out of gear.

"I regard the corporations as indispensable to modern business enterprise. I am not jealous of its size or might if you will but abandon at the right points the fatuous, antiquated, and quite unnecessary fiction which treats it as a legal person.

"Many modern corporations wield revenues and command resources which no ancient State possessed and which some modern bodies politic show no approach to in their budgets. And these huge industrial organizations we continue to treat as legal persons, as individuals, which we must not think of as consisting of persons, within which we despair of enabling the law to pick out anybody in particular to put either its restraint or its command upon.

"It is childish, it is futile, it is ridiculous! Society cannot afford to have individuals wield the power of thousands without personal responsibility. It cannot afford to let its strongest men be the only men who are inaccessible to the law. We can have corporations, can retain them in unimpaired efficiency, without depriving law of its ancient searching efficacy, its inexorable mandate that men, not societies, must suffer for wrongs done.

"In respect of the responsibility which the law imposes in order to protect society itself, in order to protect men and communities against wrongs which are not breaches of contract but offenses against the public interest, the common welfare, it is imperative that we should regard corporations as merely groups of individuals, from which it may, perhaps, be harder to pick out particular persons for punishment than it is to pick them out of the general body of unassociated men, but from which it is, nevertheless, possible to pick them out, possible not only, but absolutely necessary, if business is ever again to be moralized. The officer, the committee, the board which orders an act or originates a policy contrary to the law of the land or intended to neutralize or contravene it is an insurgent agaainst society; the man or men who originate any such act or policy should be punished, and they alone.

"I know that the matter is not as simple as it sounds. I know that some corporations are in fact controlled from the outside, not from the inside. But are they really beyond discovery? Would it take extraordinary acumen and intelligence to devise laws which would reach them also?

"You will say that in many instances it is not fair to pick out for punishment the particular officer who ordered a thing done, because he really had no freedom in the matter; that he is himself under orders, is a dummy manipulated from without. I reply that society should permit no man to carry out orders which are against law and public policy, and that, if you will but put one or two conspicuous dummies in the penitentiary there will be no more dummies for hire. You can stop traffic in dummies, and then, when the idea has taken root in the corporate mind that dummies will be confiscated, pardon the one or two innocent men who may happen to have got into jail.

"We have settled nothing in our recent reform legislation. That is the reason it is so unsatisfactory and why some prudent and thoughtful men grow tired of it. But that is only another reason for seeking out and finding what will be the happy and successful way of setting our economic interests in order. Lawyers may come into the settlement or stay out of it, as they please, but a settlement there mus be. For one, I hope that they will not stay out. I far that it would be disastrous for them to do so—disastrous to them and to society."

CHOATE CHARGES FILED.

Bar Association Refers J. R. Watts's Petition to Committee on Grievances.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 31.—The charges filed at the beginning of July against Joseph H. Choate of New York, formerly American Ambassador to Great Britain, to the effect that he had been guilty of violating the constitution of the American Bar Association in a failure to uphold the honor of the profession of the law, together with a petition that he be expelled, were presented to the American Bar Association to-day.

These charges were filed by James R Watts of New York, through his attorney, George W. Chamlee of this city, a member of the Bar Association, and were made against Mr. Choate as the only member of the old law firm of Evarts, Choate & Beaman whom the complainant could reach.

The first charge relates to a suit for $350,000 damages, intrusted by Watts to Mr. Choate and his associates in the firm, and in an associate partnership with Treadwell Cleveland, Mr. Choate's trial attorney. Watts declares that he believes his suit was "sold out or thrown away." He only got nominal damages, the sum, in fact, being 6 cents.

Other charges relate to alleged wrongful appropriation and retention of money by the firm.

Lawyers here in attendance upon the American Bar Association were very much surprised when they learned of the petition. Mr. Chamlee arose and asked permission to file a petition which he desired to have go to the Grievance Committee. President Libbey announced that without objection it would take that course. This was all the reference to the matter in the association. Members recalled that practically the same case was filed twenty-five years ago, and at least once since that time. On both occasions the matter reached the Grievance Committee and was thrown out.

The charges have not been presented to the Grievance Committee, which has had no meeting here. President Libbey, when asked to-night for a statement in regard to the matter, replied:

"There is no reason for my discussing this affair, as there is no such question before the association."

Had the charges been referred to the Grievance Committee no action could be taken within a year.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 31.—Former Ambassador Joseph H. Choate declined to-day to comment upon the charges preferred against him by James R. Watts before the American Bar Association meeting.

"I have nothing to say," said Mr. Choate, "until I hear from the American Bar Association."

Those of Mr. Choate's firm who could be reached last night refused to discuss the case beyond saying that there was nothing in the charges.

Treadwell Cleveland, who is mentioned as the trial attorney of Mr. Choate's firm in the Watts case, when shown the dispatch at his home, 118 East Twenty-fifth Street, said:

"There is nothing that I can say on the matter except that there is absolutely no foundation for the suit."

CONGREGATION WINS.

Court Decides Westminster Church Is Theirs and Not Presbytery's.

Justice Greenbaum, in the Supreme Court, handed down a decision yesterday in which he sustains the ownership of the Westminster Church congregation to the church property in West Twenty-third Street, and declares that the Trustees of the Presbytery of New York have no right or title. The legal battle for possession of the church, which is valued at $300,000, has been continuous and bitter ever since the Presbytery dissolved the Westminster congregation, and, through its Trustees, took possession of the church property. The congregation brought an ejectment action.

Justice Greenbaum says: "The plaintiff's title to the property in question is undisputed, and the defendant may only succeed in defeating the action of ejectment here brought by establishing its legal right to maintain possession of the property under the circumstances under which it entered into possession."

WOMAN, ROBBED, DROPS DEAD

Returns Home with Husband to Find Place Looted by Burglars.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Adelbert Wolven was so overcome on discovering that her farm house at West Saugerties had been robbed that she dropped dead.

Returning to their home with her husband early this morning she found that burglars had raided the place and immediately collapsed.

Important Sale of ORIENTAL RUGS Worth Up To $250.00 for $117.00
During the past week these Rugs attracted more attention than any collection of Oriental Rugs ever shown in New York before, due:
FIRST—To the fine, large sizes, 11x8, 9x12 and 10x3.
SECOND—To the popularity of the weave among Metropolitan homes—the Imperial Serrappi—no other weave is more popular in this city.
THIRD—To the wonderful designs and colorings, subdued and mellowed in a manner peculiar to that mysterious part of the world whence these rugs come.
FOURTH—To the most indestructible texture.
FIFTH—To the remarkably low price—$117.00—these rugs have been seen in other high class stores at $175.00, $200.00, $225.00 and $250.00.
135 Large Imperial Kirmanshah Carpets
Made under the supervision of the Imperial Government of Persia. Our patrons will remember that it is practically a capital crime to use other than vegetable dye in the dyeing of the yarn used in the Imperial Kirmanshah Carpets, therefore the colors, because of the vegetable dye, are mellowed and subdued, and, in addition, tremendously enhance the wearing quality of the rug, as the wool is left in the natural condition, not brittle like our mineral dyes leave our fabrics. Size 8x10 up to 10½x15 and 16. Prices range from $175.00 up to $285.00
75 Large Size High Grade Turkish Rugs
About 75 high grade Turkish Rugs, the approximate size is 9x12. A number are dark, rich reds and greens; others are plain effects, others decisively Oriental in appearance. All are wonderfully durable, as they are made entirely of best grade wool warp and weft and will improve with age, thus lasting you a lifetime. No other rugs brought from the Orient are made all wool, including nap, warp and weft, excepting the Turkish rugs. Sizes range from 10x8, 11x8, 9x12 and over. These rugs are retailed at exclusive Rug shops for as high as $200.00. Our prices are $75.00 and $110.00
About 15 Bales of $25, $27.50, $32, $37.50 and $45 Rugs
Shipped direct to us from Tebrizon on the coast of the Black Sea, 45 days by camel train from the Black Sea, and 7½ weeks from the coast of the Black Sea via Constantinople and the Mediterranean. These Rugs have just been cleaned. They constitute a wonderful collection, and are very unusual, being made by the most primitive methods. We have arranged them in two lots.
Lot 1 3 to 3½ feet wide 6½ to 7 feet long $15.75
Lot 2 3 to 4 feet wide 6 to 8½ feet long $24.75
Oriental Rugs At $5.00 EACH
Practically every home needs several small Oriental Rugs. This is a small miscellaneous lot containing different weaves from almost every part of the Orient—Persia, Asia Minor, etc. They are 2½ to 3 feet wide and almost 4 feet long.
Oriental Rugs At $12.45 EACH
175 Miscellaneous Rugs from the Caucasus and Asia Minor, in addition to a limited number of Kurdish Rugs, etc. The sizes range from 2¼ to 3 and 4 feet wide and from 4 to 5½ and 6½ feet long. $16.00, $18.00, and $22.00 would be reasonable prices.

VERA FITCH NOW BEGS TO BE SAVED

Girl Who Shot Herself in the Astor Changes Her Mind About Death.

DOCTORS GIVE LITTLE HOPE

Mother and Sister Visit Her in Flower Hospital—Mind Is Affected, Latter Declares.

Vera Fitch, who shot herself on Monday evening at the Hotel Astor, lost her bravado in the Flower Hospital yesterday. She stopped asserting she wanted to die, and repeatedly moaned, "Let me live! Let me live!"

Dr. Hughes and Dr. Robinson said her condition was becoming worse steadily. They would not say outright, but let it be inferred that her death was but a matter of hours. Miss Fitch began to call early yesterday morning for her mother and sister, Mrs. Grace Fitch Conger, a vaudeville actress.

"I want mamma. I want Grace," she begged.

The hospital authorities sent several telephone messages to the apartment, 1,570 Broadway, where the girl's mother, Mrs. Henry S. Fitch, and her sister live, and finally Mrs. Fitch and Mrs. Conger, who is the wife of Roy Conger, arrived at the hospital late in the afternoon. They remained for less than five minutes. They were accompanied by Blanche Cloyrell, the "Blanche" to whom Miss Fitch addressed one of her farewell letters.

The women were ushered at once into the ward where Vera Fitch was lying. She recognized them, and each kissed her.

"My poor child, I have been just crazy about you," said Mrs. Fitch, bursting into tears.

"Vera, dear, be a brave girl. You are going to get well," Mrs. Conger said. Miss Cloyrell said nothing, but knelt, weeping, at the bedside.

Conger, who has been living apart from his wife at the New Weston Hotel, Madison Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, since she sued him unsuccessfully for divorce in Yonkers, refused to see visitors yesterday.

Friends of the late Clyde Fitch denied yesterday that Vera was any relative of his. They said the dramatist had no brothers or sisters. Mrs. Grace Fitch Conger, whose vaudeville notices referred to her relation to Mr. Fitch, would not discuss this denial.

"Who were the men who hounded your sister with insulting proposals as the price of literary recognition?" Mrs. Conger was asked.

"There were no such men," she replied. "My sister had been in New York but a few days before she shot herself. She had not associated with magazine editors or promoters in this city, as some might think from reading her letters."

"Why did she write such letters, then?" she was asked.

"She wasn't in just her right mind. Why she made up her mind to kill herself she really don't know. There have been several cases mentioned prominently in the papers recently in which girls have said it is impossible to make a living in New York and retain their self-respect. These worked on her mind, and she wrote the letters that way."

"Where did your sister go before she shot herself Monday evening?"

"She spent the day in her apartment, most of the time in bed. She had complained of feeling ill all day. We left her alone when we went to dinner, and later we went to a vaudeville show. She dressed herself after we left the apartment, and went directly to the Astor, which is almost across the street from our apartment."

"Was there any reason, if she were going to kill herself, why she should not have done it in the apartment instead of in the hotel?"

"It may have been because she did not wish to shock my mother, who is old and weak."

"What was the quarrel you had with your sister, to which she refers in her letter?"

"There was no quarrel."

Dispatches from California stated last night that Vera Fitch was a popular member of army society in San Francisco and Oakland a couple of years ago. She had literary ambitions at that time, and wrote for coast magazines. Her father, Col. Henry S. Fitch, was a Mexican war veteran, who was brevetted for bravery. He led an emigrant train across the plains in the California gold rush.

William Lynn Sullivan of Cranford, N. J., visited the hospital twice yesterday to make inquiries about Miss Fitch's condition. It was he who gave the first clue to her identity.

A man, who said he was a relative of the girl, but who refused to give his name, called at the hospital last night, and talked in the office with Dr. Hughes. He later said that he would pay for Miss Fitch's care at the hospital for two weeks in advance. The money, $134, was given to Fran Sveo, the night clerk.

Miss Fitch rallied last inght, according to Dr. Hughes, the house surgeon. Her condition, he said, was better than at any time since her admission to the hospital, and at midnight she had an even chance for recovery.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 31.—Vera Fitch, who attempted suicide in New York, was well known here and in Oakland, where her father, the late Col. Henry S. Fitch, made his home. She was the youngest of five children.

Eight years ago her family moved from Oakland to San Francisco and two years ago after her father's death she went to New York, where Grace went on the vaudeville stage.

ROBBED ON THE MAURETANIA

Westerner, Ready to Sail for Europe, Accuses a Steamship Fireman.

Just before the Mauretania sailed yesterday morning Duncan McMillan, a fireman, was arrested on board charged with holding up and robbing Anton Marks, who is on his way to Europe.

Marks came here from the West several days ago intending to sail for Germany. On Tuesday night while walking in West Street he met two men, one of whom, he says, offered him a job on the Mauretania for $13 a month. Being thrifty and wanting an ocean voyage he accepted. Accompanied by the two he went to Hoboken and got a suit case containing his belongings.

Returning to New York he was taken to the Mauretania, and in a hatchway there, according to his story, was robbed of his clothing and jewelry. He says he was even forced to give up the suit of clothes he wore in exchange for an oil-stained one.

Marks complained to Police Headquarters, and yesterday he went to the Mauretania with detectives Moody and Leeson and pointed out McMillan as one of the men who had robbed him. Later, in the Jefferson Market Court, Magistrate Herrman held McMillan in $1,000 for examination.

STRICKEN FORESTERS HELPED

Denied Their Wages by Government, Fellow-Employes Send Them Money.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The fire fighters who sustained injuries in protecting life and property in the stricken Northwest, and whose small wages were stopped by the Government when they became incapacitated, will receive funds for their immediate needs through the sympathy of employes in the Forest Service here.

When it became known that interpretation of the law by officials of the Department of Agriculture prevented the continuance of the salaries of the disabled men, and they had no money to defray even their hospital expenses, the Forest Service officials, from Director to messengers, almost to a man, came to their aid. Between $150 and $200 from them will be telegraphed to Missoula to-day.

Both Chief Forester Graves and District Forester Greeley report the fire situation in that district to be greatly improved.

SUES FOR HER CHILDREN.

Ex-Wife Says Seventh Regiment Athlete Has Violated Court Orders.

Mrs. Marion B. Catlin of 103 Herkimer Street, Brooklyn, for the second time has begun proceedings against her former husband, George L. Catlin, of 1,105 Amsterdam Avenue, for the custody of their children, Jeanne S. and Lynde E. Catlin. Catlin is a well-known member of the Seventh Regiment and an athlete. He is the brother of Mrs. Catherine de Wolff of 525 West 114th Street, who some time ago sued the Grand Union Hotel for ejection.

When Catlin was about 30 he married in 1900 in Jersey City Miss Marion Briggs, who was only 17 years old. They did not live together, as he was unable to support his wife. One daughter was born to them. In 1905, after Mrs. Catlin's father died, her husband went in October, 1905, to live with her mother and herself in East Orange. He was then in the employ of the National Surety Company, and agreed to pay Mrs. Briggs $40 a month as his share of her expenses and $20 for the child. The boy was born in the following August, and three weeks later Catlin disappeared.

Mrs. Briggs and her daughter then moved to Brooklyn, where they opened a boarding house at 155 Hancock Street. Catlin turned up again. He came and went as he pleased. He used to take the children out for little jaunts, and in September, 1909, went off with them.

Habeas corpus proceedings before Justice Blanchard resulted in a compromise by which Catlin agreed to return the children and pay for their clothing and tuition.

Then Mrs. Briggs died, and Mrs. Catlin went to live with an aunt at 103 Herkimer Street. She began divorce proceedings in Reno, alleging desertion and non-support and received a decree on July 25 last. On July 14 Catlin took the children away and put them with a governess in Greenpoint. They are now believed to be in the city. Mrs. Catlin's habeas corpus writ was returnable on Aug. 19, but adjournments were granted, and the hearing will now be held on Sept. 19.

OLD BREWING CO. BANKRUPT.

Creditors Act Against Clausen & Price —Aggregate Debts $300,000.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday against the Clausen & Price Brewing Company of Eleventh Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street and against Charles C. Clausen, President of the company. The attorneys for the petitioning creditors are James, Schell & Elkus, who stated that the proceedings were necessitated through the long illness of Mr. Clausen and through a consequent impairment of the business conditions.

It is understood that the aggregate debts in the two cases are slightly in excess of $300,000. Judge Hough of the United States District Court appointed Henry Melville of 120 Broadway receiver for the company and Richard P. Lydon receiver of Mr. Clausen's individual assets.

What the assets will realise it is difficult at the present time to state, but it is hoped that creditors will receive, if not full payment, a very large percentage of their claims. The creditors consist almost entirely of a number of close friends of Mr. Clausen.

According to the Copartnership Directory, the Clausen & Price Brewing Company's officers are: Charles C. Clausen, President; Walter C. Clausen, Secretary; Charles C. and Walter C. Clausen, Directors. The brewing company was established in 1871.

HOLLANDER FURNITURE SOLD

It Brings Only $135 to Satisfy a Federal Judgment for $29,621.

On an execution to satisfy a judgment for $29,621, obtained by the Government in the United States District Court, against Alexander Hollander, of the firm of Alexander Hollander & Co., customs brokers, of 28 Wall Street, United States Marshal Henkel sold at public auction yesterday, at Appraisers' Stores in Washington Street, the office furniture of the corporation. The sum of $135 was realized by the sale and on Oct. 5, on the same execution, Marshal Henkel will sell an acre of land at New Rochelle, N. Y., which was owned by the company.

After a long hunt Hollander was arrested on July 20, at Naples, Italy, whither he had fled to avoid prosecution by the Federal authorities for forgery and conspiracy to defraud the Government through the altering of invoices and official papers relating to automobiles and merchandise imported from other countries. His extradition has been asked for from Italy and proceedings are now being held in the case at Naples.

It is contended that the Government was cheated out of $500,000, by these customs frauds.

HELP FOR BOY SCOUTS.

Abraham & Straus in Brooklyn Offer Encouragement to New Troops.

As an encouragement to the boy scouts movement, in which they have become interested, the firm of Abraham & Straus has offered a flag and staff to each of the first 500 troops formed in Brooklyn and Long Island. There are about 75,000 boys enrolled in America, and there are prospects of 500,000 in another year.

Even now Brooklyn boasts a score of troops. With the idea that these shall be duplicated and reduplicated Abraham & Straus offer their encouragement. The boy scouts movement is the idea originally of Gen. Baden-Powell, who saw the need for training boys early during the siege of Mafeking. Ernest Thompson Seton brought the movement here from England. It is designed to inculcate the resourcefulness and bravery of the soldier in the youth of the country. The idea has had wonderful development in England.

THIRD AVE. CAR TO BRUSSELS

Duncan McDonald to Take a Pay-as-You-Enter Kind to Tramway Congress.

Among those who sailed yesterday on the Cunard liner Mauretania was Duncan McDonald, who has been invited by the European Tramway Congress to demonstrate the value of the pay-as-you-enter cars before the convention to be held in Brussels from Sept. 7 to 11. For purposes of demonstration a Third Avenue car will be shipped to Brussels and operated on the streets.

Mr. McDonald had much to do with the introduction of the pay-as-you-enter cars in this city. He spent some years rehabilitating the Paris traction system. He hopes to see the cars introduced into Paris and other European cities.

SUES FOR GEMS LOST ON SHIP

Mrs. Kraft Wants the White Star Line to Pay Her $2,500.

Counsel for Mrs. Alice B. Kraft yesterday began suit in the Supreme Court against the White Star Steamship Company to recover $2,500, the value of jewels she says were lost on the voyage from Cherbourg to New York in the Adriatic.

According to the complaint Mrs. Kraft's baggage contained a trunk in which, in a glove box she had packed jewelry worth $2,500.

When the Adriatic reached New York Mrs. Kraft said one of her trunks evidently had been tampered with and the jewels were missing.

The complaint charges that the jewels were lost through the steamship company employing irresponsible persons. Mrs. Kraft is at the Leonard Hotel, Sixty-third Street and Madison Avenue.

LOSES BRIDGE FRUIT STAND.

Proprietor Encroached on Park Property, Now His License Is Revoked.

Park Commissioner Stover has ordered John D. Antonopulo to vacate the candy, fruit, and soft drink stand under the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge.

The grounds for revoking the permit are that the space the stand covers has been increased despite warning. Antonopulo, who has had the privilege for several years, paid the city $700 a month.

FALLS FROM TOP OF PARK ROW BUILDING

Insurance Man's Body Crushed Beyond Recognition by 250-Foot Drop.

SMASHES ADJOINING ROOF

Wife's Failing Sight Was Holbrook's Reason for Suicide—Made a Good Income, His Friends Say.

Edgar H. Holbrook, an insurance solicitor, jumped or fell from the roof of the twenty-six-story Park Row Building, at 21 Park Row, yesterday morning. The man took a sheer drop of 250 feet, twenty stories, and landed on the elevator house on the roof of the six-story building adjoining, at 23 Park Row. He was crushed beyond recognition.

Holbrook's friends believe he committed suicide, although the police reported the case to the Coroner as an accident. No one saw the man fall. If he committed suicide his only known reason was the fact that his wife is going blind. Holbrook made a good income. For many years he was connected with the New York Life, and for the last six or seven with the Preferred Accident Insurance Company, 290 Broadway. Although only 2 cents was found in the dead man's pockets officials of the Preferred Insurance Company said his credit had been good for almost any amount.

Holbrook lived with his wife in a boarding house at 129 West Seventy-sixth Street. The couple had no children, and for the last ten years Mrs. Holbrook has been an incurable invalid. A slight trouble with her eyes developed seriously, and oculists had declared only a few days ago that she would become blind permanently. Holbrook took the matter very much to heart and brooded over it.

When his friends left him on Tuesday afternoon he was very despondent. It could not be learned whether he had gone to the Park Row Building to end his life, whether the suicidal mania overcame him as he reached the roof, or whether he fell accidentally.

About 9:30 o'clock two painters were busy working on the north wall of the building from a swinging platform. One of them saw the body of a man hurtle past. A few seconds later the body struck the roof of the adjoining building, more than 100 feet below.

The body hit the roof of the elevator house, broke through the tin roof of the shaft, smashed a glass skylight and a metal screen, and became wedged in the hoisting machinery, stopping the elevator car. P. L. Jimmison, Michael Weir, and E. L. Trainor, who were in the car, obtained help and climbed to the top of the shaft. The body was extricated with great difficulty. Every bone was crushed.

The body was carried to the sixth floor of the building and wrapped in a tablecloth. Later it was removed to the Oak Street Police Station, where it was claimed by the dead man's friends. A gold watch he carried had stopped at 9:30 o'clock.

There were several insurance papers and letters in the dead man's pockets, and identification was easy. One letter was addressed to the manager of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company. Supt. Webster said Holbrook merely had deskroom at the company's offices, as he was an independent solicitor, and did work for several companies.

"I cannot understand why Mr. Holbrook should commit suicide, if he did," said Webster. "He was one of the best insurance solicitors in the business and made good money. He worried a great deal over the fact that his wife was nearly blind, and would probably soon be totally so. He loved her dearly, and her plight weighed heavily on his mind. When I left the office last night he seemed to be despondent, but he said nothing about being tired of life."

At one time Holbrook was cashier in a branch office of the New York Life Insurance Company. He was about 47 years of age.

One day twelve years ago, while Holbrook was sitting on the balustrade railing in the corridor on the fourth floor of the New York Life Insurance Building, 350 Broadway, he lost his balance and fell four stories, landing on the concrete floor on his feet. Both legs were broken and he received internal injuries, but had recovered almost completely. At that time he was in the employ of the New York Life as general agent.

At the time Holbrook had an accident insurance policy. He was compelled to go to court to collect it, and long litigation ensued. Eventually Holbrook recovered a substantial sum.

THE REV. DR. PARKS RESIGNS.

Calvary's Pastor Made Rector Emeritus at a Salary of $3,500 a Year.

The Rev. Dr. J. Lewis Parks, for fourteen years rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Fourth Avenue and Twenty-first Street, has resigned, and has been elected rector emeritus, at a salary of $3,500 a year. The resignation takes effect on Oct. 1.

Dr. Parks, who is one of the foremost clergymen of the Diocese of New York, is a deputy to the general convention of the Episcopal Church. He will attend this convention in Cincinnati in October, and thereafter may go abroad for a short time. His plans are said to be somewhat uncertain beyond that personal effects, especially his library, are now being sent from the Calvary rectory to Brooklyn Heights, where his son, not long married, has taken a house, and will have his parents to live with him.

The reason for Dr. Parks' retirement was a difference of judgment with the vestry over certain plans governing the work of the parish.

No candidate has yet been considered to succeed Dr. Parks. Calvary parish not only has no debt, but it has an endowment of about $400,000. Besides this sum it has a considerable amount in hand for the erection of a parish building. One donor gave it $20,000 a short time ago.

A prominent member of the congregation said yesterday that there was no intention of moving Calvary farther uptown.

TO PUNISH LIQUOR BUYERS.

Excise Commissioner Suggests Their Prosecution When Law Is Violated.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 31.—State Commissioner of Excise Maynard N. Clement addressed the annual convention of the State Association of Police Chiefs here this morning. He urged faithful enforcement of the law and suggested that purchasers of intoxicants during forbidden hours should be prosecuted as well as the sellers.

Chief James Rynex of this city was elected President of the association for the coming year; James M. Quigley of Rochester, Vice President, and James L. Hyatt of Albany, Secretary Treasurer. The chiefs will meet in Rochester next year. The convention concluded this afternoon with a clambake given by Chief Rynex.

Thomas-Stewart Wedding To-day.

At the wedding of Miss Frances Violet Stewart, a daughter of the late William A. W. Stewart of 27 East Thirty-eighth Street, and the Rev. Norman M. Thomas, assistant rector of the Brick Presbyterian Church, which takes place at noon today in that church, the best man will be Dumont Clarke, and the ushers will be William A. W. Stewart, John A. Stewart, 3d, Ralph Thomas, Evan W. Thomas, Paul Wells, William S. Coffin, A. T. Carton, Ross A. Hadley, Theodore Savage, and Charles W. Gilkey. The maid of honor will be the bride's sister, Miss Mary Stewart. Miss Stewart's brother, Francis Gray Stewart, will give her in marriage. Dr. Welling E. Thomas and Dr. Henry S. Coffin will officiate at the ceremony. There will be no reception.

LITTLE GIRL STREET ROBBER.

Held Up Neighborhood Children for Dimes, Nickels, or Store Money.

"Little girl, watch out, or the boys around here will take that money away from you," said an 11-year-old girl to 9-year-old Lillian Finan of 625 East 134th Street, who was going to the drugstore with $1 for her mother some days ago. "Let's see how much you've got," she added.

Lillian showed her the dollar bill, and the girl pocketed the bill and ran away.

Three days ago the same girl met 8-year-old Elizabeth Dempsey of 584 East 132d Street at the corner of St. Ann's Avenue. Elizabeth was wearing a gold neck chain.

"My, what a fine neck chain you got, dear," sighed the girl. "Let's see it."

When little Elizabeth came home later she was wearing a cheap brass chain instead of the gold one.

Yesterday afternoon 10-year-old Bertha Jacobs of 400 East 135th Street ran up to Policeman Mooney of the Alexander Avenue Station, complaining that a girl had just snatched a dime from her while she was going to the grocery. She led Mooney to a candy store just opposite the Alexander Avenue Station, where she pointed out Esther Muccia of 264 East 132d Street. Esther, who was just buying candy with the dime, admitted that she had taken it, but insisted that she had considered it merely borrowed. After she was taken to the station on a charge of juvenile delinquency she was identified, according to the police, by the Finan and Dempsey girls and half a dozen others as the girl who had held them up.

Her mother, Mrs. Dora Muccia, told the police the girl had told her she was employed as a nursemaid at $2 a week, and that after remaining away from home from 8 o'clock till 6 o'clock every day she handed over $2 to her mother each week. The mother also said the girl had been arrested for stealing in Philadelphia two years ago.

REED STATUE UNVEILED.

Portland, Me., Honors Former Speaker's Memory—McCall's Tribute.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 31.—A great National figure was honored in his home city this afternoon when a bronze statue of the late Thomas Brackett Reed, for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives at Washington, was unveiled on the western promenade overlooking Casco Bay.

The statue is eight feet high, and represents the former Speaker in an attitude of repose with a scroll in the left hand. The pedestal is of Maine granite, nine feet high. The statue is the work of Burr C. Miller of New York and Paris, a son of Warner Miller, who was an intimate friend of Mr. Reed. The cost was about $35,000.

The principal oration was delivered by Congressman Samuel W. McCall, LL. D., of Massachusetts, who for many years was closely associated with Mr. Reed in the National House.

In a review of Mr. Reed's career in the House Mr. McCall thus summed up his accomplishments:

"As a debater and parliamentary leader he must be accorded high rank. When Reed became the leader of the Republican Party he was so pre-eminently the man for the place as to stand in a class by himself, and from that time until he left the House, sixteen years later, he remained at the head of his party, the longest period that any man has been the leader of a party in either the Senate or the House. It is the simple truth to say that great and varied as was the array of talent against him, he never was overmatched, and he never appeared to have all his reserves brought into action."

In concluding his address Congressman McCall said:

"It was you who gave him to the Nation. He was the product of the sky and the soil of Maine. And when he returned his commission to you he could truthfully say, as he proudly did: 'No sail has been trimmed for any breeze or any doubtful flag ever flown.'"

SHIPS END 14,000-MILE RACE.

The Bonanza First to Anchor Here, Followed Closely by the Gaa Paa.

A 14,000 mile ocean race between two barks ended yesterday when the Bonanza passed through the Narrows. Close behind her came the Gaa Paa. The Bonanza was first to drop anchor off Staten Island and Capt. Neils Tellepen went into training at once for the best dinner and the largest cigar that Capt. Hansen of the Gaa Paa can buy.

The race started in faraway Batavia on the Island of Sumatra, where both vessels were loading coffee. They were bound for this port and both skippers had received orders to call at Pedang. This was in February. The Bonanza and the Gaa Paa sailed on the same day. The former made a good run to Pedang, but the Gaa Paa was delayed some days fighting adverse winds. On April 17, the two craft, both alike in rig and of 600 tons register each, made a fair start on the last leg of their course.

For nearly half a day both vessels were in sight of each other. Then when darkness came they separated. During all of the 135 days voyage they never sighted one another, and the first that Capt. Tellepen knew his rival was close behind him was when he let go his anchor within the shadow of Staten Island.

The Bonanza sailed from here last two years ago with oil for Ireland. From there she went to Australia and then to Nova Scotia. From there she carried lumber to Montevideo. From that port she next headed for Batavia, where the race began.

F. A. HEINZE WEDS ACTRESS.

Mrs. Bernice Henderson Copper Man's Bride in a Brooklyn Pastor's Home.

F. Augustus Heinze, the copper man, married Mrs. Bernice Henderson, the actress, yesterday afternoon in the apartments of the Rev. Dr. Handel, 34 Jefferson Avenue, Brooklyn, in spite of the threats of Mrs. Lillian Hobart French.

Arrangements for the ceremony were made over the telephone yesterday morning, Mr. Heinze telling the minister that he wanted the ceremony performed with as little fuss as possible. He was promised that the wedding should be as private as he desired.

Mr. Heinze then invited a few of his friends to the minister's house, and later followed with Mrs. Henderson, who lives at the Hotel Algonquin, in West Forty-fourth Street.

Mrs. Golden, the bride's mother, gave her away, and Carlos Warfield of Butte, Mon., was best man. The ceremony was performed in the presence of half a dozen other friends and relatives.

Immediately afterward the party proceeded in automobiles to the Waldorf-Astoria, where a wedding supper was served. Among those present at the supper were Dr. Handel, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Heinze, Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Heinze, Carlie Watjen, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Warfield, Mr. and Mrs. George Potter, Mrs. Stanley Gifford, M. M. Joyce, and H. A. Apleton.

It was officially announced that Mrs. Golden Henderson Heinze wore at the dinner a gown of real old lace and many diamonds. To-day the couple will take a private car to Butte, later sailing on a honeymoon trip to Europe.

LEAPS INTO SOUND TO SAVE GIRL CHUM

Miss Sumner, Fully Gowned, Battles with the Tide for Miss Shearman's Life.

HOLDS HER TILL HELP COMES

L. H. Shearman's Daughter Had Fallen In Boarding a Yacht at Huntington, and She Could Not Swim.

Margaret, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Edward A. Sumner, a lawyer of 90 West Street, saved a few days ago Miss Elise Shearman, daughter of L. H. Shearman, Vice President of W. R. Grace & Co., from drowning in Long Island Sound at Huntington, L. I. Fully dressed, she jumped into the water, though a strong ebb tide was running, and held Miss Shearman till help came. She was materially assisted by the coolness Miss Shearman displayed.

Sumner has been spending the Summer on his yacht Kiaora at Huntington. Miss Shearman is a classmate of his daughter, both attending the Hawthorne School, 250 West Seventy-second Street. The Shearmans have been spending the Summer at Garden City, and on Monday afternoon Miss Shearman went with her mother in an auto to visit Miss Sumner.

Miss Sumner, who had rowed to the Huntington Club house with a girl friend to meet her, was at the oars and all went well till the yacht was reached. Miss Sumner caught the yacht with a boathook and told Miss Shearman to climb the ladder, which was hanging over the side. Miss Shearman made a misstep and fell in. Shouting to her mother, who was on deck waiting to receive their guest, to throw over a life buoy, Miss Sumner sprang into the water. Miss Shearman could not swim and also was hampered by an automobile veil which was wound tightly over head, neck, and shoulders. She was helpless and was being carried swiftly away by the tide. The girl who was left in the boat knew little about rowing and was too frightened to do anything but scream.

Miss Sumner, who had been instructed by her father and her brother as to how to deal with a drowning person, swam after Miss Shearman. She soon caught her and told her not to be frightened or to cling to her. Miss Shearman's clothes buoyed her up and she obeyed instructions implicitly, and holding her up but keeping well away from her Miss Sumner turned her toward the yacht.

By this time the tide had carried the two girls several hundred feet out, and it was hard for Miss Sumner to support her friend and swim against the stream. Her mother, however, had acted with promptitude. She had thrown a life buoy to the girls and then called for help. Miss Sumner swam to it, and with its aid both reached the yacht and were hauled aboard.

Both were exhausted but otherwise little the worse for the wetting. As soon as she had rested Miss Shearman was able to return to Garden City.

Sumner is a member of the New York Yacht Club, and this is the second lifesaving episode in his family. Last year he was a Rear Commodore in the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, stationed off 110th Street in the Hudson River. One night about 1 o'clock his son Richard heard cries from the river. He launched the dinghy and found a British sailor struggling and almost overcome. He pulled him out and landed him safely on his ship. For this he received the thanks of the British Government.

ACTS ON CONEY INQUIRY.

Mitchel Sends Report to Kings Prosecutor—To Grand Jury Soon.

Acting District Attorney Elder of Kings County received yesterday from the Mayor's office the affidavits of the investigators in the Coney Island crusade, whose discoveries at the resort led to a wholesale shakeup in the police management there, and all the other documents in the case. Although Mr. Elder said last night that he had not had time to go over the evidence it is believed that the entire investigation will be taken to the Grand Jury of Kings County before the end of the week.

In transmitting the papers Acting Mayor Mitchel sent with them this letter:

Aug. 31, 1910.

Sir: Acting in pursuance of the directions laid down in Mayor Gaynor's letter to the Police Commissioner of March 29, 1910, and section 40 of the liquor tax law, I send you herewith the affidavits made by the officers from the Commissioners of Accounts on violations of law at Coney Island by holders of liquor tax permits.

Because of the very serious nature of the charges set forth in these affidavits, I hope you will be able to take action very soon.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN PURROY MITCHEL,
Acting Mayor.

Hon. ROBERT E. ELDER, Acting District Attorney, Kings County.

In the letter referred to by Mr. Mitchel the Mayor directed that the police turn over to the District Attorneys of all counties all evidence found in them of violations of the provisions of the Excise law.

PEARSON OFF TO EUROPE.

Says Before Sailing Syndicate's Rock Island Deal Was Exaggerated.

Frederick Stark Pearson, who, along with Percival Farquhar, headed a group which undertook to acquire control of the Rock Island to merge it with other roads including the Lehigh Valley to form a new trans-continental line, sailed for England yesterday on the Cunard liner Mauretania. A large part of the holdings of this group late in July was taken over by an international banking syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who stepped in to save the stock market from the demoralization which was threatened by the impending liquidation of much of this stock. Mr. Pearson is a Director of the Rock Island.

"The dealings of myself and associates in Rock Island have been grossly exaggerated," he said. "There was a mutual arrangement agreeable to both parties by which stock was turned over to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Percival Farquhar and I were invited into the Directorate of Rock Island by D. G. Reid and Judge Moore. There is nothing new in that situation."

When the Farmer buys goods he pays for them with a check.

It is picturesque and interesting to imagine him reaching down in his "jeans" (note the phrase), fishing up an old wallet tied with a shoestring, which he unwinds and unwinds until he gets down to a meager roll of bills—it's picturesque, but it isn't true. Unfortunately, he writes a check, even as you and I, because, after all, the farmer is a business man. He is a business man, even if his trousers or even his "pants" are not creased.

You have only to look at a copy of Farm and Fireside to realize that the farmers who read it must be business-like, progressive and up-to-date, just as you have only to look at the Atlantic Monthly to know that its readers are literary and intellectual.

ALLAN RYAN WILL RUN AVIATION MEET

Committee Turns Complete Management Over to Young Son of Thomas F. Ryan.

AUSTRIAN NOBLES COMING

Prince Don Jaime of Bourbon and Duke de Braganza to Head Party —May Need Pilot Licenses.

The management of the international aviation meet at Belmont Park race track, Oct. 20 to 30, was yesterday turned over to Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan. Mr. Ryan's official position is Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, but he will direct all the affairs in connection with the meet in the future. Mr. Ryan has realized for some time that events were moving too slowly to insure the success of the meet, and at yesterday's meeting of the Aero Corporation, Limited, he consented to take active charge of the meet, providing he was allowed an absolutely free hand. He was assured of this, and immediately set the machinery in motion to make the meet successful.

The selection of Allan Ryan as the manager of the big meet comes as a big surprise. When he first became a subscriber he appeared lukewarm. He however quickly realized the possibilities of the tournament and the necessity of an executive to set the aviation machinery in motion. One of his first acts was to open a suite of offices in the Fifth Avenue Building, where he installed a force of clerks. Before accepting the position Mr. Ryan stipulated that he should have a free hand, and already the evidences of his management are apparent. Contracts have been signed for privileges on the grounds, and Mr. Ryan will be required to accomplish in seven weeks what should have taken one year.

Austrian nobility will be well represented in this country during the meet. Chairman J. C. McCoy of the Commission on Sports yesterday received advices that Count Alesander Kalowrat and Baron Economo, Vice President of the Vienna Aero Club, would compete in the different events. They will use a Voisin biplane and an Etrich-Wel monoplane. They will be accompanied by Prince Don Jaime de Bourbon, the pretender to the throne of Spain; Duke Franz Joseph de Braganza, Count Draskovitch, and Count Te..ka of Budapest. The party will leave the first week in October. Both Count Kalowrat and Baron Economo are well known in European aviation circles and have made a number of successful flights.

It was announced yesterday at the tournament headquarters that competitors in the international aviation championship contest may be required to take out aero club pilot licenses. Only nine of these have been issued by the Aero Club of America, J. C. Mars being the latest licensed pilot.

The international championship will be decided over a five-kilometer course Oct. 29. A cable message was received yesterday from the International Aeronautic Federation granting the permission to change the date from Oct. 22 to Oct. 29. The elimination contest for this event will be held Oct. 26, when the American representatives will be selected. Glenn H. Curtiss, who now holds the championship, has been named as one of the three aviators to defend the trophy. Should he accept, two others will be selected from the elimination contest. If for any reason he fails to take part in the race three men will be chosen. Teams have already been nominated by France, England, Germany, Denmark, Italy, and Belgium. Rene Labouchere, Alfred Le Blanc, and Hubert Latham were nominated by France after the elimination race at Rheims July 5.

The international balloon race will be held at St. Louis Oct. 17. The elimination contest will take place at Indianapolis Sept. 19, with the following contestants: Clifford B. Harmon, Alan R. Hawley, and Charles Walsh, New York; H. E. Hunnewell, T. Lewis von Phul, and W. F. Assman, St. Louis; J. H. Wade, Cleveland, and Arthur T. Atherholt, President of the Philadelphia Aero Club. The latter was aid to Major Hersey two years ago.

August Belmont, Jr., yesterday made the first application for a second box for the Belmont Park meet. His application was followed by that of Edwin Gould. It is expected that the grand stand seats will be placed on sale next week. The boxes and reserved seats will be allotted to the applicants in the order the applications are received.

SHORT FLIGHTS BY POST.

Aviator Succeeds in Making Six Trips Without Accident.

Augustus Post made a number of short flights yesterday at Sheepshead Bay race track. It was the most successful flying accomplished by Mr. Post. In each of the flights the aviator flew at a height of nearly thirty feet. Starting from the lower end of the track, he flew to the upper end, a distance of about 500 yards. He then returned to the starting point, showing complete control of his machine. He did not attempt to circle, but confined himself to straight flights. After six trips Mr. Post announced that late in the afternoon he would essay a longer flight, but the breeze freshened as the day advanced, and he decided to postpone further flights until to-day.

PFITZNER MONOPLANE FALLS.

Badly Damaged at Atlantic, but Kearney, the Aviator, Is Unhurt.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—A wreck was the result of the first attempted flight in connection with the coming Harvard-Boston aviation meet at Atlantic. The Pfitzner monoplane, operated by Horace K. Kearney, fell to-day from a height of twenty-five feet. The machine was badly damaged, but the aviator was not injured.

It is understood that Kearney may be barred from making further flights, as it is alleged that he made his flight to-day without the permission of Charles J. Glidden, manager of the meet.

Kearney at the time of the accident had sailed up and down the course a few times and was rising when a breeze caught the monoplane and tipped it almost on end. Before Kearney could control it the machine dived twenty-five feet to the ground. It was so badly damaged that ten days will probably be required to make the repairs.

HAMILTON LOSES MOTION.

Court Denies Aviator Preliminary Injunction to Restrain Curtiss.

The motion of Charles K. Hamilton, the young New Britain aviator, who made the sensational flight from New York to Philadelphia and return for THE NEW YORK TIMES, for a preliminary injunction restraining Glenn H. Curtiss from interfering with his contract for flying exhibitions, was denied yesterday by Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court. Argument on the motion was heard a week ago. Judge Lacombe did not write any decision on the case.

Hamilton in his application for an injunction asserted that Curtiss blocked him in his arrangements for giving a flying exhibition at San Francisco, and also at the Harvard aeronautical meet, which opens on Saturday.

Morane Gets the Height Record.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—In his monoplane flight of last Monday Léon Morane, the French aviator, reached a height of 7,054 feet, according to the official figures, determined to-day. This constitutes a world's record for height, eclipsing the mark set by J. Armstrong Drexel, the American aviator, at Lanark on Aug. 12. Drexel rose 6,752 feet.

Fly Across Seine for Luncheon.

HAVRE, Aug. 31.—The continuation to-day of the international aviation meet brought out exhibitions by fourteen aviators. Among the most interesting flights were those of MM. Le Blanc and Morane, who flew across the wide mouth of the Seine for luncheon at Trouville, and, when returning, met Hubert Latham and M. Thomas, whom they saluted as they passed in the air.

CLOSE STRAUS MILK DEPOTS.

Nine of the Seventeen Shut Earlier Than Usual—Others to Follow.

Nine of the seventeen Nathan Straus milk depots were closed yesterday, and at all of the stations the sale of pasteurized milk by the glass was discontinued. This was the first step in the ending of this philanthropy, which Mr. Straus started in 1892, and which he has felt compelled to abandon because of personal attacks which he feared hindered the cause of pasteurization.

The depots closed were the Summer stations on five recreation piers, at Central, City Hall, and Battery Parks, and at the Educational Alliance Roof Garden. In other years these stations have been open until Sept. 15. The supplying of pasteurized modified milk in nursing bottles will be continued for a time at eight stations, that is, the Straus Laboratory at 348 East Thirty-second Street, Tompkins, and Mount Morris Parks, 45 Monroe Street, 441 West Thirty-third Street, 38 Macdougal Street, 322 East Fifty-ninth Street, and 303 East 111th Street.

Mr. Straus is aboard the Celtic, due here on Sunday. When he arrives he will decide the date for the closing of these stations.

DECISION FAVORS DEPOSITORS

Judge Lacombe Upholds Law Requiring Banks to Give Protecting Bonds.

Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit Court denies the motions made by Morris Engel and Samuel Kohan for an injunction restraining State Attorney General Edward R. O'Malley and other officials from enforcing the recent amendment to the State banking law, requiring private banking concerns to take out licenses and give bonds for the protection of depositors. This law goes into effect to-day. In sustaining the demurrers interposed in the case, Judge Lacombe also dismissed the bills of complaint, with costs. His decision was handed down yesterday. He says:

"These causes were argued on Aug. 24, and the briefs reached the court on Aug. 27. The sole question raised is as to the constitutionality of Chapter 348 of the law of 1910, which it is contended violates the Constitution of the United States.

"The objection that the statute requires five years' residence in the United States is one which cannot be availed of by either of these complainants, both of whom have been residents for a much longer time.

"As to the contention that the statute confides the issuing of a license to the arbitrary discretion of the Controller, it is sufficient to say that its terms may be construed either way; that is, as giving such officer the power capriciously to refuse a license or as giving him the power to refuse only in the honest exercise of a reasonable discretion. In the absence of a decision by the State court of last resort construe the language of the statute, it must be assumed that the latter is the correct interpretation.

"I am not persuaded that there is anything unreasonable in the classification based, not only on the volume of business done, but on the amount of individual transactions; there may be good reason for providng special and greater safeguards for those small depositors who presumably are without means to safeguard themselves."

LABOR ISSUES ULTIMATUM.

General Strike in 72 Hours If Columbus Strike Is Not Settled.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31.—The conference of representatives of labor unions throughout the State announced to-day that a committee of ten had been appointed with the power to declare a general strike not only of organized labor but also unorganized labor, if the street car srike is not settled in seventy-two hours. It is believed that the pending negotiations to end the strike will fail, even if Gov. Harmon again asks the street car company to submit to arbitration, which is the extent of his power.

The Committee of Ten at once began to compile a history of the strike, which will be sent to Col. Roosevelt that he may fully understand union labor's side of it when he speaks here Sept. 10. "As long as they tell the truth I don't care what they send Roosevelt," said General Manager Stewart of the street railway company when he learned of the union's action.

A car was blown up at 10 o'clock in the suburb of Linden, three miles from Police Headquarters, where the report was plainly heard. Nitro-glycerine was the explosive used. There were no passengers on the car, and the conductor and motorman were thrown several yards, and were to the scene, as a large crowd had gathered. The car was practically demolished. A piece of the track seven feet in length was blown 300 feet. The windows in all the buildings for two squares were shattered.

BROWNE CASE TO JURY SOON.

Meantime Perjury and Jury-Fixing Charges Will Engage Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Between the closing moves in the Lee O'Neil Browne bribery trial in Judge Kersten's courtroom, and the beginning by a special Grand Jury of an investigation of perjury charges in connection with the Browne case, the Criminal Court Building was in a turmoil most of to-day.

Within an hour after the members of the Special Grand Jury had assembled in the Grand Jury room State's Attorney Wayman announced that an indictment charging perjury had been voted against Patrick J. Keeley, a former city detective who worked for Mr. Wayman in the early stages of the Browne case, and who later appeared in the trial as a witness for the defense. The special Grand Jury will continue its investigation of perjury charges to-morrow, and on Friday will take up charges of attempted jury fixing made by Mr. Wayman.

Meanwhile in Judge Kersten's court it was announced that plans had been completed whereby the Browne case would go to the jury on next Monday. The State occupied most of the day in submitting rebuttal testimony. Among the witnesses was Representative Charles A. White, who declared that a certain politician went to Springfield a few days before William Lorimer's election to the United States Senate with $60,000, which he believed was used in effecting Lorimer's election.

POLICE DISPERSE PARADING STRIKERS

Reserves from Three Stations Out to Quell a Night Demonstration in Fifth Avenue.

ARREST MANY CLOAKMAKERS

Women Among Those Who Defied Justice Goff's Trade Injunction—Not Enough Cells for the Prisoners.

To show their disapproval of the order issued to the police by Acting Mayor Mitchel to enforce the ruling of Justice Goff preventing assemblage and picketing by strikers near the cloak and suit factories, a crowd of between 300 and 400 striking cloakmakers, many of them women, paraded last night in front of the factory of S. G. Silver & Co., 6 East Thirty-second Street, cheering, jeering, shouting, and singing. Several strikebreakers employed by the firm were sleeping inside the shop.

Inspector George McClusky, who happened to be in the neighborhood, determined to enforce the new ruling of the Acting Mayor, forbidding the assemblage that has hitherto been permitted to the strikers, and he sent in a call to the West Thirtieth Street Station for the reserves. A few minutes later Lieut. Gilhooly and twelve men were sent in a patrol wagon. They began rounding in those of the strikers who refused to move on.

The strikers, clamorously insisting that the police had hitherto permitted them to do just what they were doing then, continued in their demonstration, and resisted sturdily. The reserves of the new and old West Twentieth Street Stations had to be called out to aid the other men in coping with the situation, and three patrol wagons were kept busy running to and from the West Thirtieth Street Station with the corraled strikers, all of them even then insisting on their rights.

Many of the strikers, insisting that the police had assaulted them with clubs, lay flat upon the sidewalks, and several neighborhood physicians had to be called to examine them. No marks of violence were found, however, and all were jammed into the busy patrol wagons.

Even at the station house three or four of the prisoners insisted tearfully that they had been grossly assaulted, and Inspector McCluskey called an ambulance surgeon from the New York Hospital to examine them. Acting Capt. Walsh and his men insisted that they had used no violence and merely arrested those of the strikers who refused to move on.

The station was crowded to the doors with the mob of prisoners and the thirty or forty policemen who had rounded them in. There was everywhere wrath and tears. Many of the women became hysterical, and called for the physicians to look at their hurts, real or imaginary. No marks of violence had been found early this morning.

It was then too late to take the prisoners to the night court, and they had to be crowded into the West Thirtieth Street Station, often, because of the great horde, two and three in a cell. The taking of the pedigrees and the investigation of complaints had not been completed at 2 o'clock this morning.

Two striking cloakmakers, one a woman, were arrested earlier as a result of Supreme Court Justice Goff's injunction against picketing. James D. Francisco of 145 Spring Street, a strike picket, was brought into the Jefferson Market Court on a charge of disorderly conduct for having torn up a copy of Justice Goff's injunction.

Magistrate Herbert said, while he could not punish Francisco for contempt of Justice Goff's court, his conduct ought to be brought to Justice Goff's attention, and Lawyer H. T. Marshall, for the manufacturers' association, said he would see that it was.

Minnie Swartz, 19 years old, of 703 Fifth Street, was held to answer a charge of running up to a strikebreaker, John Holed, of 77 East Eighty-fifth Street, and striking him in the face.

Special Policeman Lawrence Gries, employed by the National Cloak and Suit Company of Twenty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, was taking a non-union employe home last night when he was pursued by several strikers. He jumped on a Sixth Avenue car at Twenty-fourth Street with his protegé. Two of the strikers, he says, pursued him all the way to Thirty-fourth Street, where he jumped off the car and into the two strikers. When Traffic Policeman Kiefer arrested the two at his complaint both had black eyes and discolored faces.

In the Night Court the strikers, Julius Gliessman of 133 Fifth Street and Moritz Foldman of 7 East Third Street, denied that they had run after the car, but Magistrate Harris fined them each $10.

After investigating the conduct of the strike for more than a week, the Special Grand Jury reported yesterday to Justice O'Sullivan. The Grand Jury had found no indictments and had no presentments to offer. Foreman John D. Moore said they had found the conditions surrounding the strike entirely creditable to the authorities.

After a conference with ex-Judge Parker yesterday Meyer London, for the strikers, announced that an appeal from the injunction would be taken without delay.

BOSTON SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

Miss Cavanaugh Had Been Missing for Several Days.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—The body of the well-dressed young woman who shot and killed herself in Young's Hotel was identified to-day as that of Miss Clara E. Cavanaugh of Roxbury. Relatives said she had been melancholy and had been missing since Saturday.

The body was discovered yesterday. A slip of paper on which was written "ill-health" was found in the room.

Sails Hopeful for Suffrage Cause.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, an English suffragette, sailed yesterday on the Cunard liner Mauretania. She will return in October with her husband and both will lecture on politics in Great Britain. Mrs. Snowden was enthusiastic over the progress of woman suffrage in America. She said it was gaining daily in strength.

AUTO KILLS A MAN

Many Others Injured by Collisions in Various Districts.

Several persons were hurt on Long Island yesterday in automobile accidents, and a man was killed in Brooklyn.

An automobile containing four men crashed into and wrecked a surrey in which were two men and two young women at Blue Point, L. I., early yesterday morning. Two of each party were hurt severely, but none will die.

Arthur Smith of Patchogue was driving the surrey, in which were Miss Leahy, Miss Grace Leahy, and George Walbauer, all of Patchogue. They were returning to their homes when the automobile ran into the rear of their vehicle, upsetting and smashing it and throwing its occupants to the roadway.

Miss Leahy was injured internally. Miss Grace Leahy's spine was wrenched.

Dr. W. H. Luckett of 112 West 119th Street, Manhattan, a surgeon who was driving the automobile, was cut about the head so severely that twenty stitches were taken in the wound. Dr. Joseph Zweig, a dentist of 147 East 125th Street, Manhattan, had his collarbone broken. William Bauman and the other man in the automobile sustained severe bruises.

While traveling along a lonely part of the road between Douglaston and Port Washington, L. I., at an early hour yesterday morning something went wrong with the automobile of Dr. C. B. Story of Bayside, and he got out to crank the engine. It back fired and broke his right wrist.

As he was alone, he had to set his broken bone as best he could, then bandage it and run his own machine to the office of Dr. Leander at Port Washington. Dr. Leander was roused out of bed, and after examining the break said the bone had been set perfectly. Dr. Leander then jumped into Dr. Story's car and acted as chauffeur to the home of Dr. Story.

Geraldine De Rancy, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward De Rancy of Sea Cliff, L. I., is in a critical condition as the result of having been struck by an automobile last night. The machine belonged to Charles E. Berner, a broker of 115 Broadway, Manhattan, who has a Summer home in Sea Cliff. It was being driven by Mr. Berner's son when the mishap occurred.

John Kelly, 20 years old, of 960 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, was knocked down and killed by an automobile as he stepped off a Flatbush Avenue car at Flatbush Avenue and Avenue K, Brooklyn, yesterday. The automobile was owned by Emil Mayer, a Wallabout Market merchant, living at 319 Washington Avenue, and was driven at the time of the accident by his chauffeur, Tony Tarraco, of 912 Flushing Avenue.

The chauffeur told the police that he saw Kelly step off the car and walk directly in front of his auto.

A touring car speeding east in Glenmore Avenue, Brownsville, yesterday afternoon struck four-year-old David Sussman, who was playing in the street in front of his home, 92 Glenmore Avenue. The car stopped, and from it jumped two women heavily veiled, while two men, who accompanied them, remained in the auto.

The women bent over the injured boy, and seeing that he was unconscious and evidently badly hurt, hurried quickly away from him, stepped again into the automobile, and shouted to the men to drive away. The car sped away, disappearing at Stone Avenue before any of the few persons on the street could note the license number.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Sarah Sussman, who had seen the accident from a window of her home, ran down to where the boy lay. An ambulance was called from St. Mary's Hospital. Dr. O'Keefe found the boy suffering from lacerated wounds of the head and face and a possible fracture of the skull.

The police of the Brownsville Station started a search for the auto.

The chauffeur of an automobile which ran into and injured ten-year-old Willie Hassett in front of 54 East 130th Street last evening stopped the auto and jumped out. Then he cranked the machine, and with a cry "I'll be back," continued on his way.

Mrs. May Pierson of 58 East 130th Street and John Anthony of 77 East 130th Street say the chauffeur did not approach the Hassett boy, who was lying unconscious on the pavement. They called Dr. Balamuth of the Harlem Hospital, and he took the boy to that institution. Later the youngster was removed to his home, 2,061 Madison Avenue.

The auto disappeared around the corner of Park Avenue before Policeman Donnelly reached the scene of the accident, but Mrs. Pierson said she had got the license number and she told it to the police.

Daniel Britt, 62 years old, a laborer, of 205 East 134th Street, was struck by an automobile last night while he was working near the approach to the Willis Avenue bridge at 134th Street. He was hurled several feet.

The operator of the auto, who said he was George Knabbe of 386 East 144th Street, placed the injured man in the tonneau and then hurried him to Lincoln Hospital. There Dr. Paulson found that Britt was suffering from a lacerated wound of the scalp, contusions of the right leg, and possible internal injuries.

FINES INTOXICATED AUTOIST.

Magistrate Kernochan Takes Advantage of Callan Law to Punish Doctor.

Because he drove his automobile when he was intoxicated, Dr. Albert V. Rockwell of 931 East 178th Street was fined $25 yesterday by Magistrate Kernochan in the Morrisania Court. The penalty was the first exacted under one of the provisions in the new Callan automobile law. Dr. Rockwell paid the fine and $10 more for speeding.

The arrest was made Tuesday morning on the Boston Post Road. Policeman Haggerty testified yesterday that the car was going at thirty-two miles an hour.

Dr. Rockwell confessed to remembering very little about it, but was quite sure he had not been intoxicated or anything like that. He and his companion had just been drinking Italian wine, he said.

"I did not remember at first, that Dr. Rockwell's case came under the provisions of the new law, I would have held him for Special Sessions on an intoxication charge. When I remembered, however, I seized the opportunity to give him the limit. A drunken man at the wheel of an automobile constitutes a criminal act," remarked the Magistrate after pronouncing sentence.

ESTRADA RESTORING ORDER IN NICARAGUA

Is Inaugurated as Provisional President and Troops Are Paid Off.

600 MADRIZ MEN SURRENDER

After Four Hours' Bombardment Leave the Church in Granada in Which They Made a Last Stand.

MANAGUA, Aug. 31.—Gradually order is being brought out of the chaos that has prevailed since the beginning of the recent revolution.

Last evening Gen. Juan J. Estrada, the Provisional President, was publicly inaugurated in the Hall of Congress, the troops have been paid off and mustered out, and tranquillity reigns.

The popularity of the new President is shown by the fact that a large number of prominent persons from the provinces have come to Managua personally to extend to him their felicitations, while the people of Granada have presented a gold laurel wreath to him.

By mutual agreement Gen. Luis Mena will assume the portfolio of Minister of War in the new Cabinet, replacing Gen. Tomas Macis. Salvator Lezama has been appointed Treasurer General of the Republic.

A number of prominent Conservatives, at the behest of Gen. Chamorro, met at the Palace last night to discuss matters of public interest. Among other things they gave their approval to the new Cabinet and administered the oath of office to its members, and they also requested President Estrada to name a commission to preside over the Congressional elections in accordance with a decree to be issued later, the principal object of which will be the extermination of Zelayaism from the Republic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—After four hours' bombardment the 600 Madriz followers, who made their stand in a church at Granada, surrendered on Monday to the Estrada forces, according to a dispatch received at the State Department to-day from Consul Olivares at Managua.

It is believed here that this garrison was the last formidable armed opposition to the Estrada Government.

Even under persistent shelling of their position the men refused to surrender until Gen. Estrada had given assurances that as prisoners they would be protected. The garrison had 1,800 rifles and 150,000 cartridges.

It was at the church in question that a stand was made against the Estrada forces after the battle at the Tipitapa River about ten days ago.

CZAR GROWING STOUTER.

Czarina Shows No Sign of Being Ill—Friedberg Castle Crowded.

FRIEDBERG, Hesse, Aug. 31.—Emperor Nicholas and Empress Alexandra, who arrived here yesterday, appeared in excellent health to-day. The Empress surprised those who saw her, for though she has long been described as being in ill health and came here to take the curative waters, her cheeks are full and have much color. She talks with animation.

The Emperor appears to be growing stouter. He strolled about the castle grounds to-day, wearing a sack suit of tweed and a derby hat, with his hands thrust into his trousers' pockets.

While the police precautions are strict they are not overdone, and quite 1,000 townspeople were admitted to the railway station when the imperial party arrived. One hundred and ninety-two soldiers are on guard duty at the castle, and thirty-four sentries are posted in the neighborhood.

Many Russians who had been stopping at Nauheim left the place because they were annoyed by the surveillance of the Russian police. All arrivals at the resort are compelled to submit to an examination of their baggage.

The castle is crowded, its 140 rooms being hardly sufficient to accommodate the royal visitors and their followers.

TURKISH CONCESSION TO US.

Foreign Institutions Exempted from Provisions of Ottoman Law.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 31.—After prolonged negotiations Oscar S. Straus, the United States Ambassador to Turkey, has succeeded in obtaining a decision from the Council of State approving the act of the Council of Ministers by which all foreign religious, educational, and benevolent institutions are exempted from the provisions of the Ottoman law.

Besides being freed from numerous restrictions, these institutions are now permitted to hold landed properties.

More than 300 American organizations are affected by the decision.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Some sixty foreign army officers have received permits to witness the coming imperial manoeuvres. Capt. Shartle, the American military attache, will be present in his official capacity and the other Americans who will attend unofficially as guests are Major Frederick S. Foltz, Capt. Samuel D. Rockenbach, Capt. Berkeley Enochs, and Capt. Arthur L. Conger.

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 31.—Senator Elihu Root, who headed the American counsel in the Newfoundland fisheries dispute before The Hague Arbitration Tribunal, and Mrs. Root sailed for New York to-day on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. The North German Lloyd liner got away at 11:40 o'clock this morning, ten minutes after the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American Line had sailed for New York.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The arrival of Henry P. Fletcher, recently appointed Minister to Chile, at his post at Santiago was reported to the State Department to-day.

PAN-AMERICAN HARMONY.

Not a Single Minority Committee Report at the Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Four conventions and twenty resolutions were adopted by the Pan-American Conference at its session at Buenos Ayres, according to a brief telegraphic report received at the State Department to-day from Henry White, Chairman of the American delegation. Entire harmony marked the proceedings throughout, not a single minority report being made by a committee.

Secretary Knox to-day, through the State Department, responded by cable to the resolution of the conference thanking him for his part in the preparation of the programme. He said in the course of the reply, which was sent to the Secretary of the conference:

"I have the honor to request that you will kindly extend to the conference my heartiest congratulations on the success that has attended its important labors with the noble object of increasing and strengthening the ties of Pan-American friendship."

In a cablegram which reached Washington to-day were quoted the concluding words of Dr. Larreta, the Argentine Minister for Foreign Affairs, in his speech closing the conference. He said:

"Let my last word be a message of recognition to the great nation which invited these continental conferences; which preceded us in the struggles for independence; which gave us the example of a people fruitfully organized as a Republican nation; which on a memorable day in its history said 'America for the Americans!' and covered as with a shield the independence we had won."

KOREANS PROMISE TO FIGHT.

Meet in San Francisco and Declare They Will Struggle for Liberty.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Eighty Koreans gathered last night in the general office of the Korean National Association and, representing 10,000 of their countrymen in Mexico, Hawaii, China, and the eastern ports of Russia, passed resolutions firmly repudiating the cession of the sovereignty of Korea to Japan, and denouncing what they termed the "tyrannical compulson" in the methods employed by the Japanese in acquiring Korea.

After a severe arraignment of the Japanese the resolution contains this pledge:

"We, the true sons of Korea, do determine never to give up our struggle for the liberty and independence of our dear old Korea until such time as we shall regain them, and we appeal to the justice of the nations of the Almighty God to punish this monstrous crime of a nation without honor and without faith."

SEOUL, Aug. 31.—The Consuls here were officially notified to-day that all administrative affairs concerning the foreign settlements, with the exception of the police arrangements, would remain unchanged for the present.

SEVERAL SLAIN IN PORTUGAL.

Official Dispatches Minimized the Election Excitement.

MADRID, Aug. 31.—A private letter received from Portugal to-day sets forth that the official dispatches from Lisbon minimize the excitement that attended the Parliamentary elections.

The writer says that there was much rioting, in which several persons were killed.

The Republican Party is described as having a monopoly of the intellectual elements of the country, including the professors of the universities. It is especially strong in the navy, Admirals de los Reis and Campos having been the Republican candidates at Lisbon and Oporto, respectively.

LISBON, Aug. 31.—Complete returns from the recent Parliamentary elections, with the exception of such as were invalidated by fraud or otherwise, show the following results: Ministerials, 90; Monarchists in opposition, 40; Republicans, 14.

This is a Republican gain, the party having elected but five candidates at the elections two years ago. The Republicans allege extensive frauds and have made frequent contests of the returns.

SILLONISTS OBEY THE POPE.

Society to be Turned Over to Bishops—Pius X. Condemns Modernism.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Marc Sangier, the head of the French Catholic Sillon Society, the dissolution and reorganization of which was ordered by the Pope, has written a letter of complete submission to his Holiness, saying that the work for popular education of the 500 branches will be turned over to the Episcopate.

M. Sangier adds, however, that he regrets the decision of the Vatican, as it gives the impression that the Church is opposed to democracy, and he announces that he will personally continue a democratic propaganda.

ROME, Aug. 31.—The Pope to-day, in receiving Signor Gentiloni, President of the Catholic Electoral Union, insisted upon the peril of modernism in all countries and under all forms.

The Pontiff said he had displayed the greatest toleration in the matter of the Sillonists, condemning the society only after repeated complaints from the French Episcopate, which had declared that the Sillonist doctrines contained errors common to all workers for Christian democracy by false interpretation of the precepts of Pope Leo XIII.

No Cholera in Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—It was officially announced to-day that the medical authorities had established definitely by bacteriological examination that no case of cholera existed in this city. The nine suspected cases that caused much uneasiness yesterday have been diagnosed as other maladies. There are no new cases in the suburb of Spandau to-day.

BARI, Aug. 31.—In the past twenty-four hours there have been fourteen new cases of cholera and fifteen deaths from the disease distributed among Barletta, Trani, Molfetta, Spinazzola, Bitonto, Margherita di Savoia, Trinitapoli, and Cerignola.

TAFT PLIES TROWEL LIKE A WORKMAN

Tells Beverly, as He Lays Y. M. C. A. Cornerstone, He's Done the Like the World Over.

PRAISE FOR ASSOCIATION

Representative Bennet and Henry A. Wise Call on President and Discuss New York State Situation.

Special to The New York Times.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 31.—President Taft to-day laid the cornerstone of a $90,000 Y. M. C. A. building at Beverly. Several thousand local residents turned out for the event and gave him the heartiest reception he has ever had at the Summer capital. The President's brief address set forth that he had already officiated at the laying of cornerstones for Y. M. C. A. buildings "the world over"—at Dayton, Ohio; at Omaha, at Seattle, at Shanghai, at Hongkong, and at Manila—and he played his part in to-day's ceremonies like a veteran. He handled the silver trowel vigorously, and spent more than three minutes spreading the mortar, walking around the four sides of the stone, as he worked. In the midst of his task the President paused:

"Where is the mason?" he inquired. "Where is my boss?"

Every one laughed, and the mason stepped forward. He gave some directions, but he did not offer to relieve the Chief Magistrate of the trowel, and Mr. Taft resumed his task. After he had spread and smoothed the mortar all around the copper box the President took hold of the granite block and helped steady it down. When he started away there was a rush of people to shake hands with him. Melville Woodbury, a leading Beverly citizen, who had charge of the exercises, said as the President was going:

"Come again, Mr. President, when we have finished the building."

"Well, I will." was the reply.

At the close of his brief addess the President, after some remarks about the usefulness of such a structure in Beverly, voiced a sentiment that brought a lusty cheer.

"I look forward to the completion of this building with a great deal of hopefulness," he said. "I hope to spend two more at any rate, of my Summers here."

There were a number of speakers before the President, but all spoke very briefly.

"My part on the programme is not speaking, but doing," said Mr. Taft, as he noted that the duty assigned to him was "Laying the Cornerstone." "It is a great pleasure," he continued, "for me to take part in the ceremony of dedicating a structure that I believe sincerely will contribute greatly to the comfort and to the building up of good character in young men in Beverly."

Then he told of the part he had taken in similar exercises, and declared that it was an evidence of the usefulness of the Young Men's Christian Association that it was well adapted to the "betterment of such different communities" as those he had mentioned.

"It serves a great many purposes," the President went on, "but the one that impresses me as the most useful is the furnishing of a Christian club to young men at a time when the devil is very near and will get them if he can. It is in their idle moments that they contract the habits that lead them downward, and it is in their leisure that they can make their character what it ought to be; and under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association numbers of young men who would go down into the gutter are not rescued from there, but are kept from there and led onward and upward to become the best members of the community.

"This is not idle praise. Every one who knows of the operation of the Young Men's Christian Association knows the truth of what I say. It is organized on a business basis. The money that is put in is not wasted. The men who conduct the association are engaged in a profession of teaching; a peculiar profession the Secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association have, but it is a real profession. They make the money that they have go as far as it will; they are able to offer to the young men who come into the association aid and comfort without giving them the impression that they are receiving charity from anybody. In other words they take what comes without losing in any regard their self-respect."

The building fund was started last year while the President was in Beverly. He made the first contribution, which he accompanied with a letter that was one of the documents deposited in the cornerstone to-day.

Representative W. S. Bennet of New York, one of the Republican Gubernatorial possibilities in that State, spent an hour with President Taft this afternoon. Mr. Bennet said he came to Beverly to take up some matters affecting his constituents. He said these matters had been pending some time, and could be delayed no longer.

Henry A. Wise, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, also came to Beverly to-day. He did not know of Mr. Bennet's presence, he said, until he got here. They went out to the President's house together, and while there they discussed the New York situation. Mr. Bennet had nothing to say regarding his "boom." Mr. Wise was quite as uncommunicative as to his mission. It was said that the Sugar Trust prosecution was mentioned.

There is little likelihood that President Taft can again be drawn into the New York State fight. He tried to bring about harmony, and still hopes for it. He regards the primary question as one of easy adjustment. Mr. Taft also believes that the State leaders, including Col. Theodore Roosevelt, are entirely competent to handle the situation. He does not regard it as the duty or within the province of the Chief Executive of the people to mix in State political fights. To direct the affairs of the party in forty-six different commonwealths, he feels, would leave little time for him to look after the affairs of the people as a whole.

Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, formerly Controller of the Currency, also saw President Taft this afternoon. Secretary Norton late to-day returned from St. James, L. I.

A. F. HUTCHESON WEDS AGAIN.

Wealthy Fruit Importer Surprises Children—Man of 80 to Wed Stepdaughter

It was learned with surprise last night that Aubrey F. Hutcheson, a wealthy fruit importer, with an office at 78 Wall Street and a handsome home at Hempstead, L. I., had gone on a vacation and got married without notifying his family. Mr. Hutcheson is 64 years old, and his bride, who is Miss Louise Peterson of Interlaken, N. Y., is 35.

Mr. Hutcheson has been a widower for fifteen years and has seven grown children. They are all married with the exception of his daughter Violet, an unusually attractive girl of 20, who is prominent socially in Hempstead and Brooklyn. Mr. Hutcheson left the latter part of last week, saying he was going on a vacation for a few weeks. To-day the announcement of his wedding was received by his family. Mr. Hutcheson met his wife about two years ago.

Unwilling to live longer in a state of single blessedness, James H. Jenkins, of 116 Monroe Street, Brooklyn, soon will marry his third wife. Jenkins is 80 years old, and his bride will be Mrs. Elizabeth Walters, his stepdaughter, whose age is scarcely 40 years.

For nearly three years Mrs. Walter has been a widow. While Mrs. Jenkins No. 2 died last spring. Emil Walter, first husband of the bride-to-be was employed on a New York newspaper. In 1908 Walter was troubled with a corn. He neglected visiting a chiropodist, but a friend, at his request, treated it with a razor. About ten days later Walter died of blood poisoning.

Since he has been a widower Mr. Jenkins has been boarding at the home of Mrs. Walter.

In the neighborhood, Jenkins, who wears a long flowing white beard, was known to all the children as "Pa."

He is a veteran of the civil war, and an inspector of sewers, employed by the city. He is the owner of three or four houses and is wealthy otherwise.

After the death of Mrs. Walter's father, Jenkins married her mother, and soon after the mother also died. Jenkins then married a second wife, and now that she is dead, he has obtained a license to marry his stepdaughter.

KILLED BY RUNAWAY AUTO.

Alwine Goodrich Dead at Munich—Mrs. A. E. Buckingham Injured.

MUNICH, Aug. 31.—Alwine Goodrich was killed and Mrs. Aurelius E. Buckingham of San Francisco was severely injured in an automobile accident as they were leaving the Prins Regenten Theatre last night.

The driver had lost control of the car as it approached the main entrance to the playhouse, and, swerving suddenly, it plunged into the crowd on the sidewalk.

At first it was reported that Mrs. Buckingham, who before her marriage was Rose A. Luchsinger, had been killed. To-night her condition is greatly improved and she is believed to be out of danger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Mrs. Buckingham is the sister of George P. Luchsinger, President of the Humboldt Savings Bank here.

She is the mother of three children.

OUR POROUS PLASTER PLEA.

Germany Consents to Reduce Duty on the American Product.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The porous plaster question, which has been the subject of exchanges between the American and German Governments, has been settled in such a manner as to be satisfactory to the exporters of porous plasters from the United States.

In the course of the tariff negotiations between the United States and Germany last Winter the State Department brought to the attention of the German Government the unfavorable tariff treatment to which porous plasters manufactured by American firms were subjected in the German Empire. They were passed as "secret remedies" and required to pay a duty more than ten times as great as the State Department suggested they should pay if properly classified.

The department has just received advices that by order of the Imperial Treasury Department the classification of this product has been changed in accordance with the desire of the United States Government.

AUSTRALIAN LABORITE FINED.

Perth Assemblyman Sentenced for Abetting Street Railway Strike.

PERTH, Western Australia, Aug. 31.—Labor unions are excited over the sentence imposed upon Assemblyman W. D. Johnson, who was fined $250 as the alternative for serving two months' imprisonment at hard labor for abetting the strike of street railway men, of whose union he is the secretary.

Johnson was convicted under the recently adopted Conciliation and Arbitration act of the Legislature, which renders employes and employers who instigate or support a strike or lockout liable to a year's imprisonment.

OBJECT TO YONKERS HOSPITAL

Residents to Call Hughes's Attention to Unsanitary Conditions There.

The North End Improvement Association of Yonkers has voted to bring to the attention of Gov. Hughes the alleged unsanitary condition of the building at the City Hospital for contagious diseases. The association asserts that the hospital is such as to be a menace to health rather than a benefit.

Fielding Gower, the President of the association, said to-day that the local authorities have done nothing to alleviate conditions. An effort, he said, was made to have an appropriation included in the budget for the current year to improve the building, but the Common Council declined to sanction the scheme.

COMPANIES SUE UNION MEN.

Coal Concerns Charge 84 with Preaching Sedition and Causing Strike.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Aug. 31.—Seven coal companies operating in the Irwin and Westmoreland fields, where a strike has lasted since last March, brought a suit in trespass to-day in the County Courts against Francis Feehan, President of the local branch of the United Mine Workers of America, and seventy-four officers and members, charging conspiracy in preaching sedition against the laws of the Station and Nation and with distributing inflammatory literature.

The coal companies assert that without authority from the National officers Feehan and the other defendants organized the strike in the district of the plaintiff's operations to advance his power in the National organization. It is also asserted that more than 10,000 men were thrown out of work, and that the plaintiff companies suffered damages of $1,000,000.

Suits have been filed against others in Westmoreland, making the total number of defendants eighty-four. A capias is asked for each, and arrests are expected to be made to-morrow.

The companies bringing the suit are the Westmoreland Coal, Manor Gas Coal, Keystone Coal and Coke, Latrobe-Connellsville Coal and Coke, Pennsylvania Gas Coal, Jamison Coal and Coke, and the Ocean Coal Companies.

WIFE SUES WILLIAM FULLER.

Daughter of G. B. Sheldon Files Divorce Papers at Reno.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Mary S. Fuller, who has for six months been residing in this city, to-day filed a suit for divorce against William Fuller of New York.

Mrs. Fuller is the daughter of George B. Sheldon, Treasurer of the Republican National Committee. She is residing in the home of George Graham Rice, and is accompanied by another New York woman.

The complaint filed by Mrs. Fuller is sealed, and she refuses to talk about it, as do her attorneys, but it is believed that her husband will answer, and that the case will come up for trial in a short time.

Mrs. Fuller has lived quietly here, and has made few acquaintances.

Money to Sons He Disinherited.

MINEOLA, L. I., Aug. 31.—The second will of Lewis Kremp of Plainview, L. I., near Hicksville, who died on July 30 last, was filed in the Surrogate's office here for probate this morning. A former will, dated Jan. 14, 1901, left everything to his wife, and in it stated he purposely excluded his sons, Henry August and Anton Charles. In the will filed this morning date June 5, 1908, William Kremp receives $100 and the remainder goes to Henry A. and Charles A. equally. The estate amounts to $10,000.

Shot Hits Italian Premier's Car.

ROME, Aug. 31.—The Corriere d'Italia says that a shot was fired to-day at an express train on board of which Premier Luzzatti was a passenger. The bullet broke a window of the car in which he was riding. The police do not believe that an attempt was made to assassinate Signor Luzzatti, but that the shot was fired by some careless huntsman from the forest near the railroad tracks.

JAIL GUARDSMAN FOR ALIMONY

Capt. Herbert Weir Says He Isn't in Contempt, as He Can't Pay $15 Weekly

Capt. Herbert Weir, Commandant of the Second Signal Corps, N. Y. N. G., is now a prisoner in the Raymond Street Jail, Brooklyn, for contempt of court in failing to pay his wife $15 a week alimony. He was arrested at the Signal Corps Armory, Dean Street, near Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, on Monday night, by Sheriff Quinn's men. In the meanwhile nothing had been done, as far as Capt. Weir knew yesterday, to get him out of jail.

Weir said yesterday that he did not pay his wife the $15 ordered by the court because he could not afford to do so.

"I have not defied the court's order. I have been willing all along to pay Mrs. Weir what I could, but it was absolutely impossible for me to pay what the Judge ordered."

Mrs. Lillian W. Weir obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband on July 22 last, and received the custody of her two children, Frank D. Weir, 8 years old, and Kenneth H. Weir, 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir separated last October. She continued to live at 418 Sumner Avenue, while her husband took up his residence with his mother at 21 Macon Street.

In papers sent to Gov. Hughes by her counsel, Mrs. Weir has charged her husband with conduct unbecoming an officer, and asked the Governor to take action, as Weir is an officer of the State militia.

EDITOR FOUND DROWNED.

John H. Bangs of New Rochelle May Have Fallen from a Sound Steamer.

The body of John H. Bangs, part owner of The White Plains Daily Record and Westchester County correspondent for several newspapers in this city, was found in Long Island Sound, near Plum Island, on Monday night. There were no marks of violence on the body, and a watch and $2.40 in cash were found in the pockets. The police believe he accidentally fell from a steamboat while passing through Long Island Sound from this city to Boston on Friday night.

Mr. Bangs had been in poor health for several weeks, and began a two weeks' vacation last Thursday. He went to Atlantic City, but telephoned from there to his partner, William C. Pells on Friday that he was going to Boston to visit Charles E. Perkins, his father-in-law. He is supposed to have taken the Metropolitan Line boat at 8 o'clock that night. The watch which was found on the body had stopped at 1:25.

Bangs's partner and relatives yesterday refused to discuss the accident, but denied a rumor that he had been murdered and robbed. When he left home, they said, he took only a small amount of money. He leaves a wife and two children, one of whom was born two weeks ago. He is also survived by a mother, a sister, and a brother. His home was at 31 Colonial Place, New Rochelle.

Talks on Teeth

Superior Dentistry

Do you know why we are constantly receiving letters of appreciation similar to the one published below?

For this reason:

We are a big enough concern to do all of the work pertaining to the restoring of teeth in our own offices. None of it is turned over to some public laboratory to be made up—hit or miss.

The average dentist does not have the equipment to do his own laboratory work. He sends this most important part of the process out to be done at long range by a public laboratory.

In our office your case is in the hands of a specialist who follows it through, step by step, until it is ready to be put in your mouth.

The work is individual—made for the person who is to wear the teeth, and nature's teeth are copied so closely as to deceive anyone.

Each little characteristic of the natural teeth is kept in mind, so that the new teeth will make no undesired change in the looks or speech of the wearer.

Read the following letter from Mrs. Harriet Chapman, of Astoria, L. I.:—

G. Gordon Martin, (Inc.)
New York City.
Dear Sirs:—
The teeth you made for me are giving me splendid satisfaction in every way. I had used the common teeth on plates for 10 years and I am thankful to get rid of them. I consider your method of construction the best that has ever been introduced, and I am very much pleased with them. You have my permission to publish this letter to spread the good news and I am willing to show them to any woman that wishes to see them if they have a letter from you.
Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) Harriet Chapman,
61 Temple St.,
Astoria, L. I.

Briefly, the Martinolar Method is this: If you have two or more teeth in either jaw, we will supply all that have been lost, and they will be as beautiful and as serviceable as your natural teeth were, or should have been, at their very best.

They will be firm and tight. We tighten loose teeth and cure sore gums. We use no surgery, don't bore or cut into the gums, cause you no pain or discomfort while the work is being done.

We invite you to call at our office for a free consultation and examination of your mouth and let us explain what we can do for you.

If you cannot call at once, send for our book, "Martinolar Dentistry."

It is sent free on request.

The reading of this book has brought us patients from everywhere.

When Marie Antoinette Was Queen.

WHO that has made a vacation pilgrimage to Versailles and Marie Antoinette's "Little Trianon," but has carried thence a memory of the daintily furnished Sleeping Chamber that was once the Queen's?

This memory may become an actuality, and the pervading sentiment of delicate grace be recalled, by our faithful reproductions of Louis XVI. Bed Room Furniture.

The Twin Beds, with their cane-work panels and carven garlands and festoons of flowers, the Chaise-Longue, with its downy cushions, the dainty Lamp Table, and the Chairs, dowered with twin virtues of elegance and comfort,—each separate piece has the compelling charm of romantic association and of admirable craftsmanship.

Value of stakes to first horse, $25,360; to second horse, $3,250; to third horse, $1,750. J. R. Keene, breeder of Novelty and Love Not, receives $1,250.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 31.—Samuel C. Hildreth's Novelty stamped himself the best colt of the year to-day, when he won the Futurity of the Coney Island Jockey Club, which was run for the first time in its history over the course of the Saratoga Racing Association. The race was worth $31,610 gross, and of this amount $25,360 goes to Hildreth. Bashti, the filly for which H. P. Whitney paid the Newcastle Stable $30,000 recently, was second, earning $3,250, and Love Not, recently purchased from James R. Keene by E. R. Bradley, earned $1,750 when she finished third. James R. Keene, who bred both Novelty and Love Not, under the conditions earned $1,250 as his share of the rich prize.

Never in the history of racing in Saratoga has there been such a crowd on the picturesque old course as that which cheered Novelty to victory. It was a crowd of enthusiasts, and as the field swept through the stretch there was mighty cheering that continued until the last horse had passed the winning post. On the return of the sturdy little champion to the scales he received another ovation, and it is doubtful if there ever was a winner of the most coveted of the two-year-old races who was more heartily acclaimed after he had won. It was a race worthy of the best traditions of the Futurity, and was won by a colt, who, by his previous excellent races, had made himself the most popular horse that raced during the long Saratoga meeting.

Madden Gets Half of Novelty's Share.

While the Futurity has been a much richer stake in more prosperous days of racing, it has lost none of its value to the real sportsman, who places a good horse above the purse, and who delights in a struggle for the glory of the conquest. Under the conditions of the sale when Hildreth purchased Novelty from John E. Madden at Belmont Park in the Spring, Madden retained a half interest in the Futurity winnings. All through the racing season here Novelty has steadily worked his way to the top of the two-year-old division, and his defeat of Bashti in the last big stake of the season left none to oppose his title of king of the year. Bashti was beaten, but not disgraced, for she was the victim of a bit of hard luck right at the start, and to race into second place she easily demonstrated that she is the best filly of the year, and a worthy American representative to try for the English Oaks next season, the race that induced H. P. Whitney to pay $30,000 for her in the sales ring.

Twelve horses went to the post, and opinion was pretty evenly divided between Bashti and Novelty, who had for a running mate Zeus, a recent purchase of Hildreth. Several of the others were fancied, but they were all at much longer prices, and Iron Mask, the starter under the white and blue spots of James R. Keene, was at a long price.

Love Not Runs Away.

While on the way to the post Love Not broke away from Jockey Reid, and before she could be pulled up she had run off for a half mile. This caused a delay, and it was twelve minutes before Starter Cassidy had an alignment to his liking. Rockville, the John Sanford starter, was first to show out of the bunch, with Blackfoot bearing the silks of F. R. Hitchcock, second, and Novelty third. Love Not was in close attendance, and Reid rushed her through on the rail, and at the end of the first furlong she was the one to show the way. Shilling had Novelty in second place, and the others were in a close bunch. Zeus, the stable mate to Novelty, was last to leave the barrier, and Naushon was next to last, while Bashti had been bumped right after the start by Rockville, and she was knocked back badly.

Love Not continued to set the pace until well into the stetch, but Shilling had not called on Novelty, and easily held to second position. Nearing the furlong pole he shook his whip at the son of Kingston and Curiosity, and he came on cheerfully and quickly ran by Love Not, going into a lead of something more than a length. From there to the finish Shilling rode him smartly to make the victory certain, and at the end he had a winning margin of a length. Bashti, after her bad luck at the start, came with a determined rush at the end, and she easily disposed of Love Not for the place, while the others were strung out, with Bouncer last.

Novelty to Rest Until Next Year.

Before coming to Saratoga Novelty demonstrated on various occasions that he was a high-class colt, but it was not considered that he had a chance in the Futurity until he had proved his class by his victories in the Saratoga and Hopeful Stakes. He is easily the largest money winning two-year-old of the season. Hildreth announced after the Futurity that he would retire the colt for the year.

The Futurity, of course, was the big race of the day, though there was plenty of interest in the other numbers. Unfortunately the steeplechase resulted in a walkover, the first of the season, when Hylda, Liberty Lass, and Jesuit all scratched away from Thomas Hitchcock's Stoure. He was ridden to the post by Jockey Lynch, and was not required to go over the course.

August Belmont's Priscillan was the winner of a seven-furlong dash for selling platers, and Hampton Court won the third race easily for Hildreth.

Ocean Bound hung out a new track record, when she won the mile handicap very easily in 1:37 2-5, and at the end of the programme Belfast was winner over a big field of maidens for H. B. Duryea.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—Selling, for three-year-olds and upward; $400 added; seven furlongs. Priscillian, 110, (Dugan,) 1 to 3, 1 to 8, and out, won; Van Den, 109, (Keogh,) 10 to 1, 8 to 5, and 2 to 5, second; Black Mate, 110, (Garner,) 11 to 2, 7 to 10, and 1 to 4, third. Time—1:24 2-5. Danfield and The Peer finished as named.

SECOND RACE.—Handicap steeplechase, for three-year-olds and upward; $500 added; about two miles. Stoure, with Lynch up, had a walkover.

THIRD RACE.—Selling, for three-year-olds and upward; $400 added; one mile. Hampton Court, 108, (Shilling,) 7 to 10, 1 to 3, and out, won; Layminster, 88, (Davies,) 9 to 1, 13 to 5, and 6 to 5, second; Wander, 104, (Keogh,) 10 to 1, 3 to 1, and 8 to 5, third. Time—1:38 2-5. Rockville, Footprint, Textile, Iron Mask, Zeus, Naushon, Blackfoot, Touch Me, and Bouncer finished as named.

FIFTH RACE.—Handicap, for all ages, $600 added; one mile. Ocean Bound, 119, (Thomas,) 3 to 1, 6 to 5, and 3 to 5, won; Martinez, 118, (Musgrave,) 9 to 2, 2 to 1, and even, second; Nimbus, 109, (Koerner,) 12 to 1, 3 to 1, and 5 to 2, third. Time—1 37 2-5. Herkimer, Prince Gal, Dreamer, Helmet, Uncas Chief, Cohort, Shannon, Sea Cliff, and Sand Hill also ran. Nimbus and Prince Gal coupled. Woodcraft and Firestone coupled.

SIXTH RACE.—Selling, for maiden two-year-olds, $400 added; five and a half furlongs. Belfast, 94, (Davis,) 5 to 1, 2 to 1, and even, won; Huetamo, 101, (Glass,) 10 to 1, 4 to 1, and 2 to 1, second; Virginie, 99, (Thomas,) 15 to 1, 6 to 1, and 3 to 1, third. Time—1:07 2-5. Footfall, Gold Cap, Patrick S., Double Five, Mindinette, Fred Keene, Billy Barnes, Old Boy, and Beatrice finished as named.

TRYING OUT NEW POLO RULES

Wanderers Beat Point Judith in Test Game at Narragansett.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 31.—On the grounds of the Point Judith Polo Club the first game of a series of matches to test the American-English polo rules was played to-day for the trophy, an Anglo-American cup.

There was a large attendance. The Wanderers and Point Judiths were the rival fours, and after a six-period match of six minutes each the Wanderers won by a score of 10 to 6.

Francis O. Grenfell and Lord Rocksavage of England played with the Point Judiths, and their fine riding and well-directed drives were the features of the match. Harry Rich took the place of F. A. Gill on the Wanderers four, and proved to be a lively goal maker. He made four goals for his team.

According to the conditions of these matches when offside, No. 1 may hit the ball, but he may not interfere with the back. The summary:

WANDERERS.	H'cap.	POINT JUDITH.	H'cap.
J. C. Rathbone	0	J. B. Thomas	5
H. W. Harrison	4	F. O. Grenfell	7
Harry Rich	8	Earl of Rocksavage	7
Alexander Brown	4	P. S. P. Randolph	0

Wanderers—Earned goals, 7; allowed by handicap, 3. Total—10. Point Judith—Earned goals, 6. Total—6. Referee—Mr. H. H. Holmes.

ON THE TENNIS COURTS.

Miss Adelaide Browning and the former National champion, Miss Elizabeth H. Moore, won their places in the final round of the challenge cup singles yesterday on the lawn tennis courts of the Nyack Country Club. Both of the women experts displayed lively and aggressive tennis. Miss Browning in her semi-final disposed of Miss Gordon Hamilton of the Englewood Field Club, 6—2, 6—2, while Miss Moore defeated the Hudson River champion, Miss Elizabeth C. Bunce, 7—5, 6—2.

Miss Louise E. Hammond, the holder of the singles cup, appeared in the doubles, paired with Mrs. William H. Pouch. Her playing was remarkably strong, and the two defeated Mrs. Call and Miss Hamilton, 6—1, 7—5.

Henry J. Mollenhauer, a former holder of the men's cup, won his place in the final of that event in easy fashion. His stroking of the ball was severe at all times and he defeated Roland R. Lamb, 6—2, 6—4. The summary:

Nyack Cup Women's Singles.—Semi-Final Round—Miss Adelaide Browning defeated Miss Gordon Hamilton, 6—2, 6—2; Miss Elizabeth H. Moore defeated Miss Elizabeth C. Bunce, 7—5, 6—2.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Louise E. Hammond defeated Mrs. Call and Miss Gordon Hamilton, 6—1, 7—5; Miss Edna Wildey and Miss Adelaide Browning defeated Mrs. J. Weeks and Miss Gresser, 6—4, 6—1.

Men's Cup Singles.—Second Round—Dr. William Rosenbaum defeated J. A. Eaton, 6—1, 7—5.

Third Round.—Dr. William Rosenbaum defeated H. S. Cullman, 6—4, 6—2; W. Blache defeated W. H. Baldwin, 4—6, 6—0, 6—3; H. J. Mollenhauer defeated G. C. Peck, 6—1, 6—2.

Semi-Final Round—Henry J. Mollenhauer defeated Roland B. Lamb, 6—2, 6—4.

Harry S. Roberts and E. W. Cameron won their places in the semi-final round of the cup singles on the courts of the Marine and Field Club yesterday. Each came through the second round by a default, and in addition E. W. Warden defeated E. C. Potter by default and W. H. Woods defeated H. P. Banks by default. In the third round E. W. Cameron defeated E. W. Warden, 7—5, 6—4, in a fast driving match, while Harry Roberts defeated W. H. Woods, 6—love and 6—2.

Dr. J. F. Sammis and T. Levi won their places in the final round of the men's singles yesterday on the courts of the Riverside Club. To the surprise of the gallery Dr. Sammis disposed of the former Columbia University expert, Louis J. Dreyfus, 6—4, love—6, and 6—2. Levi also scored something of an upset by defeating Ralph L. Baggs of the West Side Club, 6—2, 6—1.

In the mixed doubles Miss Margaret Groves, the Southern champion, and her partner, Harry Steinkamp, reached the final round. In their semi-final the pair defeated Miss Jane Rawson and Allan Read, 6—1, 6—1. The schoolgirl, Miss Buda Stephens, and her partner, Arthur Scheffer, won a place in the semi-final. Theirs was a long deuce and vantage battle before they outmanoeuvred Miss Edith Howe and F. Sheldon, 1—6, 8—6, 7—5. The summary:

Riverside Cup Men's Singles.—Semi-Final Round—T. Levi defeated Ralph L. Baggs, 6—2, 6—1; Dr. J. F. Sammis defeated Louis J. Dreyfus, 6—4, 0—6, 6—2.

Mixed Doubles.—Second Round—Miss Baggs and M. Holbrook defeated Miss Humphries and A. J. Ostendorf, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Buda Stephens and Arthur Scheffer defeated Miss Edith Howe and F. Sheldon, 1—6, 8—6, 7—5; Miss Margaret Groves and Harry Steinkamp defeated Mrs. Paul Foerster and Paul Foerster, 6—0, 6—1.

Semi-Final Round—Miss Margaret Groves and Harry Steinkamp defeated Miss Jane Rawson and Allan Read, 6—1, 6—1.

Semi-Finals at Bar Harbor.

Special to The New York Times.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 31.—To-day's semi-finals of the ladies doubles championship tournament left Miss Elizabeth Porter of Philadelphia and Miss Catherine Auchincloss of New York to meet the Misses Pauline and Suzette Davis of Boston in the finals. Miss Porter and Miss Auchincloss have defeated the favorite players in the tournament with cheerful regularity thus far, and won to-day's semifinals from Miss Tiffany and Miss Catherine Porter of Philadelphia, 6—4, 6—0, 7—5, every game being hard fought. In the other semifinal match the Misses Davids defeated Miss Madeline Force and Miss Ethel De Koven of New York, 6—4, 6—2.

Newport Tennis Reaches Finals.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31.—The semi-final round of the ladies' handicap doubles lawn tennis tournament at the Casino for trophies given by Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer was played to-day, and as a result Miss Coster and Miss Louise Scott will meet Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., and Miss Anna Sands in the finals to-morrow. Miss Coster and Miss Scott defeated Mrs. R. Livingston Beekman and Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth, 6—3, 6—3. Mrs. Spencer and Miss Sands defeated Mrs. William G. Lowe and Mrs. Eugene S. Reynal, 6—3, 4—6, 7—5.

Tennis Victors at Narragansett.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 31.—The Point Judith tennis tournament was concluded to-day. The summary:

Men's Singles, Consolation.—Finals—C. O. Cole beat S. Wainwright, 6—4, 8—6, 5—7, 6—4.

Brighton Beach A. C.'s Swims.

The Brighton Beach Athletic Club will hold its regular semi-monthly swimming races to-night in the swimming pool of Steeplechase Park, Coney Island. The feature event will be the 70-yard scratch race, in which all the local short distance crack swimmers have entered. There is also on the card a 140-yard handicap and a diving contest, both of which events have filled well. The canoe tilting contest, which was not finished at the last meet two weeks ago on account of an accident, will also be finished at to-night's meet. The events will start promptly at 9 o'clock on account of the long programme. W. L. Jones of the Timers' Club will act as referee.

Hueston Takes Pool Match Easily.

Thomas Hueston, who is practicing at John Doyle's Forty-second Street Billiard Academy for his coming contest with Jerome Keogh for the pool championship, easily defeated Harry Goldman last night by the score of 125 to 69. This evening Hueston will play John Monahan.

Auto Dinner for E. H. Broadwell.

A testimonial dinner will be tendered E. H. Broadwell to-morrow night at Churchill's, Forty-ninth Street and Broadway, on the occasion of his severing his connection with the auto trade in this city. C. F. Wyckoff will preside, and speeches will be made by Senator Slater, E. R. Hollender, A. G. Bachelder, Al. Reeves, and L. D. Rockwell. Covers will be laid for 125.

COLORADO E. MAKES TROTTING RECORDS

Denver Horse Driven Two Heats of a Mile Each at Readville in 2:06½ and 2:07¾.

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 31.—Colorado E., the bay stallion owned by George E. Estabrook of Denver, Col., smashed the world's record for three-year-old trotters to-day at the Grand Circuit meeting here by lowering the time of 2:06¾ made by General Watts at Lexington, Ky., in 1907, to 2:06½, and by winning the second heat of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity in 2:07¾ he also made a new world's record for two consecutive heats. It was a most remarkable achievement, as the wind was blowing almost a gale in the face of the horses on the home stretch.

Colorado E. reached the quarter in 32 seconds, the half in 1:03¼, and the three-quarters in 1:33¼. Undaunted by the strong wind on the last quarter, the great colt swept to the wire ten lengths ahead in 2:06½. Colorado E. led all the way in the second heat, making the time of 2:07¾.

William G. Bradley of New York to-day raised a previous offer of $50,000 for the three-year-old to $75,000, but Mr. Estabrook would not sell if Colorado E. was to be driven by any other man in a race except Macey, and Mr. Bradley refused to accept those conditions.

In the pacing division of the Futurity the winner was Directum Regent, owned by A. Jameson, Somerville, Mass. Bervaldo, the New York trotter, had easy work taking the 2:12 trot. Asa Wilkes captured the 2:08 pace, finishing on the bit. Summaries:

Robert's Own Wins on Speedway.

Robert's Own, owned and driven by Edward Rosenberg of Brooklyn, won the best of a series of five races, half a mile each, held yesterday on Ocean Parkway by the Pleasure Drivers' Association of Parkville. It was an open event for pacers, and Robert's Own finished the first heat in 1:08¼, with Quarterstake second and Black Patchen third, The Judge fourth, and Ben Painter fifth. The second and last heat was the same as the first, with the exception of the winner's time, which was 1:07½.

Race No. 3, the only one in which three heats were needed, was won by MacFranklyn, driven by Mrs. M. Gerau. She was second in the first heat, but won the last two. The time was 1:16½.

Jotah, driven by Miss Dearie McKeever, tried to beat the time of 1:02¼, but after going two heats was unable to do better than 1:03¾. The only trotting race that was held was run between The Count, driven by Henry Smith, and Charles Brandon, owned and driven by Mr. B. Meyers, the Count winning both heats. Times for heats, 1:15 and 1:10 respectively.

M. C. Aronson, driving Haylie Bird, went alone against the 1:06 mark, and beat that time by 2¼ seconds, making the half mile in 1:04¾.

Uhlan to Race for New Record.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 31.—Uhlan, 1:58¾, the fastest trotter on the American track, will go against his record at Charter Oak Park next Monday at the opening of the Grand Circuit races. Arrangements were made for this event to-day.

RIFLEMEN AT SEA GIRT.

New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania Shooters Ready for Tourney.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 31.—The flower of the military rifle and revolver shots of the country, with many civilian target experts, are sleeping on their arms, under canvas, here to-night. All the competitors retired early, so as to be in the best possible condition for the opening to-morrow morning of the twentieth annual Sea Girt shooting tournament, which lasts for ten days.

Not only the historic matches of the New Jersey State Rifle Association, but those of the New York and Pennsylvania State Associations are included in the programme. The matches of the New York Association were formerly shot annually on the State range at Creedmoor, L. I.

A large proportion of the riflemen now here came direct from the range at Camp Perry, Ohio, where they participated in the National matches and the contests of the National Rifle Association of America during the last three weeks. The remaining entrants are expected early to-morrow.

The executive officer of the meet is Brig. Gen. Bird W. Spencer, Inspector General of Rifle Practice of New Jersey. The principal event will be the Dryden trophy match, open to teams of eight men each from the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Military Academy and Naval Academy, and the National Guard of the States and Territories. The programme for to-morrow includes the Columbia trophy, company team, Class A trophy, and the Keystone long range match.

FIGHTERS IN HARD BOUT.

Jack Nelson Whips Benny Franklin in Sharkey Athletic Club.

Jimmie Howard and "Fighting" Kennedy, who were scheduled to box in the star bout of the Sharkey Athletic Club last night, did not go on, owing to the badly ulcerated jaw of Kennedy, who was advised by the club physician not to attempt to box under the conditions. In their place Battling Jack Nelson and Benny Franklin furnished the closing number. Nelson clearly outfought his opponent after the second round and almost disposed of him in the last, pounding Franklin all over the ring and compelling him to hold on. Franklin had a clear lead in the first two rounds by his clever work, and did all the scoring, but after Nelson, who is a rugged man, got going his strength began to tell on his opponent. Franklin was fairly clever, but could not offset Nelson, who steadily bored in and scored with hard rights and lefts on the body, and soon wore his man down. Franklin went to the floor in the fourth round and had a second fall, for which he took the count of nine, in the following round.

Nelson dominated the bout from here on, and almost put Franklin out in the eighth by three successive blows over the heart, but the latter came back strong in the ninth and fought well. The last round was Nelson's, and Franklin, who was battered all around the ring, landed on the ropes helpless, but managed to last the round.

McFarland Not Going to Australia.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Packey McFarland, lightweight, will not be a member of the party of American pugilists who soon are to go to Australia to battle with the home talent. This much was settled yesterday, when Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, arrived in the city and visited McFarland's home. He did not see Packey, but had a long talk with the fighter's mother, and she decided the matter for her son. Mrs. McFarland told the Australian promoter that she did not want Packey to take the trip, and under no conditions would she consent, as her health had broken under the strain caused by worry over his fights. Mrs. McFarland always has been opposed to Packey fighting, and is anxious for him to quit the ring. When told of the "golden harvest" Packey would reap on the other side and how easy his battles would be Mrs. McFarland's mind was not changed, so the promoter had to give up his quest.

Coster Resumes Training for Fight.

Joe Coster, who sustained a slight injury to an arm last week, has resumed training for his ten-round contest with Young Wagner at the Fairmont A. C. next Tuesday night. Coster is preparing himself at the Lorimer A. C. and has Jack Creely as a sparring partner. Coster, who has been at work for more than a week at the Woodlawn Inn, is a wonderfully improved bantamweight. His famous left-hand jab is working faster than ever before, and he has already been installed the favorite. Wagner has a pair of well-seasoned and clever sparring partners in Maxey Baker and Joe Wagner.

Mountainview Again Victor.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITEFIELD, N. H., Aug. 31.—Mountainview Golf Club defeated Bethlehem Golf Club in a return match on the Bethlehem links to-day. The individual scores were as follows:

Mountainview—Hazen, 0; C. W. Stevens, 1; Chase, 2; Mills, 2; Blanchard, 3; May, 2; Alden, 3; T. Stevens, 0.

Bethlehem—E. H. English, 3; W. Sayre, 2; C. English, 0; Abbey, 1; Waldron, 0; Keiner, 1; Tibbets, 0; R. Sayre, 0. Mountainview, 13; Bethlehem, 7.

STAR ATHLETES LOST TO COLLEGE TEAMS

Harvard Graduated Greatest Number of Point Winners—Penn Strong for 1911.

By HARRY L. HILLMAN.

Some of this year's intercollegiate point winners will be missing from the different colleges next year, as quite a few of the college stars received their diplomas last June.

Beginning with the sprints, "Tex" Ramsdell of Pennsylvania, the winner of the 100-yard title and second in the 220 yards, was graduated this year; but there is a rumor to the effect that he will take a post-graduate course. R. C. Craig of Michigan, second in the "100" and winner of the "220," has another year at the Ann Arbor College. G. W. Minds of Pennsylvania, who finished third in both sprints, and R. Cooke of Princeton, winner of fourth place in the "100," will be back for another year.

The four men who finished in the running in the "440" will return to college, Charles Reidpath of Syracuse, the winner; E. G. McArthur of Cornell, H. Sawyer of Princeton, and D. B. Young of Amherst, second, third, and fourth, respectively, are eligible for another year. G. M. Whitley of Princeton, the winner of the 880 yards, was graduated. Wilton Paull of Pennsylvania, who finished second, it is said, will take a post-graduate course. Charles Hall of Michigan and M. A. Boyle of Pennsylvania, the third and fourth point winners, will not be graduated until 1911.

In the mile P. C. Taylor of Cornell, this year's winner, will be missing, but Paull, N. S. Taber of Brown, and H. Jacques of Harvard will be eligible.

T. S. Berna of Cornell, the two-mile winner, together with D. C. May of Michigan, and F. Wolle of Pennsylvania will be eligible. W. B. Greene of Brown, who was placed fourth, was a 1910 student, and finished his course last June. C. A. Chisholm of Yale, M. Dwight of Princeton, J. P. Long, and J. K. Lewis of Harvard, the point winners in the 120-yard hurdle, have another year. In the low hurdles G. P. Gardiner of Harvard, this year's winner, will be out, as will S. Edwards of Bowdoin, who finished fourth, Chisholm of Yale second, and Dwight of Princeton third, as stated above, will be back.

C. T. Cooney and H. F. Andrus of Yale will both be out of the hammer. G. Speers and D. Simons, the other point winners, still remain. C. C. Little of Harvard and J. W. Lapham of Michigan completed their courses last Spring. C. M. Roberts of Amherst, the winner, and H. W. Ford of Cornell still have another chance. E. R. Palmer of Dartmouth, W. C. Fielding of New York University, and S. C. Lawrence were graduated. J. W. Burdick, the winner, and G. C. Farrier of Pennsylvania are still eligible.

Joe Horner of Michigan, the winner of the shot, has another year. D. W. Waite of Syracuse has two more years. "Ted" Coy of Yale is through, but J. R. Kilpatrick, his team mate, has another year. F. T. Nelson of Yale and J. L. Barr of Harvard will be missing. H. S. Babcock of Columbia and R. A. Gardiner of Yale will be eligible. Harvard is the heaviest loser, ten of this year's point winners being lost. Yale loses 7, Cornell 5, Princeton 5, Dartmouth 3, Michigan 2, Brown 1, and New York University 1. If Ramsdell and Paull return to Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia college will not lose a single point, but if these two athletes decide not to come back Pennsylvania will lose 14 of this year's points.

Besides the athletes who scored at the big meet, the colleges lose quite a few good men. The following athletes were graduated last June:

One hundred, 220, and 440—Sherman of Dartmouth, Baldwin of Amherst, Seymour of Yale, Watson of Harvard, Blass of Cornell, and De Selding of Harvard.

Middle and long distance—Frantz of Princeton, Colbath of Bowdoin, Palmer of Haverford, Baxter of Dartmouth, Leger of Michigan, L. S. and M. Kirgassoff of Yale, Ryley and Warren of Harvard, Young of Cornell, and Dusenberry of Princeton.

Hurdles—Moore of Princeton and Parker of Pennsylvania.

Pole Vault—Dukes of Cornell.

The prospects look good for Pennsylvania next year, but it is hard to figure out last year's feshmen material at this early date. If Ramsdell and Paull return to college it looks like Pennsylvania again next year.

Harry Lewis Here for Fight.

Al Lippe, who piloted Harry Lewis through the latter's recent triumphant tour of Europe, arrived in New York to-day with the Quaker champion. Lewis has been training near Boston, and says he is in fine shape for his ten-round contest with Harry Mansfield at the National Sporting Club on Friday night. "I am going to get Mansfield this time," said Lewis, which means that the Lewis-Mansfield bout will be a hummer.

AT OSAWATOMIE.

Mr. ROOSEVELT made an ingenious use of the occasion in his speech at Osawatomie. Starting in with a few sensible and catholic remarks as to the effect of stormy times upon men of the temperament of JOHN BROWN, and linking his name with that of his great contemporary, LINCOLN, he proceeded to an elaborate parallel between the struggle with slavery and the pending struggle, in which he is himself the declared leader, with special interest and privilege.

It was for him a long speech, and evidently prepared with a good deal of care. Naturally it was not for the most part new. It covered much the same ground he has traversed in his other speeches, but it was more comprehensive than any of them. The tone is that of the leader, of a man defining his programme before the public, defending it, arguing it, assailing his opponents. One reading it gets the same impression already acquired from previous efforts, the impression of a campaigner pleading his cause and pressing his rivals. A striking feature of it is that the cause does not appear to be the cause of the speaker's party, and the rivals pressed are not the Democrats. The campaign is that of Mr. ROOSEVELT against whosoever does not agree with him, and these are Republicans, not Democrats. It presents itself as a personal campaign. No distinct objective is formulated, but the central figure is the orator himself.

There is one novelty in the speech. It is Mr. ROOSEVELT'S pronouncement on the tariff, which we reproduce in full:

> There is a widespread belief among our people that, under the methods of making tariffs which have hitherto obtained, the special interests are too influential. Probably this is true of both the big interests and the little interests. These methods have put a premium on selfishness, and naturally the selfish big interests have gotten more than the selfish small interests. The duty of Congress is to provide a method by which the interest of the whole people shall be all that receives consideration. To this end there must be an expert tariff commission, wholly removed from the possibility of political pressure or of improper business influence. Such a commission can find out the real difference between cost of production, which is mainly the difference of labor cost, here and abroad. As fast as its recommendations are made, I believe in revising one schedule at a time. A general revision of the tariff almost inevitably leads to log-rolling, and the subordination of the general public interest to local and special interests.

On the surface this is very like what Mr. TAFT has said. It differs in one important respect. Mr. ROOSEVELT ignores Mr. TAFT'S tariff board and advocates a commission to be authorized by Congress. That is precisely what the Democrats advocated at the last session, and they were scolded by Mr. TAFT for not voting for an appropriation for his board. The correlation of these facts is significant.

CONDITIONS AT CONEY ISLAND.

The most satisfactory thing about the Coney Island upheaval is the news that Acting Mayor MITCHEL has dispatched to District Attorney ELDER all the information he has gathered on the subject. When conditions have become so flagrantly bad that newspapers cannot publish the facts obtained by investigators, who were specially warned to act only as ordinary visitors, it is absurd to suppose that a mere cleaning up of the evil resorts and the transfer of a police official or two are adequate remedies.

Conditions in certain parts of Coney Island this year have been notoriously bad. Only a few weeks ago a TIMES reporter verified the reports that had come to this office, and wrote a startling statement of what he had observed. Nothing apparently was done by the responsible local police officials. They gave as their excuse the order of Mayor GAYNOR against the use of plain clothes men by the Inspectors and precinct commanders, and declared that they could not obtain the evidence requisite for action with the uniformed force. Yet Acting Mayor MITCHEL has proof that open solicitation went on in the most barefaced way within a few feet of a patrolman on post. The disorderly element had clearly lost all fear of the police. Even if a patrolman has difficulty in securing evidence sufficient for a conviction, the knowledge that he is on the lookout for it would prevent ill-doing within his sight and hearing.

With such a condition of affairs it is time for Acting Mayor MITCHEL and Police Commissioner BAKER to go beyond the usual methods of departmental discipline. The regular reports made each month to Police Headquarters by Inspectors will show if ex-Inspector O'BRIEN knew what a large number of citizens knew well. If he did not know, his competency as a police officer of high rank may be seriously questioned; and if he did know, the District Attorney may well be asked to sift his conduct thoroughly in the light of the criminal law.

THE HOTEL SUICIDE.

The tendency among suicides and would-be suicides to seek the most conspicuous accessible place to die in seems to be growing. This fact supports the theory that a large number of suicides are forced to self-murder by suggestion. It is easier to diagnose the malady than to find a remedy. There are cases of suicide that the world has almost agreed to call justifiable. That point need not be argued. It might be wiser to call them comprehensible, which the cases of deliberate self-murder in public places, such as the well-lighted reception room of a hotel, certainly are not to normal human beings.

The man or woman who has reason for feeling tired of life, whether oppressed by the direst poverty with no hope of relief, afflicted by a painful mortal disease, or both, generally tries to seek death in seclusion. One's own bed seems to be the most desirable place to die in, whether or not the death is premeditated and self-inflicted. But many unfortunates whom desperation has brought to the point of slaughter have no homes and consequently no beds of their own. The seclusion of a cheap lodging is the best they can find, unless they plunge into the river. The bodies of the drowned are generally recovered after many days. Perhaps the thought of this post-mortem horror often acts as a deterrent with persons who have so far done with life that a pauper's funeral and Potter's Field have no terrors for them.

When the discouraged poet, JOHN DAVIDSON, decided that speedy death would be the surest solution of his life's accumulated problems, and the best relief for his family, he simply disappeared. He found a place to die and his body has never been recovered. There is reason to believe that CHURTON COLLINS hoped his body would never be found in the deep ditch where he had breathed his last. The deaths of such men as these cannot be recalled without sorrow. Hopeless, brooding over real or fancied wrongs, ill, victims of nervous exhaustion, they died as men who yearned to drop out of the procession of life and be forgotten.

The morbidity of the public suicide is another matter. To drive to a conspicuous hotel in the gayest part of the evening and take one's life in a public reception room is suggestive of a desire to make one's ending more or less historical. The monument and bridge jumpers are in the same category. So are all the unfortunates who inform the world beforehand that they intend to die in a certain place at a certain time. The inference is pardonable that, though they court death, and generally find it, they also yearn for notoriety, and the conclusion is inevitable that any human being who still values notoriety is not actually tired of life. These might be classed as preventable cases of suicide. But what learned body of physicians can find the germ that inflicts the victims of morbid egoism and prescribe a cure for their malady?

STEAMSHIP THIEVES.

We hear a great deal at this time of year of thefts on shipboard. The floating cities in which people now cross the ocean have served to develop variously many branches of industry, including the thief's. An ocean traveler, especially an inexperienced one, is apt to feel a sense of security aboard ship, which he would not permit himself to feel in a hotel on land. Yet the sneak thief, and even the burglar, (for locked cabins have been broken into,) ply their trade at sea almost as skillfully as on land these days, and frequently manage to escape detection. The crooks (Mr. ROOSEVELT has bestowed dictionary dignity on the word) needed to change their lay on shipboard. Smoking room gambling of the old sort has gone out of fashion. Warning signs are posted, and ingenuous passengers are cautioned not to play for stakes with strangers.

The policing of a big modern steamship ought to be nearly perfect, but thieves live by evading watchmen. In the old days when all the staterooms were near or below the water line, and portholes giving directly on the sea were the only windows, the opportunities of the sneak thief and burglar were limited. They had to work from the corridors, and elude the steward on watch. But now many cabins have large windows opening on promenades, fairly broad avenues on which people are passing through the night. In spite of the electric lights, wakeful passengers who prefer lounging on deck to rest in their berths, and the traditional vigilance of ships' officers, thieves manage to work through these windows. According to the reports their hauls are often heavy.

That a successful thief cannot be hunted down on shipboard, with lists of the names of all on board accessible, with no means of escape until port is reached, seems strange, but it has often been proved true. The robbed passenger may have his suspicions. They are, perhaps, as likely to fall on a fellow passenger as on one of the crew. But he must smother his wrath if he has no clue to give the authorities, and make the best of his loss. On sea as on land it is a wise precaution to deposit valuables in a safe place. Jewelry and money put in the purser's charge will not be stolen. At least, there are no reports yet of the blowing up of a purser's safe by burglars, though we live in an age of progress.

AMERICAN SPIES ABROAD.

While the English are discovering German spies in their cities and the Germans are catching British spies, cameras in hand, near their fortifications, we must not forget that American spies are busy, especially in the Summer, in both those countries and in France and Italy as well. The American spy (who may or may not be an American citizen) has no designs on the peace of the country in which he pursues his calling. His zeal may somewhat diminish its retail trade, but not much. His aim is less to prevent sales of articles dutiable in the United States than, in the language of the profession of espionage, to "spot" them. Obviously, the more sales he can report to the Custom House officers on this side of the ocean the more successful he will consider himself. If he prevented many sales he would soon diminish his own usefulness. But he could not well prevent the purchase of tiaras, brooches, necklaces, and expensive furs, without revealing his identity and thus losing his power to make trouble as a spy.

We have heard something in past years of the workings of the customs' system of espionage on American shoppers in foreign cities. It has even been intimated that the dealers themselves, or their clerks, act in collusion with the Secret Service agents. Combinations of American manufacturers and merchants help sustain the work. This year, however, the system seems to be unusually effective. As the laws of the country should be rigorously enforced the shopping spies ought not to be condemned severely. Few of us, however, would care to number one of them among his friends.

Perhaps the spies do not always give the surest information to the Collector's office about the surreptitious importation of dutiable valuables. People who have a mind to smuggle sometimes take such pride in their cleverness that they write to friends at home beforehand telling what they intend to do, and the friends, in strict confidence, impart the secret information to other friends. Respect for the tariff laws is not general. Their enforcement to the very letter, however, is always to be commended.

AN ADDENDUM.

He is sorry that his itinerary does not include the new States of New Mexico and Arizona, so that he might go down there and tell their people how to make their Constitutions:

> My plea is that the people of the new States should be free so that if at any time they find that something has been put into their Constitutions which they did not know was there, or if they find out that something is working badly which they believed would work well, they shall have the opportunity to easily make any change that is necessary.

One important addendum to this advice he failed to make, probably because his time was just then taken up by other incidentals. But we feel sure that he would say, were his path directed into the new States, that they ought on no account to start a statute book. For this let his easily amended Constitutions serve. Then, certainly, whatever measures the people choose to incorporate therein, or to repeal, cannot be interpreted by courts presided over by Judges with fossilized minds as unconstitutional.

GOOD OYSTERS AND BAD.

The inhabitants of this city will eat at least 100,000,000 oysters before April 30 next. The thin ones, those with a saline taste, are good to eat. Those that have been "floated" into whiteness and fatness may be good or bad. If good, they will be sold by a dealer who displays a license issued by the Health Department, certifying that they have not been floated in streams that bear sewage.

The oysters in New York Harbor have been condemned by the Health authorities. The season has been dry, the streams are low and laden with filth. Chairman EDWARD HATCH, Jr., predicts that oysters fattened in them will be infected. Director PORTER of the State Board of Health is keeping a special watch on the oyster beds. The officials who inspect the inter-State shipments are seizing all packages of floated oysters not tagged with certificates of their purity. But purchasers in this city should satisfy themselves that their dealers are duly licensed.

LAWS OF SEPTEMBER 1.

After to-day youngsters under 18 years may not drive locomotives on the streets and highways of this State. Chauffeurs must be certified as knowing something—a good deal—about the cars they run. Persons caught "joy riding" will be fined $500 or imprisoned two years. Fictitious identification numbers are done away with by the new requirement of yearly registration.

After to-day the courts of last resort for the masses of this city will be rescued from delay and disorder. Women will not be huddled together in the detention pens, young and old, first and hardened offenders. The "bridge" will be abolished, and prisoners brought before the newly created Board of City Magistrates will have a chance to hear and be heard. The greater centralized responsibility lodged in a Chief Magistrate will effect a reform of the calendars and of the keeping of records. The Court of General Sessions will have no further excuse to be eleven months in arrears in its business, denying justice all the time.

After to-day a juster and more humane system of awarding damages to employés for personal injuries incident to their occupations will take effect. We have dealt with this subject at length in previous issues of THE TIMES.

After to-day the irresponsible private bankers of the east side may no longer filch their poor depositors' savings by fraudulent failures. They and the steamship ticket brokers who are custodians of funds intended to reach dependent families in foreign lands must obtain licenses. They must give bonds and provide a safety fund, part of it in cash securities.

After to-day the "oral bookmakers" are outlawed. A person who "makes a book with or without writing" will go to a penitentiary or a county jail if caught and convicted. Trustees or directors of race tracks are personally liable for any gambling that takes place, and the posting of signs of prohibition does not excuse them. This provision, which has been in effect since the law was signed, is strengthened to-day by the application to race tracks of the anti-gambling section of the Penal Code.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Connecticut Faces a Complication.

Puzzling questions as to both legal and moral obligations are raised—and will all have to be settled—as the result of a queer concatenation of almost incredible accidents and negligences that is reported from South Norwalk.

A man there rented one of two like houses, standing side by side, but belonging to different owners, and by mistake moved his goods, his family, and himself into the other. There he lived for ten months, meanwhile promptly paying his rent to the man whose lease he held and nothing to the man whose house he was occupying. During all this time neither landlord had occasion to visit his property. Therefore neither discovered the state of affairs, and the tenant received no hint that anything was wrong. The disclosure came when the owner of the occupied house took another would-be tenant to see it. Thereupon came much astonishment all round and full explanations, quite amicable and nobody charging anybody else with evil intent, but now the man whose property was used says that he wants rent for those ten months, the other owner insists that he has received nothing except what was honestly due him, while the man who hired one house and lived in another swears by this and by that he won't pay for both of them.

So the lawyers are gathering joyfully about this tripartite disagreement, and each of the parties to it is confidently assured that the other two haven't a leg to stand on. Viewing the case from a distance, it would seem that the owner of the unoccupied house has a fair to medium good right to keep the rent money he has received, since he was under no particular obligation to make sure that his might-have-been tenant was getting what he bought. The other owner's claim for rent money is not quite so clear, for, though his property was used, he demanded nothing for it, and it is the custom, and consequently more or less the duty, of landlords who expect to be paid, to make their expectations known. Perhaps his best cause of action would be trespass or breaking and entering, but he could hardly maintain either after so long tolerating the presence of one who, through that toleration, must have gained in some degree the status of a squatter. Now, squatters can be evicted, unless they have been in possession much longer than ten months, but in most cases they avoid the payment of rent.

A Failure of "Science."

A Californian Eddyite who allowed his horse to die in agony from one of the dozen or more interior maladies that in horses are by old-fashioned veterinarians all called "colic," has been arrested on the charge of cruelty to animals. The accusation is reasonable enough, since the man admits that he did nothing for the suffering creature except "treat him mentally," but a conviction is something more than doubtful, for the man also says that he would ask or accept for himself or his children, in case of a like illusion of pain, treatment no better than or different from that which the horse received.

To the objection that the animal was not likely to profit much from having his attention called to "the truth" as to intestinal ructions, the follower of Mrs. EDDY answered quite logically that the horse could understand that sort of verity as well as a little child and be no less benefited by it. That is true as well as logical, and, as such statements have weight with most juries and some judges, there is about as much chance of convicting this man of cruelty to his horse as there is of convicting of murder parents who let their little children die of diphtheria when the denial of its existence will not save them.

It is not well to make charges that lead to acquittal. Perhaps, when bad intention is obviously lacking, the best thing to do is to educate public sentiment as to the gravity of certain kinds of folly and then to apply legal but effective methods of showing that the practitioners of such follies are not deemed good neighbors or desirable associates. That often has a very enlightening effect.

Urbanites Preach Rusticity.

A strangely large majority of the current exhortations to "stick to the farm" or to "go back to the land" are written or spoken by city people who have as little desire as intention to take up agricultural pursuits themselves. An equally large majority of the exhorters, too, were born on farms or in small villages, and the joy with which they got away from them at the first opportunity, and the persistence with which they have since remained away, only seem to increase the enthusiasm with which they praise the delights of farmer life—for other people. Underlying this amusing mystery perhaps is a more or less subconscious impression that urban pleasures and privileges will not cost so much if the demand for them can somehow be lessened.

These heretical remarks are inspired by the reading of a long editorial article in The Rochester Post-Express, lyrically commending certain innocent efforts now making up in Dutchess County to stay the exodus to the city by increasing the "social" attractiveness of the country. The effort particularly praised by our far from rustic neighbor has taken the form of a "field day" at which the lads and lasses, and such of their elders as care to join, can compete in assorted sports and get real well acquainted with each other. That is, of course, an entirely innocent proceeding, but the element of the artificial and forced is somewhat pathetically obvious in it, and the expectation that any change in the movements of population, always purely economic, can thus be effected is sure to be cruelly disappointed.

And why should it be considered a good thing to bring the farming folk into closer and more frequent association with each other than their unassisted impulses dictate? The people who labor to this end forget that among the superiorities of city to country life, not least is the urban privilege of selecting one's friends and associates for some other reason than that they live near by. To be obliged to be on terms of intimacy and familiarity with a man simply because he is a "neighbor" is held an almost intolerable burden by more people than these back-to-the-land preachers seem to realize, and in the country such intimacy and familiarity can be avoided only at the risk of severe and frankly expressed criticism. In the city, on the contrary, the geographical neighbor can safely be ignored if he has no common sympathies or interests, while the mental and spiritual neighbor can be conveniently cultivated.

Of course, there is another side to all this, but it relieves the mind to state for once that there are two sides to the city-and-country controversy.

QUESTIONS OF ROOSEVELT.

Asks If We Are Never Again to Have Tranquillity.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

What would the people say and think of the much-abused and ridiculed William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska if he went about the country saying the things that Theodore Roosevelt of New York has said since his return from Africa?

What do the statesmen of all parties, jurists, teachers, and thoughtful men in general think of Mr. Roosevelt's Denver speech, particularly that portion of it in which he refers to the Supreme Court of the United States?

How can the people of the country be expected to have respect for their Judges and their courts when such men as Theodore Roosevelt refer to them so disrespectfully?

Does Theodore Roosevelt thoroughly understand and appreciate the fact that a court of law is constituted not to make the law but to interpret it? That National laws are made by Congress and State laws by State Legislatures?

What excuse or explanation have the admirers and shouters for Theodore Roosevelt to make for his failure to utter one word of praise for President Taft or his Administration, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Taft's nomination was forced by President Roosevelt and the office-holders of his Administration?

What has Theodore Roosevelt done to aid President Taft since the latter became President?

Was not Secretary Taft one of the most efficient members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet, and is he not generally conceded to be honest, capable, painstaking, and one of the best all-around equipped men that ever filled the office?

And, lastly, isn't it time that the people of this country had a rest? Are we never again to have a period of tranquillity? Is the business of the country ever to have a chance of settling? Can we not in some way compromise with these modern agitators—with Sam Gompers and Debs, with Roosevelt, the apostle of unrest; with Gov. Hughes, to whom life seems so cheerless; with Bryan, and with the whole small fry of Summer orators and country advisors? Cannot some method be devised to let these unhappy gentlemen take a part of the country in which to work out their theories and fill the offices at lucrative salaries and leave us humble, every-day American citizens just a little portion of this beloved land, say New Jersey, New York City, and Coney Island, to dwell therein and end our days in peace?

Dangerous, Opinions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Col. Roosevelt's criticism of the United States Supreme Court is to my mind a step too far and is an utterance from which all level-headed citizens will refrain. The Supreme Court is a body of the most fair-minded and learned individuals of our Nation.

We have heard of many brilliant men, but whom have we ever heard of who possessed such an opinion of his own brilliancy as the man who can travel through a country in four days and teach a nation how that country should be governed? It is these quickly formed opinions that the conservative and constructive citizen fears.

ROGER ROGERS.

New York, Aug. 31, 1910.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

Objects to His Contribution to the Campaign Book.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The publication of a "Campaign Book," with President Taft as chief contributor, raises the question as to the propriety of the President's mingling actively in party politics.

Formerly it was not considered the right course to pursue—an active interest was scrupulously avoided—and although the President might cause his wishes to be known—and exert in a proper and legitimate way his powerful influence—yet that was the extent.

And this relates not only to the President but to the members of the Cabinet as well.

The President has recently taken pains to announce that he is President of all the people. Let him act so then and not go into the business of issuing campaign books.

He should be careful to preserve the dignities of the Presidential office. He is elected for that purpose. The respect and reserve belonging to that office are intrusted to his care and should be more jealously guarded than party politics.

In the boisterous and vociferous Administration of his predecessor decorum and dignity received a severe wrench. It is for the President to see to it that they are restored as far as possible. He should not be an imitator of his predecessor. Let him take somebody else for a model.

Class Legislation Again?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your recently printed announcement of the plan of the retail druggists to attempt to secure legislation in this State making it illegal for physicians to dispense their own remedies to patients does not appear to attract the attention that it merits.

Practically all of the 15,000 or more homeopathic physicians in this country dispense direct to the patient. Thousands more of allopaths and eclectics also dispense from their medicine cases. Undoubtedly 50,000 physicians, in all, in this country dispense altogether, or largely. This great bulk of practice that is carried on without the intervention of the retail druggist has made a sad hole in the incomes of retail druggists everywhere. Therefore the druggists prepare to go to the Legislature to have themselves "enacted" into a more prosperous class.

ANTI-GRAFT.

New York, Aug. 31, 1910.

Salaries and Wages.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is it not a fact that the laborer's day's work buys as much as it ever did, and that the salaried man's day buys less than half as much? If this is so, why should not the tariff be cut to a point where the salaried man's day will buy as much as his more fortunate brother, the laboring man's day? That is, of course, considered on the old basis.

In other words, is it just that the salaried man should pay for all of labor's advances?

FOR DEEPER WATERWAYS.

Association Again Meets to Further the Maine-Florida Project.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 31.—The betterment of waterways throughout the entire country, but mainly those in the eastern part of the United States, was the subject of discussion among more than 1,000 delegates at the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, which opened here to-day amid great enthusiasm. The visitors, who came from all Eastern sections of the country, were greeted by a gayly decorated city, and on every side were reminded that the whole State of Rhode Island was trying to make the four days' meeting memorable.

The purpose of the convention was to pass upon measures that may best bring about the deepening of such waterways and to form plans for a chain of inland waterways stretching from Maine to Florida. The advantage of these canals in the country, it is claimed, would be cheaper freight rates, less loss of life from marine disasters, and benefit to the navy in case of war.

Gov. Pothier welcomed the delegates on behalf of the State. Congressman William S. Greene of Massachusetts, Chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, gave a brief address, and Congressman John H. Small of North Carolina voiced the appreciation of the delegates from the South for the cordial welcome extended to them.

President J. Hampton Moore in his annual address reviewed the work already accomplished, that which is now under way, and the projects toward the fulfillment of which the association is bending its energies. In concluding his address Mr. Moore said that the absence of President Taft from the convention was a great disappointment, but the committee was compensated in a measure by the splendid outpouring of the strong and representative business men of the entire Atlantic Coast. The result of the work of the committees, he said, spoke well for the future and ought to impress both the President and Representatives in Congress respecting the serious and substantial popular sentiment underlying the Eastern waterways movement. Too much has already been achieved to admit of any cessation of activities, and the agitation, he declared, must continue until the substantial results were attained.

WAY CLEAR FOR BANKERS.

MacVeagh Removes Difficulties in Forming Emergency Currency Bodies.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Secretary MacVeagh has made his decision on several questions which the Chicago banks raised as to the interpretation of the law permitting the organization of emergency currency associations. In a letter which the Secretary of the Treasury has written from his Summer home at Dublin, N. H., to James B. Forgan, head of the Chicago Clearing House Committee, the questions have been disposed of in such a manner, it is believed, as will clear the way for the banks of Chicago and of all the other large Western cities to form the emergency currency associations provided for in the Aldrich-Vreeland act of 1908 and strongly recommended to the banks by the Treasury Department now.

Bankers of the Middle West have considered all along that they could see nothing on the financial horizon to suggest an emergency issue of currency, and some maintained that the only excuse for forming them at this time would be to demonstrate the integrity of emergency currency. It is expected that the organization of the associations through the West will be carried forward at once.

ROBERTS TO DIRECT MINT.

His Appointment to Succeed Andrew Will Be Announced Soon.

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 31.—Announcement was made to-day of the appointment of George E. Roberts of Chicago as Director of the Mint to succeed A. Piatt Andrew, who was promoted to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Roberts was Director of the Mint for a number of years under the McKinley and Roosevelt Administrations. In the McKinley-Bryan campaign he made many speeches on the money question.

A couple of years ago Mr. Roberts resigned to become President of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago. The tender of the office of Director of the Mint was made by the President to Mr. Roberts about two weeks ago.

TALKS WITH A SPIRIT.

A Communication That Seemed to be Genuine.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Apropos of your article on Prof. James, I have for years wondered what can be the explanation of the following experience:

I was invited by a couple of Swiss gentlemen to attend at a private residence what I suppose would be called a trumpet-speaking seance. After the leader, on what I presume was the spirit side, had said good evening to every one he gave way to the "spirit" friends, who spoke to first one, then another in the circle, and to my friends in the Swiss language. Presently it came my turn. The single word that came to me was "Beenie," but so faint that I was compelled to ask if it was "Jeenie." The voice answered "No," and with a good deal of added force repeated "Beenie," but again so faint that I asked if it was saying "Deenie." Again the voice, this time with considerable heat and with all the strength it could command, gave "Beenie." By this time the leader, who must have been watching, snatched the trumpet and fairly shouted, "She says Beenie." I thanked him with all my heart for helping out what might be called a delicate situation. I added that I was terribly sorry I could not catch the name, and begged him to convey my thanks and regrets to the— He noted my hesitancy and added, "She is a little girl, and you ought to see the fine big black dog that is with her." And so my chance for that evening passed.

When I got home my wife was all eagerness to hear the result, and I, scarcely knowing what to think of it all, described the foregoing in a rather lightish vein. The moment I spoke the word "Beenie" she gave a scream such as I had never heard from her before, and after a little while explained that the name was that of her sister, who had died from measles at 10 years of age. As the conversation proceeded I suddenly remembered the dog, (another scream,) and later explanation was given that the little girl had such a dog, and that they were inseparable companions.

Illegal Public Contracts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note an article in your issue of Aug. 30 to the effect that the law makes it compulsory for the Fire Department horses in Brooklyn to be taken to union horseshoers and that, as a result, the Fire Department is paying $7 for work which costs private concerns only $4.

There must be some mistake about your facts in this matter, or else a situation exists which will bear investigation. It is well-settled law that any statute, ordinance, contract, or other arrangement on the part of public officers which confines the doing of public work or the granting of public contracts to any one class of citizens is illegal, null, and void. Work done under such a law or contract cannot be recovered for by legal action, and any taxpayer who desires can maintain an action to prevent the payment of public moneys under or by virtue of such law or contract.

No question concerning the merits of labor or trades unions is in any way involved in this case. The right of organization for mutual benefit in all lawful ways is not denied.

The Supply of Capital "I's."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Allow me to congratulate your esteemed paper upon the splendid printing outfit it owns. In one of its latest issues it had two speeches of Mr. Roosevelt on the front page, and from an article about Idaho on the second page I saw that you had still some capital "I's" left. This is little short of miraculous.

CLEVELAND ESTATE PAYS UNUSUAL TAX

Valuation of Outside Property Being Withheld from Appraiser, Top Rate Is Applied.

ONLY CITY HOLDINGS GIVEN

Conjecture Makes the Estate Worth $200,000, but Nobody Knows—Kept Secret at Some Cost.

To the conjectures concerning the value of the estate left by the late Grover Cleveland, there will be no answer in the report which will be filed this morning with the Surrogate by Inheritance Tax Appraiser William Blau of 320 Broadway. His report deals only with the New York property. In the ordinary run of things, the ratio of that part to the entire estate would determine the rate of inheritance tax to be applied to the collateral legacies, but the administration of the Cleveland estate has developed a peculiar situation in that no report has been made to the Appraiser on the amount of the estate beyond this jurisdiction, so that the ratio cannot be calculated and due allowance cannot be made.

"They do not disclose the amount of the estate in New Jersey and elsewhere outside of New York," Mr. Blau said yesterday, "and as a consequence they have to pay the full 5 per cent. tax on collateral legacies."

Mr. Blau said that he had no means of knowing the amount of the entire estate, but from figures that were mentioned in the Appraiser's office, rough calculations were made which led to the belief that it was not more than $200,000.

Affidavits have been made in relation to the New York property. Nearly $30,000 is represented in shares in two corporations, while the amount of money in bank brings the estate here to a sum a little short of $40,000, which, when all fees and expenses have been deducted, will net $32,000 to the estate.

Mr. Cleveland willed $11,000 to his niece and his four grand-nephews, and on such bequests there is an inheritance tax here of 5 per cent.

"I can explain it best by an example," Mr. Blau said. "Take an estate of which there is $10,000 in New York and $100,000 in New Jersey. With a ratio here of one to ten, in levying on the collateral legacies we would take one-tenth of 5 per cent. In the Cleveland estate, no statement has been made of the amount of the entire estate, so that the ratio cannot be calculated. Instead of disclosing the amount, they are paying a full 5 per cent. They must have some reason for doing so, but I don't know what it is."

Alfred Ely of 31 Nassau Street, the lawyer for the Cleveland estate, was out of town yesterday afternoon, so that he could not be questioned on what seemed a little strange at first glance.

The ex-President's will, written with his own hand two years before his death, was probated on July 10, 1908. No inventory was filed with the instrument, and the value of the estate was not mentioned. It has been a subject of the wildest speculation, but conservative estimates did not place a higher figure than $250,000.

There was $51,000 in bequests, $10,000 to each of his four children, $3,000 to his niece, and $2,000 each to the four children of his nephew. The residue of his estate was bequeathed to his wife, Frances F. Cleveland.

LOSES SUIT FOR PEW RENT.

Fourth Ave. Presbyterian Church Sued Van Loan Smith for $90.

Justice Boyhan of the Ninth District Municipal Court has dismissed the suit of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, at 109 East Twenty-second Street, against Van Loan Smith, once one of its supporters and chief pew holders, for $90 which the church said Mr. Smith owed for back pew rent. George E. Franciscus of 165 Broadway, the church's attorney, at once prepared to file suit again.

In its complaint against Mr. Smith the church says that it is a corporation, and that on May 1, 1905, Mr. Smith contracted to take three sittings in a pew at the church for $36 a year. From May, 1905, until the middle of 1909 Mr. Smith paid $72. The church estimated that he still owed $72 on his pew bill for that period and $18 from May to November, 1909.

M. C. Milnor of 229 Broadway, attorney for Mr. Smith, answered that the defendant hadn't any certain knowledge that the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church was a corporation, that the only true thing in the complaint was that Mr. Smith had given a donation of $72 to the church, that he hadn't agreed to pay any set amount for a pew in the church, and that whatever he gave at any time was purely a voluntary contribution. Mr. Milnor said that Mr. Smith left New York City in 1907, anyhow, and that he hadn't used the three sittings in the church at all since that time.

OTHERS VIEW NEW STATION.

The Brooklyn League and Jamaica Folk Taken Through the Tubes.

Brooklyn and Queens citizens had their turn yesterday in looking over the new Pennsylvania terminal. Some 1,000 members of the Brooklyn League found a train waiting for them at 10 o'clock at the Flatbush Avenue Station, and after a ride to Ozone Park, over the Glendale Cutoff, and a peep at other sights in Queens, were rushed through one of the East River tunnels to the Seventh Avenue terminal. The next forty-five minutes after arrival were spent in inspecting the big building.

President Brush, Vice Presidents Omri F. Hibbard and Gilbert Elliott, Treasurer Horatio C. King, and Secretary John F. Geis led the crowd. They got back to the Flatbush Station at 12:30 o'clock.

All Jamaica and Richmond Hill came over in the afternoon. The special left Jamaica at 3 o'clock, and twenty minutes later, or in less time than ever before in their lives, were planked down squarely in the middle of Manhattan. They tried to look blasé, but after a first peep at the great structure walled up along Seventh Avenue for two squares gave it up and praised everything they saw.

Residents of the North Side and the Far Rockaway Divisions of the Long Island Road will see the new terminal to-day, and to-morrow nearly every one else on Long Island will be brought in.

NEW COURTS TO OPEN TO-DAY

Separate Ones for Men and Women Prisoners at Night Now.

Magistrate Appleton will open the Night Court for men in Yorkville to-night, according to the new schedule of Magisterial assignments given out yesterday. Magistrate Barlow will open the women's court in Jefferson Market.

The policemen's room, just left of the entrance to Yorkville Court, was chosen for the Domestic Relations Court a month ago, but yesterday the smaller civil court room was taken, pending alterations in that room. Magistrate Cornell will open this court at 9 A. M. to-day.

Catholic Club's Montreal Delegation.

The Executive Committee has completed the arrangements for the Catholic Club's representation at the Eucharistic Congress, to be held in Montreal from Sept. 7 to 11. The delegation will leave by special train on Thursday evening, Sept. 8. Among the members of the club are ex-Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, John D. Crimmins, Thomas M. Mulry, Herman Ridder, Justices Giegerich, O'Gorman, McCall, Gavegan, Amend, O'Sullivan, Mulqueen; Surrogate Cohalan, ex-Justice Joseph F. Daly, Joseph T. Ryan, Conde B. Pallen, Thomas F. Ryan, Daniel F. Cohalan, Congressman Fornes, William H. Hurst, Raymond F. Almirall, and Dr. John Aspell.

AMATEUR FIREMEN IN LIVELY TOURNEY

Bankers, Brokers, and Professional Men, in Boots and Helmets, Strive for Honors.

HUNTINGTON IS HUMBLED

Many Time Victors Depart Without a Prize—Two Horse-Drawn Vehicles Prove the Day's Sensation.

Special to The New York Times.

SAYVILLE, L. I., Aug. 31.—It was Sayville's day to-day, and West Sayville's night. The volunteer firemen, fire wagons, and fire water—that is, the juice in the chemical engines—came in with the dawn from all Suffolk County, and remained long into the night.

Not before in fifteen years had Sayville entertained the firemen, but when they came—twnty-six gayly drtssed departments and 10,000 people strong—Sayville was ready for them. After the day was over Walter L. Suydam, the "millionaire fireman," said it was the greatest day Suffolk County's firemen had ever known. And he has attended the annual tournaments for twenty years.

All Suffolk County, some barkers that must have come from Coney Island, and every brass band in Long Island seemed to be on the ground. One paid department came, indicating the first symptoms of invasion on the volunteers' last Long Island domain. There were two horse-drawn engines and four chemical engines. All the rest of the twenty-six companies brought their hand-drawn carts that made the volunteer an institution in his day.

Backed by Abe Field, the Huntington fire-fighters came down in gorgeous costumes, beginning at the bottom with white duck trousers and trimmed atop with helmets that were the glory of all beholders. For going on twenty-two years it has been Abe Field's one aim to train his firemen to win tournaments. In other years they have swept the lists, and have their name engraved twice on the Beaux Arts trophy, which is the tournament's grand prize.

Huntington's Sad Departure.

To-night the Huntington men followed their chieftain out of town without a single prize. They were too cast-down for words. The West Sayville contingent escorted them to the city line, its band playing "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," and every volunteer carrying a broom over his shoulder. The broom signified West Sayville's clean sweep. Those that didn't have their best girls along used their arms to carry trophies.

The West Sayville contingent remained in town longer than any of the other visitors. It was nearly midnight when it lit its last victor's bonfire and took up the homeward trail, with twenty pretty broom-holding girls perched atop its hook and ladder cart.

In the morning parade 1,535 uniformed firemen were in line. The committee charged with seeing that they were reviewed properly had found trees interfering on all of the principal streets. As Sayville is prouder of its trees than anything else in town, Supervisor C. M. Rogers simply wouldn't consent to having the trees cut down to make grand stand space.

But the committee surprised him. They found a lane running through Farmer Swayze's cauliflower patch with only one tree on it. The limbs of this tree they bound with wire netting close against the stump, and this morning they were ready to welcome the town's elect and the judges, in a grand stand built right around the hobble skirted foliage.

The parade passed down Swayze lane, was reviewed and later the contestants came back after M. J. Terry of the dinner committee had given them a "fill yourselves and git" luncheon at the Kensington Hotel.

In the afternoon fire companies raced through Swayze Lane and threw streams of water against a board buffer, filled barrels with buckets, and scaled ladders in record-breaking speed. Everybody combined to crush Huntington, the all-star team of the last four years, and what prizes West Sayville didn't carry along on its homeward parade at midnight the Sag Harbor boys took away on a flat car carrying their apparatus at 9:30 o'clock.

Notables A-plenty There.

Politicians were here a-plenty, and heroes of the hour were made who will be swept into office on popular clamor—as in other election and tournament years—wherever they may hit upon something to be a candidate for.

If the little children and larger children of Puerto Rico had seen their American Governor to-day they'd have probably taken him for a reincarnation of some pre-Columbian war chief. Gov. Regis Post marched with his brother, W. Kentzing Post, in the Mayport hand brigade. He wore a flaming red shirt, white duck trousers, patent leather boots, a red-and-black helmet, and a patent leather belt. An elaborately designed white scroll, containing the department's coat of arms, was on his breast.

Ex-Congressman H. A. Reeves marched with the Greenport men, State Senator Orlando Hubbs with Central Islip, and Assemblyman George L. Thompson with Kings Park.

Mayor Gaynor's neighbors were on hand in plain blue service uniforms, lettered to indicate that they were from St. James. They were led by Mel Smith, former State Assemblyman, about whose wounded dog Mayor Gaynor often made inquiries while in St. Mary's Hospital. Mel Smith answered all inquiries about the Mayor by declaring him as fit as ever, and said there'd be a movement on foot soon to make St. James "Gaynorsville" in his honor—the boys were already saying they were from Gaynorsville, in fact, by way of starting the movement along.

One of the young firemen, whose father is F. G. Bourne, President of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, not so long ago handled horses four abreast and drove them tandem, but he was a little out of practice to-day, as he lately has taken to automobiles, of which his father keeps as many now as he formerly kept horses. Young Bourne—his fellow-firemen said his first name was Arthur—caught sight of a rearing horse in the line of parade. There was a squad of firemen in front of it and a serious accident seemed imminent. But young Bourne leaped to the horse's neck, closed his hand over its nostrils, and clung on while it plunged and reared till the reviewing stand had been passed. Then he forced the animal out of the line and into a vacant lot, where he fell, exhausted from his strenuous effort to keep its behavior in bound. He was cheered heartily and made the hero of the afternoon.

The great battle of the day, which centred about Hose Contest No. 2, was really a fight between Abe Field, "millionaire fireman," of Huntington, and W. P. Post, who, incidental to his fireman's career, has written some Harvard tales, a novel or two, and has practiced a little law. He was backing the Bayport team, and the two of them went at it, with a wagonful each of hose, and a common hydrant, to which they had to drive, couple up, squirt out a barrelful of water, uncouple, and drive back to the starting point. A feature of the contest was that each fire company had to drive back in good form, with all its stuff aboard.

Post's team crossed the finish line in 1 minute 15¼ seconds, and Field's company in 1 minute 25 seconds. Post's men, of course, cheered and didn't notice a company from the exclusively Dutch settlement of oystermen known as West Sayville. The Hollanders scored a run in 1 minute 26 seconds and retired from the field.

Crack Teams Disqualified.

But someone had noticed that the crack Huntington men had left a wrench on the ground when they departed from the fire hydrant, and some other equally snooping person had seen that a length of hose dragged on the ground behind the Bayport wagon as it sped back to the finish line. "Disqualified," said the Judges to Huntington, and "disqualified" again to Bayport.

Cornelius De Graff, the portly chief of the oystermen firemen, gathered something of what was coming his way by this time.

"Peter Van Westerbeke," he called, "and Stuffel Jimlet, and Heinrich Van Isseldyke, run you to the store and buy brooms. We sweep them clean."

George Lewis of Huntington, stung by his team's reverses, climbed a ladder and scaled a wall in 6 2-5 seconds, which was faster than anybody else could do it, and he won an Iver Johnson bicycle. That was about all his team took away with it.

The Bellport Juvenile Hook and Ladder Company came to grief in its effort to hold the silver trumpet for the fastest work in getting to the top of the ladder. Last year it won this prize by having its youngest and lightest member upon the topmost rung when the ladder was run up, and the judges found him there when his competitors were just starting away from the bottom. It had counted on doing the same thing again this year, but found a new rule to disbar the trick, and not having practiced the all-the-way-up climb very much, Lindenhurst and Sag Harbor youths outstripped the trumpet holders and took away their trophy.

East Marion, an exclusively cauliflower settlement, whose firemen farm when not attending tournaments, came into its own when showing what its chemical engine could do. Mayor Gaynor's neighbors also had a chemical engine, but it took them ten seconds to get it into action, while the cauliflower farmers started up theirs just twice as quickly.

Gov. Post's Sad Duty.

Gov. Post, who was listed to give out the prizes in Sparrow Park immediately after the contests, had to see the Dutch oystermen throw water from coal scuttles into a barrel standing ten feet away faster than his brother's well-drilled command could do it by 4 1-5 seconds. For that the latter gave them a big silver cup with the name of his brother's company twice engraved upon it on account of previous winnings.

Of the two commands which brought steam engines, the Riverhead crew managed to throw out a stream of water 134 feet 7 inches long, while the Greenport engine was fired up till the stream ran 184 feet. Greenport got a medal and a trumpet.

The 10,000 visitors, most of whom came from the eastern end of Long Island, smashed all local train schedules in getting back home, the long special trains filling the track through the entire evening.

ASBURY CARNIVAL BALL.

Hotels and the Arcade Pier Decorated for the Event—Mardi Gras To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 31.—Carnival week festivities in Asbury Park were continued to-night with the queen's court ball at the Arcade Pier. Titania and her court attendants visited the pavilion and joined the dancers. The Arcade was decorated with bunting and carnival colors, and a thousand dancers in court costumes paid homage to the youthful queen, who began her three days' reign last night.

Early this evening a cavalcade of heralds and trumpeters clattered through the hotel district calling the dancing set, at the queen's command, to the ball. There was a brilliant procession up the Boardwalk to the Arcade.

There was dancing in all the larger hotels, and Titania made the rounds in her royal chariot.

More than 25,000 masquers will participate in Asbury's annual Mardi Gras to-morrow. Special trains from New York, Philadelphia, Trenton, and cities and towns along the route will be run here.

A RAFFLES AT BAR HARBOR?

Police Are Baffled in Detecting Author of the Jewel Robberies.

Special to The New York Times.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 31.—No clues have been found to the jewel robberies, and some think that a Raffles is the author of the thefts. Besides the robbery from Mrs. Monroe Smith's cottage, jewels and valuables have also been taken from the Summer home of Mrs. H. P. Kidder of Borton, near Mrs. Smith's.

The last of the concerts at the Building of Arts takes place Saturday, when Cecil Fanning and the Olive Meade Quartet will appear.

Departures to-day and yesterday from the cottage colony include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waller of New York, who have been at Jacob's Well, and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Rogers of New York, who have had the Hardy cottage. Another departure of to-day was Mrs. Winston Churchill, who has gone to Windsor, Vt. Mr. Churchill left some time ago.

Luncheon givers at the Swimming Club to-day included Clement B. Newbold, Miss Blanchard of North East Harbor, Mr. Hatch, and Francis E. Bond.

Miss Celestine Eustis entertained Tuesday with a large bridge party of twenty-four guests.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans leaves Bar Harbor Thursday for Los Angeles. Admiral Evans has been spending the Summer at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harold I. Sewall, and has been giving most of his time to magazine work. He will be in California about a month on business before returning to Washington and New York.

PITTSBURG CLUBMAN TO WED.

Daughter of ex-Senator Barrett of Indiana to be Bride of G. T. Ladd.

George T. Ladd, a mechanical engineer, living at the Duquesne Club, Pittsburg, obtained in this city yesterday a license to marry Florence Emery Barrett of 2,325 Fairfield Avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind. The marriage will take place to-day.

Miss Barrett is a daughter of former State Senator James M. Barrett of Indiana, and a great-granddaughter of George Ewing, once one of the wealthiest men of that State.

Ladd was divorced last year in Indiana by his first wife, Carolyn Norwood Ladd, for incompatibility of temper. Miss Barrett obtained a divorce two years ago from Frank Worthington, a railroad executive.

CRAIG—POWELL.

WHITEHOUSE, N. J., Aug. 31.—At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Powell at Burnt Mills, near this place, this afternoon their daughter, Miss Dora May Powell, became the wife of Dr. Henry Augustus Craig of Sailors' Snug Harbor, Richmond Borough, New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John T. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Lamington. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Powell, sister of the bride, and the best man William Craig of New York, cousin of the bridegroom. The ushers were the bride's brother, Jay Powell, and the bridegroom's brother, Charles Craig of New Germantown.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Miss Rose Osgood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Whitman Osgood, was married this morning to Lieut. Charles Edgar Brillhart, U. S. N., in the parlors of the Willard Hotel by Chaplain G. L. Bayard of the navy in the presence of a small company of friends and relatives. Lieut. and Mrs. C. T. Hutchins, Jr., were the only attendants. A wedding breakfast followed, after which Lieut. and Mrs. Brillhart left for a motor trip through the Berkshires and the White Mountains.

PARSONS—SWAN.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, N. J., Aug. 31.—At the residence of Dr. Horace V. Vandorn, on Broad Street, this evening Miss Marie Louise Swan, daughter of Frank Swan, and Walter B. Parsons, a real estate broker of New York, were married. The Rev. Robert Mackellar of Trinity Church officiated. Two hundred relatives and friends of the young couple were present. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth B. Vandorn. The best man was Clinton W. M. Cruckershank of New York and the ushers were Walter M. Vandorn and Clinton Cruckershank of New York.

HAMILTON—HARROLD.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—An engagement just announced is that of Miss Edna Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. S. Marland Hamilton, to William Elliott Harrold of Macon, Ga. The wedding will take place on Oct. 16 at Oak Hill, the old estate of the family of the bride-elect in Howard County. Miss Hamilton is a niece of Mrs. Henry Atterbury of New York, whose wedding last Spring also occurred at Oak Hill.

BROWER—BAKEWELL.

Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell of Plainfield, N. J., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Euphemia Bakewell, to Henry N. Brower of Plainfield.

CATCH LOUIS SHERRY IN THE CUSTOMS NET

He Failed to Declare Wearing Apparel Estimated at $350—Others Have to Explain.

HOBBLESKIRTS FROM BOSTON

They Were Just "Freshened" Abroad, Says a Girl Who Finally Pays Duty on Them Just the Same.

Calling at the Custom House to explain is now a regular thing, and after the arrival of every transatlantic steamship at this port one or more passengers have to report to Surveyor Henry and give reasons for failure to declare. There were a number of such cases heard yesterday.

Louis Sherry of 522 Fifth Avenue became involved with the customs authorities upon his arrival on the White Star liner Oceanic. Mr. Sherry brought in five pieces of baggage, and his declaration was that he had nothing dutiable. The examination of the contents of the trunks satisfied the Inspector that Mr. Sherry was bringing in more than the limit admitted free under the law, and he ordered the trunks sent to the Public Stores.

Mr. Sherry at the Custom House later admitted that he had purchased $210 worth on the other side. The remainder of his effects, he said, had been purchased on previous trips. He was unable to recall whether he had paid duty upon them. When questioned as to his failure to declare he replied that he did not know it was necessary to declare articles for personal use. The officials estimated his goods at $350. No decision will be given in his case until after the baggage has been appraised.

Another caller at the Surveyor's office was Miss Josephine Mahoney, who is returning to her home at Jamaica Plains, Mass., after studying music abroad. She arrived Tuesday on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II.

Miss Mahoney declared her foreign purchases amounted to $210, but the customs men differed with her and ordered her trunks sent to the Public Stores. Her effects included two fur coats, a riding habit which she admitted was bought abroad, considerable lingerie, which she said she had forgotten to declare; coats and five hobble skirt gowns.

Miss Mahoney contended that the five gowns were of Boston make. It was pointed out that Boston fashions of a year ago must have been in advance of the Paris styles if they were turning out hobble skirts in Boston. To this she said that the gowns had been "freshened" up abroad. The appraisal of the young woman's effects showed that she had $478 worth of dutiable goods, and she was allowed to pay the duty.

While Robert Hermanny was waiting upon the Hamburg-American Line pier yesterday for an expressman to take charge of his baggage, Timothy Donohue, a customs man, discovered that he had several articles of jewelry upon his person. He was made to surrender a diamond pendant, two coral necklaces, and several small pieces of jewelry. At the Custom House Hermanny explained that he was returning on the Hamburg-American liner Bluecher with the effects of a sister who died abroad. He is a salesman for a Rio Janeiro dental goods firm, of which his father is the head. As the man had sent some of his effects in bond to Brazil the officials considered that no fraud was intended. He was allowed to put his jewels in bond, and they will be surrendered to him after he has sailed from this port.

LONG BRANCH DOLL PARADE.

Marion Asay, Aged 6, Crowned Queen of Fete—10,000 See Festival.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 31.—The children of Long Branch added the finishing touches to the season's festivities this afternoon with a doll parade. Upward of 10,000 witnessed the festival.

Marion Asay, aged 6 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Asay, was crowned Queen of the fête by Mayor McFaddin. The coronation ceremonies were held at Washington Park, where at 2 o'clock the little Queen received her crown and sceptre. Her throne in the bandstand was bedecked with the National colors. Following the inaugural exercises the pageant was formed in three divisions. A platoon of police led the procession. Then followed the boy's fife and drum corps, and Master Allan Burke, wh orode a Shetland pony and acted as marshal.

Of the three divisions the coaches came first. Riding in the first cart was little Ivalou Ferry, aged 7 months. The float division followed the carriages, the youngsters in grotesque dress bringing up the rear. There were nearly 200 participants, and the oldest child in line was under 12 years of age.

All the doll carts were beautifully decorated. The float upon which Queen Marion I. rode was draped in blue and white, and was drawn by Kenneth Pierce, Stanley Joline, Franklin Pierce, and Burroughs Asay. Melinda Farry and Florence Wardell, flower girls, rode with the Queen. Other dmembers of the Queen's court were Evelyn Joline, Myra Brown, Mabel Lawyer, and Doris Youmans.

The prizes were awarded in Washington Park. Seven prizes were awarded in each division in addition to two special prizes.

In the carriage division the awards were as follows: First prize, Board of Trade loving cup; Holly Giffing, carriage decorated with water lilies; Anna Frances West, pink and white; second, Gretchen Gugel, purple and lilac; third, Jeannette Finn, variety of asters; fourth, Elsie May Hyer, white; fifth, Dorothy Kirby, red, white, and blue; sixth, Ellen Simmons, tulips; seventh.

First prize in the float division was won by Mable Wardell, who rode upon a float filled with Teddy bears, representing Roosevelt's return from the jungle. Anna Zilly, with a load of Teddy bears on straw ride, captured second prize. Other winners were Helen Wilkins, Teddy bear hospital, third; Adrian Schultz, Peary at the north pole, foutrh; Emily Arrants, doll's golden float, fifth; Abraham, Frank, and Joseph Rosen, cowboys with prairie wagon, sixth; Charles Van Hise, chrysanthemums.

Four prizes were awarded the girls and three the boys in the masque division, as follows: Girls—Marie Brunkhorst, Cupid, first; Helen Zilly, Japanese girl, second; Hazel Baldwin, trained nurse, third; Edna Colton, nun, fourth. Boys—Leroy Arrants, Tom Thumb, first; Raymond Anderson, "Ole Black Joe," second; Carrol Green, farmer, third.

The special prize for the fattest girl in the parade under seven years, given by Mrs. W. Talbot Burke, was won by Georgiana McLain.

Mrs. O. A. Clark, Mrs. Wilford Earle, and Mrs. Benjamin Coles were the judges.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK HERE

Starts Soon on Long Concert Tour—Loves to Sing to Farmers.

Mme. Schumann-Heink appeared in New York yesterday with two of her eight children and installed herself at the Waldorf-Astoria, where she said that she was not in New York to found a new opera company, nor, in fact, for any reason connected with musical art.

"I've come up," she said, "to take the children to the theatre and to get myself some clothes. I'm going on the usual long concert tour this year, and I have to have gowns for that. Otherwise I'd have all my clothes made in the little town in New Jersey where I live and where I have passed my happiest days.

"I bought an automobile this Summer. It cost $1,800, and I think I have gotten at least a million dollars worth of fun out of it. I go with the children on long excursions through the Jersey hills.

"I sang a few times this Summer at Chautauquas—in tents—and loved it. The farming people came for miles around, seven or eight thousand of them; most of them had never been to a concert before and they nudged each other and giggled when I started to sing a German song. But they are my people—the farmers, and all those who are simple and work—and I love to sing for them.

"I shall go to very many small towns this Winter. Next Summer I return to Europe, where I am to sing at Munich and Baireuth."

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Countess Thamara de Swirsky, the Russian classical dancer who has been entertaining at Newport this Summer, is to appear in vaudeville at Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre for the week of Sept 12. Countess Swirsky made her first appearance in New York last season at the Metropolitan Opera House, and later was engaged at the New Theatre in "Czar und Zimmermann."

Charles Cherry has been added to the cast of "Jim the Penman," which is to open in Philadelphia on Sept. 12. Mr. Cherry will play the detective, and Charles Richman will have the role of the froger.

Edouard Durand has been engaged by Joseph M. Weber for the part of the homicidal Italian Count in "Alma, Where Do You Live?"

Louise Closser Hale has been engaged by the New Theatre for the role of Fairy Berylune in "The Blue Bird." Miss Hale was the original Prossy in "Candida," and has appeared in a number of productions since then.

The return engagement of "The Lily," which begins Saturday night at the Belasco Theatre on Forty-fourth Street, will be for four weeks only, and will be followed by David Belasco's first new play of the season, "The Concert."

The herd of elephants which will appear in the circus in the new Hippodrome show arrived from Wheeling, West Va., yesterday with the 250-pond month-old baby which will appear on the stage with its mother, Lena.

The cast of "The White Squaw," which is to be presented by Louis F. Werba, was completed yesterday by the engagement of Edna Brothers and Bernice Parker. Others in the cast will be Della M. Clarke, John E. Kellard, Edwin Mordant, William F. Kolman, and Mindle Price.

WARRENTON HORSE SHOW.

Mrs. Potts and Mrs. Morris Chief Ribbon Winners in Virginia.

WARRENTON, Va., Aug. 31.—The twelfth annual exhibition by the Warrenton Horse Show Association opened to-day under most favorable conditions. Although the skies were overcast, it was cool and an unsurpassed first day crowd was in attendance. The exhibits were of high order and the decisions in all events proved popular. The judges were: G. B. Hulme, R. P. Smith, Welch Strawbridge, Ed. Crosier, Harry Spratley, A. W. Strother, C. E. Holtzclaw, and H. A. George.

There were some falls during the day, but no one was injured. The C. W. Smith Cup was given to King Edward, with W. D. Benner up. The award was not applauded.

Mrs. Allen Potts, of Cobham, Va., and Mrs. Julian Morris, were the favorites of the day and carried off the bulk of the victories. Mrs. Potts' riding and the manner in which she handled her harness team attracted favorable comment. The awards to-day were as follows:

ELSIE FERGUSON IN NEW PLAY

Acts Emotional Role in "A Matter of Money," Dealing with Child Labor.

Special to The New York Times.

NE WHAVEN, Conn., Aug. 31.—Elsie Ferguson appeared to-night in the first production of a four-act play, with child labor as the theme, at the Grand Opera House. Her rôle is in strong contrast to the one she acted in "Such a Little Queen." Henry B. Harris, under whose management she appeared, said that her presentation in an emotional rôle is in line with plans for her future development as a star.

The play is "A Matter of Money," by Paul Harkness. It will be taken to New York City after a Boston run. Miss Ferguson's support included Frank Mills, Paul Everton, Franklyn Hurleigh, Harrison Forbes, Maggie Fielding, Helen Macbeth, and Rene Grau.

Joseph E. Shoenberg.

Joseph E. Shoenberg, Vice President of the Broadway Trust Company, died on Sunday last at Bad Nauheim, Germany, where he had been spending his vacation. He was 56 years old and was born in Dayton, Ohio. He had been a resident of New York City for the last fifteen years. He was President of the Shoenberg Real Estate and Investment Company, which he founded in 1899. He was also Vice President of the May Department Stores Company, which was recently incorporated in New York State. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Herman August, of Cleveland, Ohio.

War Veteran Dies on Stairs of Home.

Thomas G. Coyle, 72 years old, a Lieutenant in the Tenth New York Cavalry during the civil war, and who was in Libby Prison, died in the hallway of 509 West 146th Street last night from heart disease. The veteran's home was on the top floor of the house, and it was while climbing the third flight of stairs that he was seized with the attack that proved fatal. His daughter Eleanor, who was following him, called the four sons, and the body was carried into the Coyle apartment. Mr. Coyle had been a conductor on the Erie Railroad and on the Putnam Division of the New York Central. He was an Odd Fellow and a member of Lloyd Aspinwall Post No. 600, G. A. R.

Obituary Notes.

FREDERICK BLUME, a music dealer of this city, died on Tuesday in his home, 146 West Fifteenth Street, at the age of 74. He was a widower.

GEORGE H. PAYNTAR, who was a member of the old village volunteer Fire Department of Flushing in 1856, and who established the first real estate business in what is now Long Island City, in 1867, died Monday night at Great Barrington, Mass., where he had gone to spend the Summer. He was born July 17, 1834, in the old Payntar homestead near Jackson Avenue, Long Island City, which was erected in 1700. He was prominent in Masonic circles. He is survived by one son, W. Elmer Payntar, and three daughters.

The Rev. Dr. CORNELIUS ELTINGE CRISPELL died Monday night at Gardiner, N. Y., in his ninety-first year. He was graduated from Rutgers College in 1839, and three years later from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. His first charge was at Piermont, N. Y. From 1863 to 1866 he was Professor of History in Rutgers College. Later he was appointed Professor of Natural Philosophy, Mathematics, and Astronomy in Hope College, Holland, Mich., and also Professor of Didactic Theology in Holland Seminary.

ANDREW TIBBETS DUMONT, retired master and pilot of the North River, died yesterday at his home, 86 Highland Avenue, Jersey City, 76 years old. He was born in Manhattan. He resided thirty years in Jersey City. A widow, two sons, and four daughters survive him.

The Rev. Father EDWARD J. McCLAREY, pastor of St. Vincent's Church, Hanover, Penn., died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Alexander Hamill, 2,752 Hudson Boulevard, Jersey City. Father McClarey was born in Jersey City 32 years ago. He was a graduate of Seton Hall College, South Orange, N. J., and was ordained a priest at St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook, Penn. He is survived by a mother, a sister, and a brother, J. Clarence McClarey.

ISAAC W. HALLAN, probably the oldest telegraph operator in the country in point of continuous service, died in Wilmington, Del., yesterday, aged 81 years. He was in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Compnay for fifty-two years. During the civil war he managed the transmission of telegrams between the War Department at Washington and the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac. He was Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Delaware for many years.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

THE SINGLE FACT

That we do more actual building than our competitors, means a saving of middle profits.

It also puts the question of quality right up to us.

As for the element of time—When we start to erect a building, each of our many departments moves up into place in proper sequence, as regiments pass before review.

But you cannot get that sort of discipline from a contractor who recruits his forces overnight every time he gets a job.

SILLY, SAYS PINCHOT, ANSWERING CARTER

Declares Records Show He Did Not Use Forestry Funds for a Presidential Boom.

PUBLICITY FUNDS SMALL

Large General Fund, to Which Senator Objected, Largely Went in Payment of Forest Forces.

Special to The New York Times.

OSAWATOMIE, Kan., Aug. 31.—"The charges are too silly to be answered," said Gifford Pinchot to-day in reply to the statement by Thomas R. Carter, United States Senator from Montana, that as Chief Forester he spent Government funds in an absurd campaign for the Presidency of the United States.

"If all these things were true," Mr. Pinchot went on, "I should have been in jail long ago. In refutation, I cite you Mr. Roosevelt's speech at Denver, and refer you to the report on the investigation into the Department of Agriculture, made in 1897. Special attention was given in that report to the Forestry Service, and I refer any one to its contents."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Senator Carter's statement sent from Helena, Mon., yesterday, in which he accused Gifford Pinchot of using funds appropriated for the Forest Service in booming himself for President, has caused a great deal of puzzled comment here to-day. In the first place no one here remembers that there ever was the least talk either by press agents or others of running Mr. Pinchot for President. Secondly, Senator Carter's use of figures is not regarded as conclusive. The gist of the Carter charges is in these words:

> The records of the office over which Mr. Pinchot presided will show that of the Congressional appropriations since 1896 only $1,795,000 was used for improvement of the National forests, whereas the extraordinary sum of $19,923,060 was used for general expenses. It will be perceived that about 90 per cent. of all the money appropriated was used for general expenses, including the payment for lectures, the payment of editorial writers and reporters, the maintenance of a bureau of publicity, and the general exploitation of Mr. Pinchot and his absurd campaign for the Presidency of the United States.

Senator Carter, who is in the wilds of Montana and could not be reached to-day, wsa probably misquoted on the date 1896, as the figures he uses indicate that he had 1906 in mind. The Forest Service, as it exists to-day, dates back only to 1905. Before that National forests were under the control of the Department of the Interior and the foresters constituted the bureau in the Department of Agriculture, which was given up almost entirely to technical research and the dissemination of information. Its general fund always far exceeded the appropriations detailed by statute for definite purposes because it was found impracticable to tell closely where the money would be needed.

Congress in 1907 established a fund for permanent improvements, trails, roads, telephone lines and buildings, and this fund has varied as follows: In 1908, $500,000; in 1909, $600,000; in 1910, $600,000; in 1911 (the current year), $275,000; a total of $1,975,000, or about the $1,795,000 which Mr. Carter declares to be the maximum spent "for improvement of the National Forests" since "1896."

During the same period general expenses reached about $15,000,000. Expenditures under both heads were about as fixed by statute, not by the discretion of the Forester or the Secretary of Agriculture.

In the fiscal year 1909 the total expenditures of the service were $3,439,525, of which, under the statute, $572,169 went for the permanent improvements. From this general fund come most of the salaries of the service. In the Washington offices in 1909 alone these amount to $310,919.03, and include the pay of all sorts of forestry experts, accountants, inspectors, clerks, and the like. Few salaries could be used for advertising work. To men out of Washington this fund paid salaries amounting to $1,957,579.68. These men, too, were, except for a few clerks and stenographers, all engaged in active forestry work.

Stationery in a number of small items accounts for $32,188.46, and an account of "miscellaneous supplies" takes up forty pages of double-column print in the statement and amounts to $293,301.93, in items that rarely exceed $100. Furniture cost $14,639.17; fuel, $1,828.15; freight, $28,250.78; express, $8,470.78; telegraph, $6,320.45; telephone, $7,688.59; rent, $90,365.31; gas and electricity, $1,775.55; apparatus, &c., $11,091.89; printing and binding, only $1,656.92; travel and station and field expenses to $325,312.91; all of which is accounted for by items with the name of the person to whom the money was paid. The various items leave an unexpended balance of $32,302.03. Furthermore, what discretion is granted in the statute is granted, not to the Forester, but to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. Carter implied that much of the general fund goes to lectures, press work, and the like. The bureau's accounts show that in 1908 only $55,665 was spent for "diffusion of information," and much of this was not press work as ordinarily understood; while in 1909 the sum was $82,790, of which $17,975 was a permanent investment in stencils for addressing machines.

It is difficult to see where expenditures for any Presidential boom could have come in. Indeed, it has been common talk here that Mr. Pinchot spent his own money in emergencies for the good of the Forest Service, though that, of course, does not appear in the records.

Mr. Carter's statement apparently overlooks the fact that the service has been actually making money from the National forests. When the service was created in 1905 the sum coming to the Government from this source had been for years about $50,000. In three years it reached about $1,000,000.

FINE TO BE HOME AGAIN.

Circumstantial Account of the Chief Buff's Walk to Albany.

John H. Mooney, "Chief Buff of the Fire Department," set out from City Hall on Aug. 21, to walk to Buffalo, 474 miles, in fifteen days. He wore a running suit and a pair of tennis shoes when he left City Hall, but as the weather grew colder to the north he stopped in Yonkers and borrowed a pair of trousers from a fireman.

These helped some, but the further north he got the colder Mooney grew. In Albany his feet got cold or he sprained an ankle or something happened, for he decided to turn back. He did so immediately.

Yesterday he got back to town, having made the round trip to Albany in ten days. "Gee," said Mr. Mooney, "but it's great to be home again."

On the way back he carried extra baggage in the shape of souvenirs of his walk in fire badges and letters from admirers.

HEALD IS RENOMINATED.

But Delaware Convention Indorses Changes in Rules He Opposed.

DOVER, Del., Aug. 31.—The Delaware Republican State Convention met here this afternoon and unanimously renominated Congressman William H. Heald of Wilmington. Although Congressman Heald supported Speaker Cannon during the contest over the change in the rules of the House of Representatives, the platform adopted approves the changes made as the result of the struggle.

The platform also indorses the Administration of President Taft, approves the work of Delaware's Senators and Representatives in Congress, and ratifies the Republican National platform of 1908. The platform approves President Taft's views on tariff revision, as made public in his recent letter.

State Treasurer David O. Moore of Laurel and State Auditor Theodore F. Clark of Delaware City were renominated by acclamation.

SCOTT LEAVES WEST POINT.

Escorted to Steamer by Whole Corps of Cadets and Successor, Gen. Barry.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Col. Hugh L. Scott, having served his full four years as Superintendent of the United States Military Academy here, was succeeded to-day by Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, whom President Taft had designated to succeed him. Col. Scott left the scene of his labors under an escort such as no retiring Superintendent of the Academy has ever been honored with before, this tribute being paid by special order of his successor, Gen. Barry.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the entire corps of cadets in dress uniform formed to escort him outside the reservation. They were led by Lieut. Col. Frederick W. Sibley, immediately followed by a band. After the cadets in a carriage came Col. Scott, in civilian dress, and Major Gen. Barry, in uniform, followed by all the officers of the Academy then on duty. When the procession reached the boat-landing the cadets lined up at the base of Bunker Hill, standing at attention, with their backs to the big rock. Gen. Barry accompanied Col. Scott on board the steamer Robert Fulton and all the other officers of the post, including Col. John M. Carson, Jr., Quartermaster; Capt. Oscar J. Charles, Adjutant; and Col. Sibley, were assembled on the pier to bid their late chief good-bye.

Col. Scott will go to the Hotel Astor to-night in New York. To-morrow he goes to Washington, where he will report to Gen. Leonard Wood for assignment to new duties.

Col. Scott was escorted to the hurricane deck, and as the steamer moved out the officers uncovered and the afternoon sun shone on the cadets standing at salute, while from the band came the strains of "Aul Lang Syne."

Some 400 people, chance visitors at West Point for the day, had followed the procession to the boat landing, and many a civilian's hat was whipped off instinctively.

Gen. Barry's entrance upon his new duties was attended this morning with only the brifest formalities. Col. Scott recorded the order for his retirement, and Gen. Barry entered in the book the order of his taking charge. He is the second man of the rank of Major General to be designated as Superintendent of the Academy. The first was Major Gen. John M. Slocum, who served from 1876 to 1881, and was succeeded by Brigadier General O. O. Howard.

There has been some gratification at West Point at the designation as Superintendent of an officer of Gen. Barry's rank, and it is thought that hereafter it may become the practice to place in charge officers of equal rank.

CHARGES $642,000 FRAUD.

F. T. F. Lovejoy, Former Carnegie Partner, Sues R. C. Hall in Pittsburg.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Aug. 31.—Francis T. F. Lovejoy, once a partner of Andrew Carnegie, to-day filed a bill in euqity against Robert C. Hall, a wealthy broker; Frances Clapp Hall, his wife; the Carleton Realty Company and its officers, demanding an injunction restraining the defendants from transferring any stock of the company or incumbering the company's property, and asking for a receiver for the company.

The court is asked to dissolve the partnership between Lovejoy and Hall, formed in 1902, and to determine the indebtedness of Hall and the realty company to Lovejoy and order the amount paid. Lovejoy declares that Hall's indebtedness to him is more than $229,000, and the indebtedness of the Carleton Realty Company to him more than $413,000.

The suit is the outcome of a partnership between the former steel man and the broker which resulted in the building of the Bellefield apartments at a cost of $750,000.

Lovejoy alleges he was defrauded in this partnership; that Hall put less than $10,000 into it. The realty company, the suit states, is insolvent, and it is alleged that Hall bought additional ground for the building, and put it in at a higher price than he actually paid for the ground, so that his share cost him practically nothing.

Lovejoy also alleges that while he lay sick Hall told untruths about him to men with whom he had business dealings, and he avers that Hall had refused, in spite of repeated requests, to render any accounting of the affairs of the realty company—which company, he says, was formed solely to take over the Bellefield dwellings. He charges that Hall and Mrs. Hall have combined for the purpose of defrauding him, Hall deeding property to his wife in order to block Hall's creditors. He charges further that Hall has mismanaged the apartment building so that it has been a losing venture.

BIG CROWD TO HEAR RUSSELL

Socialist Candidate Criticises Judge Goff's Strike Decision.

Charles Edward Russell, the Socialist candidate for Governor, appeared last night before an audience that packed the Grand Street Theatre, speaking for Socialism, himself, and Meyer London, the Socialist candidate for Congress in the Ninth District. He said that Judge Goff's recent strike decision was in effect that the workingman had not the right to quit work.

"Your employer has the right to stop your work," he said, "when he wants to, but, according to Judge Goff, you have not the right to withhold your work when you please. Elect Meyer London from this district, and when that piece of news goes out over the wires it will make every injunction Judge in this country hesitate before he issues another such injunction, because you will have served notice on such as they that at last you have decided that you have had enough of injustice. God knows, it has taken you a long time to find out that you have had enough."

The speaker declared that Meyer London's voice in "that den of thieves down there at Washington would be the sweetest and most hopeful sound that ever fell upon the ears of man."

"There is but one issue in this campaign, as in all others," went on Mr. Russell, "and that is this: That there is enough produced in this world to meet comfortably the necessities of every man, woman, and child in it; that more than one-half of all the people in the world never had a square meal in their life, and that the economic system must be so changed that the plenitude of the earth shall get to all its people."

There were other speakers and instrumental music and singing.

SIBLEY NEAR BORDERLAND.

Fears for His Health in Statement Relating to Bribery Charges.

FRANKLIN, Penn., Aug. 31.—Joseph C. Sibley, who last week resigned as Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty-eighth District, and next day was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to corrupt the voters of Warren County, to-night expresses the belief that he is "near the borderland of another country," and fears that he may not even survive to tell his story in court, in a statement he issues relative to his candidacy and his $42,500 election expense account. He says that if he should not be able to testify in court he wants his friends to know the truth.

Mr. Sibley says he left the disbursement of money to his private secretary, owing to ill-health, and not until the day of filing his account was he aware that he had spent more than $20,000. But it will be shown, Mr. Sibley declares, that every cent was spent in conformity with the law.

He refers to "slanderous tales and malicious falsehoods" told about him during his campaign, and says those who circulated them knew he was physically unable to go before the people personally and deny them. Mr. Sibley says that he has never been niggardly in the use of money in campaigns, for he has always deemed it legitimate to make expenditures to arrest attention and kindle interest.

"But from the day of my entering the political arena to the present moment," he said, "certainly to the best of my knowledge and belief, there has never been purchased nor given to any human being by my knowledge or consent one drink of liquor or a dollar of money."

SHIPPERS' PROFITS INTEREST RAILROADS

Those Opposing Rate Advances May Be Asked to Show Them on Commodities Affected.

MORE PLEAS FOR INCREASES

Yet Santa Fe Witness Declares His Road Would Only Gain $94,000 in a Year from Them.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Coincident with the closing of the testimony for the Santa Fé system before the special examiners for the Inter-State Commerce Commission there came to-day a suggestion that the railroads now on the defensive might change their tactics and seek to compel the shippers, who oppose the advance in freight rates, to declare how much they profit on the different commodities under consideration.

While no definite statement of such an intent has been made, it is not unexpected that the railroads before the hearing is over will ask many questions of shippers concerning their profits and the rate of return which they enjoy on their invested capital.

Before the Santa Fé testimony closed James Peabody, statistician of the system, was called to the stand, and belittled the effect of the proposed freight rate advance.

"If the proposed advance were to be put into effect, and to remain in effect for one year," said Mr. Peabody, "the Santa Fé would earn only $94,000 more than it is earning right now."

Attorney Frank Lyon, counsel for the commission, sought to ascertain from him how much tonnage carried by the Santa Fé would be affected by the rates which Mr. Peabody had stated would only give a yearly increase in earnings of that amount. The statistician replied that he had no figures at hand which would show the tonnage percentage.

Some of the railroad men at the hearing estimated unofficially that the tonnage in the Western railway territory affected by the increase would amount to 15 per cent. of the total tonnage hauled under normal conditions.

Testimony regarding the Rock Island system was next taken.

F. O. Melcher, Second Vice President of the road, told of increased expenses of the road in late years, due, according to him, to advance in the wage scale and increased cost of operation. He was questioned by Attorney W. S. Dickinson, counsel for the road. He offered in evidence a table showing that increased wages paid in the operating department of the road amounted in 1906 and 1907 to $528,000; in 1907 and 1908 to $1,314,000, in 1908 and 1909 to $1,314,000, in 1909 and 1910 to $1,451,000, and in 1910 and 1911 the estimated increase would total $2,612,000.

Mr. Melcher said that in his opinion the road does not get more efficient labor by reason of the increased wages. Some of the increases, he said, were the result of threatened strikes, which were settled, and some were made by arbitration.

"The argument advanced by the employes in 1906 for an increase," he said, "was that the roads were prosperous and the men wanted a share of the prosperity."

In the later pleas for advanced wages the men argued that the cost of living had increased and demanded more money.

Mr. Melcher declared that, in his opinion, no change is likely to restore any part of the wage increase unless the road can get more for hauling freight.

"The fiscal year just closed," said Mr. Melcher, "the gross earnings increased $5,300,000 and the operating expenses increased $5,500,000."

He also commented on the legislative measures which had increased the cost of operating the railroad.

"I do not object to the Safety Appliance law," said Mr. Melcher. "It was a good thing, but it does not save money. We have to have as many men on a train now as before the automatic brake was installed. The Hours of Labor bill was a very proper bill, but has required more men and an increased expenditure. Other regulations have been good, but they all cost money and go to swell the increased cost of operation. Altogether, I should say that the increased volume of traffic has not kept pace with the increased cost of operation."

POSTAL CLERK'S CONTRITION.

Confesses to Breaking Law 25 Years Ago by Opening Sealed Letter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—An unsigned and undated letter was received to-day by the Post Office Department, in which the writer confessed to a violation of the law in opening a sealed letter. The writer says:

"More than twenty-five years ago, when employed as a clerk in a Post Office, I one day made a money order, and after the letter was sealed and ready to be mailed remembered that I had not filled out the blank quite right, and I opened the letter and made the proper correction. I sealed the letter at once, and forwarded it by the first mail. Although no harm was done I broke the law, and wish to confess my error."

The Post Office officials have no idea from whom the letter came. The communication is unique in the history of the department. It is evident to the officials that the error has been burning in the mind of the writer of the letter during all these years. The penmanship appears to be that of a woman, but that is a mere surmise on the part of the officials. No action, of course, will be taken in the matter.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The western Gulf of Mexico disturbance has, apparently, moved into Mexico with no unusual occurrences reported from stations of observation.

Although pressure is above normal east of the Rocky Mountains, conditions are very much unsettled and there were showers over nearly all districts.

Temperatures were rather low, except in the Southwest. The weather will continue generally unsettled and showery east of the Rocky Mountains during the next two days, except in the Northeast and the extreme Southwest, where local showers will be followed by fair Friday.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coasts, moderate and variable; South Atlantic Coast, moderate and mostly southeast to south.

Steamships departing Thursday for European ports will have moderate, variable winds, showers Thursday, fair Friday, to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

Eastern New York—Local showers Thursday. Friday, partly cloudy, slightly cooler Thursday; light to moderate variable winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Unsettled Thursday and Friday, with occasional showers; light to moderate variable winds.

New England—Showers Thursday, slightly cooler in west portion. Friday, partly cloudy; moderate variable winds.

	1909.	1910.		1909.	1910.
3 A. M.	63	67	4 P. M.	69	74
6 A. M.	63	64	6 P. M.	68	71
9 A. M.	67	68	9 P. M.	66	71
12 M.	70	73	12 P. M.	67	71

This thermometer is 108 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 70; for the corresponding dat last yar it was 66; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 77. The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 68; at 8 P. M., 72; maximum temperature, 76 degrees at 2 P. M.; minimum, 64 degrees at 6:30 A. M. Humidity, 82 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 79 per cent. at 8 P. M.

*One out when winning run was scored.

Two-base hit—Criger. Sacrifice hits—Chase, Roach. Stolen bases—Daniels, 2. Left on bases—Cleveland, 8; New York, 8. First base on errors—Cleveland, 3. Struck out—By Fanwell, 5; by Fisher, 1. Bases on balls—Off Fanwell, 5; off Fisher, 2. Hit by pitcher—By Fanwell, Daniels. Umpire—Mr. O'Loughlin. Time of game—Two hours and three minutes.

The younger generation of flingers showed some tip-top pitching on the Hilltop yesterday, Ray Fisher of the Yanks being pitted against Fanwell of Cleveland. Fisher had the more difficult job, for there were periods of St. Vitus support behind him. Fanwell outpitched him up to the ninth inning, but Fisher had a wee bit more stamina, the Nap youngster's motor getting out of order at the last minute when Chase's troupe won out 2 to 1.

It was Lou Criger, who once wore a Cleveland uniform, who spanked out the safety that sent Roach around the trail for home with the winning run, rushing ahead with all the speed of Novelty burning up the stretch at Saratoga. They used to say that Lou, poor fellow, was all in and that the reception committee at the home for the aged and infirm was waiting for him. Not yet, Mike. In the last few games Criger has shown more ginger than any man on the team. His catching seems as good as ever and he is clouting the ball like Casey used to before he got in Dutch at Mudville.

The spectators didn't break any hats over the exhibition. In fact, nobody's emotion soared to the heights reached by Camille in the third act. It was a good ball game notwithstanding. The teams each chalked up a run in the first. With two out, Niles cast off an infield grounder and beat out Fisher's throw to first. Lajoie can still paste them as he did in the old days in Woonsocket, and crashed a liner to centre field that left a trail of sparks in its wake. It sent Niles to third. Larry and Niles then pulled off a double steal, Lajoie delaying the out long enough to let Niles score.

Bart Daniels galloped the bases like a scared rabbit in the same inning. He got on when Fanwell soaked him on the floating ribs. He stole second and he drove into third in a cloud of dust and was safe. Chase was at the bat with two strikes against him. Daniels ran home while Hal laid a bunt in front of the plate. That's working the squeeze play just the way Old Doctor Hoyle meant to have you.

Then Fanwell closed up the chest of hits and bolted on the padlock. Fisher used all his cunning at curling the leather, but he was in more or less trouble. Every time he pluckily heaved himself out of danger. In the eighth inning, with two out, he had the bases full on bases on balls and Knight's error, and Lajoie was at the bat. Fisher's nerve was good and he made Larry shoot a hole in the overhanging clouds, while Cree got under the ball.

The ninth inning also saw him in a bad hole. With one out Demott and Knaupp singled. Land hit a grounder to Fisher and he forced Demott at third. Fanwell nearly knocked Fisher over with a hot grounder, but Ray threw him out at first.

Three hits, the Yanks got up in the ninth. Laporte opened the last half of that session by rolling out, Knaupp to Stovall. Roach hammered a gingery hopper past second base and Austin dropped a single in centre field, Roach getting to the second station. Criger, who had uncorked a double two innings before, laced a hard screamer to right and when Roach crossed the plate most of the people in the grand stand were there waiting to give him the glad hand.

Insomnia note—Birmingham fell asleep on second base in the second inning and Knight tagged him out. Birmingham told Silk O'Loughlin that he had eyes like a ground-mole, so Silk let the Nap grouch have a vacation. Away with him.

A red-hot scrap with the Boston Red Sox for second place starts to-day, if it isn't too cloudy.

Walter Johnson's Great Pitching.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Walter Johnson's brilliant pitching enabled Washington to shut out St. Louis to-day, 8 to 0. Johnson equaled the season's record, striking out fourteen, and the five hits registered against him were made in as many innings. Score:

White's Single Defeats Newark Nine.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 31.—White's single to left field in the ninth inning scored Corcoran from second base in to-day's game and the Bisons annexed one of the closest contests of the season. McGinnity and Merritt pitched fine ball. The features of the game were the batting of Smith and McCabe for the local team. The Bisons backed up Merritt in splendid style. The score:

PYNCHON'S ISTALENA FIRST IN SLOOP RACE

Atlantic Yacht Club Has Fine Weather for First Day of "Race Week."

With an ideal day for sailing, the first races of the Atlantic Yacht Club's annual race week were sailed over the regular club course in the lower bay yesterday. A fresh breeze from the southeast gave all contestants a chance to display their sailing qualities to the best advantage.

The first and most important race of the day was the contest between Istalena, Winsome, and Aurora. These boats went over a thirty-mile course, fifteen miles to windward and return. The start was off the Scotland Lightship, and the outer mark was a buoy anchored fifteen miles out.

The Aurora was sailed by Butler Duncan in the absence of Mr. Vanderbilt. Mr. Lippitt handled the Winsome, and Mr. Pynchon was at the wheel of Istalena. Istalena led at the outer mark, followed by Aurora, with Winsome five minutes astern.

Two boats started in the New York Yacht Club thirty-foot class, but Rowdy cracked her mast, and Mr. Ellis, sailing Caprice, withdrew, as he did not want to sail alone.

Gray Jacket was an easy winner in Class Q, beating Little Rhoady II. by over eight minutes. The Class Q boats also raced the third leg for the Thompson Cup. In 1908 the winner was Eleanor. Last year the Princess came home first, and while the result of this year's race is not decided it looks as if Gray Jacket would win this year's leg. The cup must be won three times by the same owner in order to become his property.

The Islip and Larchmont interclub class raced for the Titcomb Cup in addition to the regular Atlantic Yacht Club prizes.

Class S boats raced for the Lipton Cup under the auspices of the Crescent A. C.

The Gardenia sailed over the 17¼-mile course. Mr. Herzig did not want to sail, but was requested to do so by the Regatta Committee.

The committee in charge of the races is composed of W. E. Boucher, Chairman; Dr. J. E. De Mund, L. Wonder, and Walter Sykes. The races for the Lipton Cup were managed by Commodore Francis Wilson and A. F. Aldrich. The 57-footers raced under the management of Theodore D. Wells and Alfred Mackay.

To-day the same classes will start, and after the races the fleet will hold an illuminated parade. The parade was originally scheduled for last evening, but rough weather made it impossible to get all the boats in line. The summary:

GERMAN-AMERICAN TRIALS.

Sixteen Yachts Entered for Emperor William and Prince Henry Cups.

Sixteen entries have been received for the special trial races for yachts eligible to compete for the cups offered by Emperor William of Germany and Prince Henry of Prussia, which will be sailed under the auspices of the Eastern Yacht Club in Buzzard's Bay, Mass., on Sept. 3, 5, and 6. From these races three boats will be selected to race at Kiel in June, 1911. In the first contest before eliminations are made the boats will be raced in divisions. The names of the boats constituting these divisions will be announced before the morning of the first race.

The courses have been designated as follows: Course S—From the starting line to and around a mark three miles to windward or leeward and return, leaving the mark on the starboard side. Course F—From the starting line two miles to and around a mark, thence two miles to and around a second mark, thence two miles to finish line. In turning a mark, if the next leg of the course is to starboard, the mark is to be left to the starboard. If the next leg of the course is to port, the mark is to be left to port.

Pathfinding Car Over Embankment.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Aug. 31.—The pathfinding motor car of the Catskill reliability contest and hill climb plunged down an embankment in the mountains near Highland Falls last night. John J. Corbell of New York, representative of the Motor Contest Association, and the chauffeur, William Young, escaped without injury. A huge boulder saved them. The car reached Newburg at noon to-day.

Tufts Game with Yale Not Canceled.

MEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 31.—Manager E. I. McPhie of the Tufts College football team stated to-day that a report circulated in New Haven that a game would not be played on Oct. 5 between Yale and Tufts was erroneous. Tufts has not canceled the date, he said, and so far as the Medford team is concerned the game will be played at New Haven.

MATTY'S HEALTH IMPAIRED.

Giants' Famous Pitcher to Take Treatment for Stomach Trouble.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Aug. 31.—There was no game this afternoon between the New Yorks and the Pittsburgs owing to wet grounds. At 2:30 Manager McGraw telephoned Manager Clarke asking to be notified early in case there would be no game, as he wished to hurry to Philadelphia with the team, thereby avoiding the night ride, if possible. Before 3 o'clock Clarke telephoned McGraw that there would be no game, and by 3:30 the New York team was on its way to Philadelphia, where it will play four games in three days.

"To-day's game was one that promised to be of great importance to us," said Manager McGraw, "and I'm sorry we did not get the chance to play it, as a victory would have helped us much toward reaching second place. I'm satisfied that we would have beaten Pittsburg, too, since they seem sadly demoralized, being altogether out of the race for the pennant. However, I have suggested to Manager Clarke that we play the game off in New York on the visit of the Pittsburgs there, and this will be done. We will not visit Pittsburg again this year, and so cannot play it off here."

Mathewson, who has not been well for some time, will likely enter a New York hospital as soon as the race is decided and take treatment for his stomach, also his breathing. His fellow players declare the great pitcher has not been able to breathe properly this season, hence his poor showing at times.

FAST TIME IN AUTO RACES.

Oldfield Predicts Speed of 63 Miles for Hour Races at Brighton.

Sixty-three miles an hour on Brighton Beach motordrome is the mark Barney Oldfield predicts will be set during the one-hour races scheduled for the speed carnival Saturday and Monday afternoons. It is in these events that the public will have the best chance to determine the real driving ability of both Oldfield and George Robertson, who are entered in four of the races at Brighton.

In the short distance races it is thought by many that the track king might have a shade on Robertson and score over the Vanderbilt Cup winner through having had many years more experience at the track game, but in the long races the two will battle for an hour each day against each other and many other noted drivers.

Oldfield had his "Blitzen" Benz and Knox "six" at the track yesterday afternoon, but owing to the surface being freshly oiled could not show his highest speed. Robertson will drive the Simplex "cyclone" in the free for all races and a Simplex "50" in the long races and stock car events. Ben Kerscher, the German, who has been driving some remarkably fast miles on circular tracks this Summer, will pilot the Hemmery Darracq in the free for all events.

The following cars have been nominated to start in the one-hour races: Fiat, Simplex, (2;) Knox, Black Crow, S. P. O., (2;) Marion, Mercer, Kline Kar, Benz, and Ford.

A ten-mile motor cycle race has been added to Saturday's programme, A. G. Chapple with a "Flying Merkel," Daredevil Seery, and Billy Robinson with "Indian" machines of 7 horse power having already entered.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Heavy Buying Movement in Pig Iron the Feature of the Week.

Commenting on general trade conditions, the Iron Age says:

The feature of the week has been the beginning of what promises to be a heavy buying movement in pig iron. It began with the purchase by a large plow company at South Bend, Ind., of more than 40,000 tons of pig iron, comprising foundry, malleable Bessemer, high silicon, and charcoal iron. Some of this purchase was for early delivery, while on part of it the shipments will run over the first eight months of next year. While slight concessions are stated to have been made on the iron for early delivery, a better price than current quotations was secured by the sellers for deliveries running into next year. This transaction has brought out much inquiry from other large consumers, who have become convinced that it may be well to follow the example thus set.

The improved sentiment noted last week continues as to finished iron and steel. Specifications continue heavy in all lines and inquiries are beginning to appear. The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company has not yet decided to start up its two tin plate plants which were kept idle on account of the strike that was declared off last week, but it may be found necessary to do so in the near future for the purpose of supplying the heavy demand for tin plate.

The rail sales of the week comprise 9,000 tons of ferro-titanium Bessemer rails, sold to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad by the Lackawanna Steel Company; 3,200 tons to local buyers by the Illinois Steel Company, and 7,000 tons to the Korean Railway by the United States Steel Products Company. Inquiries are in hand for a considerable quantity of rails from domestic roads, one of 14,000 tons and one of 13,000 tons.

The Iron Trade Review says:

Buying of about 70,000 tons of pig iron by plow and cast-iron pipe interests and sending out of important inquiries have improved the tone of the market and caused a decidedly more hopeful feeling concerning Fall prospects. While it is true that the iron was sold at rather low prices, considering that deliveries extend into next year, it is also a fact that many furnace interests declined to meet the low quotations. Reports of a firmer market come from Birmingham, Ala., but some Southern interests, particularly Tennessee furnaces, are still willing to sell at low prices.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Although the bulk of the news factors in the wheat market were bearish, pressure was light, and what selling was induced by such factors was absorbed quite readily, with a marked degree of steadiness displayed following the opening decline. Foreign advices were disappointing, and weather conditions abroad were more favorable. It was also stated that Russian offers of wheat were being made in larger quantities and at lower prices, which had quite a little effect on sentiment. A prominent Western commission house received a dispatch from its own Argentine correspondent, stating that drought damage in different sections of that country had been exaggerated, and that if rains should occur during the next two weeks or so they would be in plenty of time for the best development of the crop. Traders, however, were impressed by the good undertone of the market, and after midday commission houses were fair buyers, representing the covering of shorts and some new purchases for long account. This movement was induced by reports from Baltimore stating that the export business there was larger than was generally conceded, and there were also rumors of two cargoes being worked, which up to the close, however, had not been confirmed. There were predictions to the effect that the carrying charges now existing would begin to disappear as soon as the Spring wheat movement would become lighter, as the Winter wheat movement has already shown a falling off, while flour and cash demand is reported fairly good at both the Northwest and Southwest. An estimate gotten out by the Hungarian Minister of Agriculture indicating a probable world's crop of 3,636,000,000 bushels, an increase of 76,000,000 bushels over last year, had little effect, although it compares with estimates by other authorities of decreases ranging from 150,000,000 to 156,000,000 bushels. Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red Winter, $1.06¼ nominal, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red spot, nominal, new, $1.07½ free on board afloat for export; No. 1 Northern, Spring, $1.22¾, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, new, $1.08¾, and No. 1 Northern, Manitoba, $1.12¾. Sales include 8,000 bushels New York for South America, 24,000 bushels from Philadelphia, and 8,000 bushels from Boston.

The failure of frost to materialize was the direct cause of an initial decline in the corn market amounting to ⅜ to ⅝c per bushel. Temperatures throughout the belt, while rather low, were materially above the frost point, and were not considered as particularly unseasonable. The liquidation in the September option continues, on fears of deliveries which are expected to be quite heavy. This also affected later months, with little support given early. Toward the close, however, a rather bullish report gotten out by Snow on crop conditions and the firmness of wheat caused short covering. The cash demand, however, continues slow, with farmers still said to be selling old corn quite freely. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 67¼c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer nominal, elevator, export basis. Sales include 32,000 bushels via New Orleans.

Oats declined to new low levels, with the principal influence continuing to be the heavy movement in face of a comparatively slow distributing demand. There was little support, and while some authorities are of the opinion that as soon as September liquidation is out of the way a better market will be witnessed, little enthusiasm on the bull side could be aroused. The close was at prices somewhat above the low on short covering and in sympathy with the other markets. Cash oats quoted: Standards, 38½c; No. 2 white, 38½c; No. 3 white, 38c; No. 4 white, 37½c; natural white, 36½@39½c, and white clipped, 39@42c.

Provisions opened slightly easier, but steadied somewhat on the continued light movement of hogs. Later on profit taking and in absence of support an easier undertone developed.

COTTON.

There was very little bull encouragement that could be derived from news factors prior to the opening of the market. Liverpool cables were disappointing, with private advices attributing the decline there as being due to liquidation of the nearby months. There was also nothing particularly unfavorable noted in the early weather map, and while the conditions in Texas are not exactly satisfactory, these are partly offset by generally favorable conditions existing elsewhere. A local newspaper's report on the conditions of Texas and Oklahoma crop was just in line with expectations, reporting a good outlook for the latter State, whereas material deterioration was indicated in the first-named State. The Giles report also had considerable influence on sentiment, indicating a condition as of Aug. 25 of 73.1, against 73.2 two weeks ago and 76.4 a month ago. The Government report a month ago was 75.5, and the deterioration for the month, therefore, amounted to only 3.3 per cent. This compares with an average deterioration for August of 6.4. Another estimate compiled from the average guesses of sixty-one members of the Cotton Exchange was for a condition of 72.4 against their average guess last month of 75.6. This report compares with the Norden report yesterday of 70.8. As a result of these more optimistic crop estimates sentiment was rather bearish, and in the afternoon, on predictions of rains in the Eastern States, resulted in considerable commission houses selling, and prices yielded to levels about 10 points below last night's finals. The August position went out quietly, with the last sale at 18 cents, or a net decline of 140 points from the previous close. Following the expiration for trading time 100 bales were offered at 17.50, with no takers.

COFFEE.

Coffee was less active, total sales amounting to 31,750 bags, and after opening steady at unchanged to 5 points advance values gradually declined and at the close were unchanged to 6 points net lower. The principal feature was active selling for foreign account, especially in the May position, but prominent roasters were buying the near months. Havre closed ¼ franc higher, while Hamburg was ¾ to 1 pfennig higher. In Brazil Rio was 100 reis lower and Santos showed a decline of 50 reis. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States is 3,022,170 bags, against 3,699,758 last year and 3,428,352 two years ago.

Long Island's Progress

A special section in next Sunday's TIMES will be devoted to an interesting story of the remarkable progress of Long Island, apropos of the opening of the Pennsylvania Terminal and Tunnel, which will bear so important a part in the future of this section.

"Where There Is No Theatrical Syndicate"

Charles Frohman, the well-known theatrical manager, writes a vigorous article on this theme.

"The Meaning of Labor Day"

An article by Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor telling about the origin of the holiday.

"The Man Who Found the Truth"

Another installment of the powerful story by Leonid Andreyev, the Russian Poe.

Togo Tourists See Newport

A delightful little trip to the famous Summer resort described by Hashimura Togo (Wallace Irwin).

Status of Royal Visitors in the United States

The Veteran Diplomat tells of exemption of men of royal rank from some of our laws.

American and English Characteristics

"Rita," the English writer, makes some frank comparisons.

In the Pictorial Section will be these features:

POOR RAILROAD RETURNS

Sterling Exchange Recovers, Discounts Advancing in London—Bank of England May Raise Rate.

Business on the Stock Exchange came as close to a standstill yesterday as is possible in view of the fact that among the members of the Exchange are a large number of traders who feel that it is incumbent upon them to carry on some transactions on the floor of the Exchange however few may be the orders coming from the outside and however slight the incentive on any particular day to either buy or sell stocks. It is not surprising under the conditions which prevailed yesterday to note in the record of the day's accomplishments the fact that the three stocks, Reading, Union Pacific, and Steel, which have figured so prominently in recent trading, all closed without a change of as much as one-eighth from Tuesday's final prices. In other parts of the list there were some fair-sized advances and declines, but the usually active stocks contributed none but fractional changes to the record of a session which was about as dull as any the Stock Exchange has experienced this year, the trading being only about half of the small total of the previous day. Again it was the money market which supplied the principal items of interest in the day's developments. An upturn occurred in sterling exchange, and coincidently there was an advance in discount rates in London, which, coming on the eve of the day when the Bank of England will again consider the question of its discount rate, suggested the possibility of an increase in that rate from 3 to 3½ per cent. In this market time money rates displayed continued and even increased firmness. The transfers through the Sub-Treasury were smaller and no further gold was taken for shipment to Canada, but the Sub-Treasury in its report of its transactions with the banks showed by far the largest loss by the latter which has occurred since the banks ceased ten days ago to draw money on balance from the Sub-Treasury. Including the day's loss of $2,888,000 the banks have now lost to the Sub-Treasury since last Friday a total of $6,480,000, which is just about five times the amount of the loss during the corresponding days last week.

The indication contained in some of the earliest of the railroad statements of earnings for the month of July that expenses were being brought under better control is not being borne out in other statements for that month which are coming to hand. The Union and Southern Pacific in their statements issued on Tuesday showed losses in net earnings for the month despite substantial increases in gross receipts, and the Pennsylvania Railroad in its statement for July shows a loss of $465,000 in net earnings, although its gross earnings were $362,000 greater than they were during July last year. An even more unfavorable result is recorded in the cases of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, which earned $623,000 more gross, but report a decrease of $521,000 in net.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

At the Metal Exchange yesterday renewed dullness was shown. Copper was about unchanged. Tin was a shade easier, 10 tons of spot selling at 35.55 and 15 tons of October at 34.95.

The closing bid and asked prices follow:

	Wednesday. Bid.	Wednesday. Asked.	Tuesday. Bid.	Tuesday. Asked.
Spot	12.20	12.40	12.25	12.35
August	12.20	12.40	12.25	12.35
September	12.20	12.40	12.25	12.30
October	12.25	12.30	12.30	12.32½
Lead	4.40	4.50	4.40	4.50
Spelter	5.37½	5.50	5.37½	5.50
Tin	35.50	35.70	35.60	35.67½

On the Metal Exchange in London yesterday there was noted the following range of prices of spot and future deliveries of copper and pig tin. These prices are the final figures and compare with Tuesday's closing:

	Wednesday. £	s.	d.	Tuesday. £	s.	d.
Copper, spot	55	15	..	56	2	6
Copper, futures	56	12	6	56	18	9
Tin, spot	162	10	..	163	..	..
Tin, futures	159	2	6	159	..	..

The market ended steady. Spanish pig lead was firm and up 2s 6d, to £12 11s 3d; spelter was steady at £22 15s. Cleveland warrants were quoted at 49s 4½d.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—The Boston market opened steady this morning, but without feature. Trading was very light and fluctuations were confined within fractional limits. Amalgamated was the only issue in which transactions over a thousand shares were recorded. The close was irregular and featureless.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—All interest in Philadelphia converged upon the street railway stocks to-day. They dominated what little there was of a market, becoming weak with the appearance of a selling order involving a thousands shares. Near the close both Union Traction and Philadelphia Rapid Transit hardened on small purchases, and United Gas Improvement got back to 81¼. Lehigh Valley was well bought, its action suggesting that stock recently hanging over the market had been absorbed, but superficial indications in this connection have frequently proved unreliable. Lake Superior was strong, but brokers ran out of adjectives in trying to describe the inertia in the rest of the market.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Continuance of Sluggish Trading, with Tendency Toward Lower Price Levels.

HIGH RECORD IN RUBBER

Intercontinental Certificates Go to 28⅝ on Active Trading and Close Near Top—Many Mining Issues Close Even.

In a continuance of the sluggish market on the Curb yesterday most issues moved narrowly with a tendency toward lower price levels. A number of the mining issues made recessions of small fractions. Giroux and Kerr Lake each closed 1-16 and Ray Consolidated ¼ below the opening. Nipissing lost ⅛, as did United Copper. Chino, Goldfield Consolidated, Miami, La Rose Consolidated, and Ohio Copper closed even with the opening. Intercontinental Rubber, in the face of the general apathy, made new high records both in price and activity. Transactions of 4,500 shares were reported, the price moving up from 27¼ to 28⅝. The close was at 28½.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Wednesday.

The feature of the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was active bidding for United States Steel common in the late afternoon by a short interest nervous over the fact that the stock was about to sell ex-dividend of 1¼ per cent. About 1,000 shares changed hands on the Consolidated at 70⅝, when the stock appeared to be in free supply on the New York Stock Exchange at 70⅝. Most of the day the dealings reflected semi-holiday characteristics, with the price fluctuations so narrow as to have not much significance. Sales totaled 32,400 shares, with thirty-three different stocks on the list.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

The Tri-City Railway & Light Co

Notice of Annual Meeting of Stockholders

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of The Tri-City Railway & Light Company will be held at the principal office of the Company, at No. 11 Central Row, in the City of Hartford, State of Connecticut, on the 15th day of September, 1910, at the hour of one o'clock P. M., for the purpose of considering and taking action upon any matter which may lawfully come before said meeting, including the following:

1. To consider and act upon the matter of the issuance of the Company's bonds not exceeding in amount $20,000,000 at any one time outstanding, to be known as the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds, and the execution and delivery by the Company of a First and Refunding Mortgage upon any or all of its property and franchises, or upon all or any part of the property and franchises of any of its subsidiary companies, for the purpose of securing the payment of the principal and interest of the said First and Refunding Mortgage Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds above mentioned, and to take any and all action that shall to the stockholders seem necessary or desirable, in connection with, germane to, or growing out of action upon any of the matters above stated.

2. To elect directors to take the place of the directors of the Company whose terms are about to expire.

Also any and all other matters and business which may lawfully be acted upon at said meeting.

The transfer books for the transfer of the stock of the company will close with the close of business on Wednesday, the 7th day of September, 1910, and will reopen the day succeeding the day of the final adjournment of said annual meeting.

Dated August 30, 1910.
By order of the Board of Directors.
THE TRI-CITY RAILWAY & LIGHT COMPANY.
By M. K. Parker, Secretary,
49 Wall St., New York.

TAKE NOTICE THAT A MEETING OF THE holders of the 50-Year Consolidated First and Collateral Trust 5% Gold Bonds of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co., under its mortgage to the Title Guaranty & Trust Co. of Scranton, dated September 1, 1906, is called, to be held at the office of said Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co. in the Land Title Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 30th day of September, 1910, at 3:15 P. M., for the purpose of acting upon a proposition to release from the lien of said mortgage the coal mining rights and privileges in a certain parcel of land in Washington Township, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, containing 160 acres, more or less, together with a right of way for railroad siding over certain lands in said Township.

Dated New York, August 24, 1910.

G. O. WATERMAN, Secretary.

THE LAKE SUPERIOR CORPORATION.

Take notice that the Board of Directors of The Lake Superior Corporation has directed that the transfer books of the Corporation be closed for the purpose of the annual meeting of shareholders of the Corporation to be held on the 5th day of October, 1910, from [illegible] the 15th day of September, 1910, at [illegible] o'clock in the afternoon until [illegible] day of October, 1910, the hour of [illegible] in the forenoon.

By order of the Board of Directors.
T. GIBSON, Secretary.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Two Points of View.

With the arguments in favor of rate increase advanced by President Ripley before the Inter-State Commerce Commission at the hearing now under way in Chicago still fresh in their minds, observers of financial affairs yesterday were not a little surprised by an argument along a different line advanced at the same hearing by another officer of the Atchison. President Ripley had been telling how essential it was for the Atchison to obtain an increase in rates, and had pointed to many millions of expenses which ought to be met and which ought to be provided for; he thought, by the railroads being allowed to increase their rates. Yesterday the commission heard testimony from another officer of the road to the effect that if the proposed increase in freight rates on the Atchison was allowed by the commission it would add to the Atchison's earnings only about $94,000 a year. This would be a poor offset indeed to the increased expenses about which President Ripley testified at length. The statements of the two officers of the road put side by side took on an odd appearance which Wall Street was not quite prepared yesterday to reconcile from the partial accounts of the hearing which reached the financial district. Either the rate increase would yield more than $94,000 a year, it was thought, or else President Ripley had been making a very big fight for very little money.

***

Pennsylvania Earnings.

It cost the Pennsylvania Railroad during the month of July, according to its statement for that month made public this morning, $827,000 more in expenses to handle $362,000 more traffic than it handled in July last year, with the result that despite the increase in gross the Pennsylvania's net earnings for July were $465,000 smaller than they were for the corresponding month last year. The Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg and Erie showed a larger increase in gross that the Eastern lines, but that this did not help them is indicated by the fact that they lost even more in net than did the lines east of Pittsburg, showing an increase of $1,144,000 in expenses and a decrease of $521,000 in net earnings. The showing made by the Pennsylvania system is in keeping with that of the Harriman lines, which reported on Tuesday for the month of July. It reverses the more favorable showing in the matter of expenses made by some of the lines which previously reported for the first month of the new fiscal year.

***

August's Poor Showing.

August is always expected to be a dull month on the Stock Exchange, but it has been worse from the brokers' point of view than any mid-Summer month since 1900. The total transactions in stocks for the month ended yesterday were only 10,376,190 shares, and in bonds the total was only $31,039,000. Last year, in August, the sales of stocks were more than double last month's figures, totaling 24,514,021 shares. The aggregate of bond trading compares with $113,302,500 in August, 1909, a falling off of $82,263,500. Last season was an exception to the general mid-Summer lethargy by reason of the influence on trading of Mr. Harriman's return from abroad in failing health, but the poor showing in both departments of Exchange trading is only little less marked in comparison with August, 1908, and other recent years. Last year's August business on the Exchange was second only to that of the corresponding month in 1906, when Mr. Harriman was also responsible for the unusual activity. It was in that month that the Union Pacific dividend was raised to 10 per cent. In the bond market 1906's activity made a new high record for that month.

***

Eager for Postal Bank Funds.

The number of banks making application to the Washington authorities for designation as depositories of the funds expected to accumulate when the postal savings banks are established, now totals 1,003, or nearly double the number of the applications from Postmasters for the establishment of postal savings banks in their offices. So far the applications from Postmasters number only 566. Meanwhile the Treasury Department is pushing the preparations for the establishment of the new departure, plates are being engraved for the new bonds to be purchasable by depositors, and the details of administration are being worked out, with the prospect that the savings departments will be ready to accept deposits in the near future.

AUGUST TRANSACTIONS.

Transactions in both stocks and bonds on the New York Stock Exchange for the month of August were the smallest of any corresponding month since 1900. The sales of stocks aggregated 10,376,190 shares, a decrease of 3,919,135 shares as compared with previous month and of 14,137,831 shares as compared with the corresponding month last year. The heaviest day's trading occurred on the 2d, when 639,151 shares changed hands, and the lightest on the 31st, with a total of 157,262 shares. For the Saturday half holiday the maximum total was 218,875 shares on the 13th and the minimum 98,602 shares on the 27th.

The following table gives the total transactions in stocks for August and the eight months of this year, as compared with the corresponding period in each year back to 1889:

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Money was dearer and discount rates were quiet to-day.

It is reported that the Bank of England will take the unsold portion of Monday's gold consignment. A change in the bank rate to-morrow is not generally anticipated.

The settlement on the Stock Exchange was concluded without trouble. The markets were irregular during the day, rubber, gilt edged, and trunk line shares closing neglected and easy, and Kaffirs and home and foreign rails steady.

American securities opened quiet and about unchanged. In the forenoon values eased off on the disappointing Union Pacific and Southern Pacific earnings statement. Prices hardened a fraction in the afternoon on light Wall Street buying, and the market closed dull, but steady.

Bar silver steady, 24 5-16d per ounce.

Money, 2@2¼ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3 1-16@3¼ per cent.; for three months' bills 3 1-16@3 3-16 per cent.

India Council bills were alloted to-day at 1s 4 1-32d.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: At Madrid, 7.75; at Lisbon, 5.50.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 97f 92½c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 24c for checks.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Prices were firm on the Boerse to-day.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 45½ pfennigs for checks.

Money, 2½ per cent.

Private discount rate, 3¼ per cent.

Houston & Texas Central Consolidated Mortgage Bonds.

Notice of Bonds Drawn for Payment.

The Houston & Texas Central Railroad Company, having in its possession cash proceeds from sales of lands covered by Trust Indenture between Frederic P. Olcott, The Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York, and the Southern Pacific Company, dated April 1, 1890, which are applicable to the purchase of the Houston & Texas Central Railroad Company's Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, secured by such indenture, to an amount sufficient at the price limited in said trust indenture to purchase and retire 225 of such bonds, and, it having been found that such bonds cannot be purchased at or below 110 per centum of the par value thereof and accrued interest thereon, there have been drawn by lot, under the provisions of such trust indenture, bonds secured thereby bearing the distinguishing numbers hereinafter stated, to be paid for out of such proceeds of such land sales at the said rate of 110 per centum of the par value thereof and accrued interest thereon.

The distinguishing numbers of the bonds so drawn are as follows, viz.:

BOND SALE.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HAMILton County, through the undersigned, duly authorized, will offer for sale to the highest bidder, Funding Bonds of Hamilton County, State of New York, to the amount of $125,000. Sealed bids will be received by Peter Harris, Treasurer of Hamilton County, at his office in Hope, N. Y., (Post Office address, Northville, N. Y.,) up to and until the 20th day of September, 1910, at 12 o'clock M., and such bids will be opened at 2 o'clock P. M. on that day at the office of James R. Van Ness in Northville, N. Y.

Such bonds will be known as Funding Bonds of Hamilton County and are issued for the purpose of funding the temporary and floating debt of Hamilton County. They will be of the denomination of $1,000 each and will bear date of December first, 1910. They will be due and payable as follows: $6,000 on the first day of June in each of the years 1921 to 1935, both inclusive, and $7,000 on the first day of June in each of the years 1936 to 1940, both inclusive. They will bear interest at five per cent., payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year. Both principal and interest will be payable at the Northville Bank, Northville, N. Y., in lawful money of the United States, New York exchange. They will be coupon bonds convertible into registered bonds as provided in and by the General Municipal Law. They will not be sold at less than par and accumulated interest, if any. The sale will be for cash on allotment and delivery of bonds, payable to Peter Harris, Treasurer of Hamilton County. These bonds are issued and sold under and by virtue of a resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Hamilton County duly adopted Aug. 18th, 1910. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Bids should be filed securely enclosed in sealed wrappers or envelopes and plainly marked on the outside "Bid for Funding Bonds of Hamilton County." For further information address Peter Harris, Treasurer of Hamilton County, Northville, N. Y., or James R. Van Ness, Attorney for Board of Supervisors, Northville, N. Y.

Dated August 18th, 1910.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Judge Lehman Buys E. H. Sothern's West Side Residence—Pleasant Avenue Property in Trade for Loft—Bronx Shows Activity—Plans Filed for Sloane's Fifth Avenue Store.

The realty market was of a fairly diversified character yesterday, the Bronx showing particular activity in the large number of sales and transfers, including vacant plots for immediate improvement, flats and private residences. In Manhattan the private house market was accentuated by the purchase from the actor, E. H. Sothern of his residence, 37 West Sixty-ninth Street, by Judge Irving Lehman. It is a five story house on plot 20 by 100.5 and has been owned by Mr. Sothern since 1890. He has not, however, occupied it recently. Negotiations for its sale have been going on for some time through L. J. Phillips & Co.

The filing of plans for the new Fifth Avenue store for W. & J. Sloane at Forty-seventh Street adds another big improvement to the rapidly growing business section of the avenue north of Forty-second Street. The new building, which will be an eight-story structure, will cost $400,000.

Seventeenth Street House Sold.

Susan Spinne has sold to John Peel, 345 West Seventeenth Street, a four-story dwelling, on lot 22 by 92. Robert G. Furey was the broker.

Sale in West 104th Street.

Charles S. Kohler has sold for the estate of David Christie the three and one-half story brownstone dwelling, 251 West 104th Street, on lot 18.6 by 100, to William B. Ellison.

Manhattan Avenue Flat Sold.

Theodore Ortmann has sold for Samuel Lederer the five-story double flat, 23 Manhattan Avenue, on lot 27 by 100.

Buyers for East Side Flats.

The six-story apartment house at 348 and 350 East Sixty-sixth Street, on plot 50 by 100, has been sold by Emanuel Simon for M. Kramer to an investor.

Emanuel Simon has sold for George Mundorff, the five-story flat, 162 East Ninety-first Street, on plot 33.4 by 100.5.

Lauter & Blachner have sold for Bella Klein, the four-story and basement double flat with stores, 404 East Eighty-eighth Street, on plot 26 by 100.

Harlem Property in Trade.

Anna R. Morris has given to Morris Weinstein in part payment for the eight-story loft on Lafayette Street extending through to Mulberry Street, south of Bleecker, the six three-story and basement dwellings, 524 to 536 East 117th Street, each on plot 17.10 by 100.11, between Pleasant Avenue and the East River. The sale of the loft by Mr. Weinstein was reported early in the week.

Big Transfer in Mott Haven.

The De Goode Realty Company took title yesterday from the Llewellyn Realty Company to the double row of six and seven-story apartments known as the Mott Haven apartments, occupying a plot 150 by 200 at 428 to 446 East 138th Street and 425 to 439 East 137th Street, the plot beginning 300 feet east of Willis Avenue. The transfer carries a mortgage of $240,000.

Buyers for Flats in Bronx.

The five-story and basement apartment, 859 and 861 Jackson Avenue, on plot 72.6 by 75, has been sold for Alexander Friedenberg by Lauter & Blachner and Bauer & Co., to a client for investment.

Lauter & Blachner and J. Trattner have sold for Philip Fruedenmacher, the four-story triple flat with stores, on the southeast corner of Cauldwell Avenue and 161st Street, on plot 27 by 100.

Kurz & Uren have sold for Mrs. Bertha Sheer, 668 Union Avenue, a five-story new law house, on plot 38.6 by 95, near 152d Street.

Bronx Sales.

The plot 27 by 135, on the west side of Tinton Avenue, 240 feet north of 161st Street, has been sold by Lauter & Blachner and J. Trattner, for Henry Gundlach, to a builder for immediate improvement.

Lauter & Blachner and J. Trattner have sold for Annie Brill, the three-story three family frame dwelling on the southeast corner of 191st Street and Hoffman Street on a plot 25 by 100.

Lauter & Blachner have sold for Vincent Horowitz, of Belmar, N. J., the three family brick dwelling, 1043 College Avenue, on a plot 22 by 92.

The vacant plot on the southeast corner of Tyndall Avenue and 259th Street, 45 by 100, has been sold for Adolph Hohle by Lauter & Blachner in conjunction with Bauer & Co.

Lauter & Blachner and Bauer & Co., have sold for Adolph Hohle, the three-story front and two-story rear buildings at 385 East 152d Street, on lot 25 by 100.

Charles S. Kohler has sold for Francis J. O'Neil to an investor, the two-story frame dwelling, 1217 Bryant Avenue, on plot 20 by 100.

Mount Vernon Sale.

Steven B. Ayres and Walter F. Baylis have sold Lot 37, Hillside Avenue, Mount Vernon, for the Wheeler Corporation. The lot is located in the immediate vicinity of the station of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad, at Vernon Park, Mount Vernon.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Landlords and Agents.—Painting, paperhanging, glazing; estimates. Pollack, 1,475 1st Av. Tel. 6138—Chelsea.

34th Street Store Leased.

Sol Bloom has leased the store 46 West Thirty-fourth Street, to Miss Eva Young, formerly a buyer for Forsythe's, who will open a store there for women's goods. The lease, as recorded, is for five years at an aggregate rental of $125,000.

Sloane's New Fifth Avenue Store.

Plans have been filed for the new W. & J. Sloane store, an eight-story building to be erected on the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-seventh Street, for Elbridge T. Gerry of Newport, R. I., at a cost of $400,000. The building will have a frontage of 100.5 feet on the avenue by 200 feet on the street, of fire-proof construction, with a façade of brick and limestone. John B. Snook's Sons are the architects. The new building will occupy the northerly portion of the Windsor Arcade site, on the east side of Fifth Avenue.

Trinity Building Third Factory.

Plans have been filed with Building Supt. Miller, for an eight-story fire-proof factory to be built on the southwest corner of Hudson and Morton Streets, for the Corporation of Trinity Church, at a cost of $300,000. The building will have a façade of brick with limestone trimmings, with a frontage of 125.5 feet on Hudson Street and 125.3 feet on Morton Street, with an extension of 37.9 by 30. This makes the third factory building for which plans have been filed this year by Trinity. Charles C. Haight is the architect.

Receivers of Rents.

Justice Brady of the Supreme Court has appointed S. Howard Cohen receiver of the rents of 30 Waverly Place, a seven-story loft, pending a suit brought by Julius Loewenthal against Franklin Haines and others to foreclose a second mortgage of $25,000. The prior mortgage is $90,000.

Edward V. Nicholson has been appointed receiver of rents of 66 Catharine Street, a tenement, pending a suit brought by Sarah C. Rodenstein to foreclose a mortgage of $15,000.

Joseph W. Keller has been named as receiver of a five-story tenement on the north side of 178th Street, 208.4 feet east of St. Nicholas Avenue, on plot 41.8 by 100, pending a suit brought by Regina Katz and others to foreclose a mortgage of $26,000.

James J. Loey has been appointed receiver of the rents of a six-story elevator apartment building on the northwest corner of 158th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, on plot 78.5 by 199.10 and irregular, by Justice Brady of the Supreme Court, in proceedings brought by Norman Ferteiberg to foreclose a mortgage of $25,000.

Notes.

Leroy Coventry has moved his office to 156 West Seventy-second Street, between Columbus Avenue and Broadway.

Frederick Fox & Co. have leased for the Manufacturers Building Company the entire fifth floor in the Peter Cooper Building at Twenty-seventh Street and Fourth Avenue, to the Nathan Krauskops Company and the American Romper Company for a long term.

Dr. William Carr, who owns and occupies 35 West Forty-sixth Street, is the buyer of the adjoining house, 33, sold recently by Frank D. Veiller for Mrs. Jacob N. Beam.

M. & L. Hess have leased for M. L. & C. Ernst the eighth loft at 11 West Twentieth Street to the Vienna Novelty Company; for the estate of Guy Witthaus the eighth loft at 15 West Fourth Street to Ohlbaum Brothers, and for the Robert Burns Realty Company the eleventh loft at 67 Irving Place to the Stadler Photographing Company.

The Duross Company has leased for the Hanover Lunch Company to John H. Little the seventh and eighth lofts of 426 West Fourteenth Street for three years, and for Charles P. Faber the third loft of 10 West Eighteenth Street.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

In overruling protests filed by several importers the Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday decided that goods entered under the Dingley tariff act of 1897 and withdrawn from bond under the act of 1909, are not entitled to a second reappraisement as a basis for computing the accruing duties.

According to the testimony the merchandise was imported and entered under the act of 1897, and was assessed for duty on the appraised or entered value. The goods were withdrawn from bond subsequent to Aug. 5, 1909, when the new tariff law went into effect. The importers claimed that duty should only be assessed upon the actual market value of the merchandise at the time of exportation to the United States, and further alleged the right to make a deduction from the original appraised or entered value, in accordance with Sub-Section 7 of Section 28 of the act of Aug. 5, 1909.

In other words, according to Judge Somerville, who writes the decision for the board, the claims of the importers are tantamount to a demand for a second reappraisement under the later tariff act. The board, in denying the claims, holds that they are not in harmony with the intent of the law enacted last year. The assessments as made by the customs officials are therefore upheld. The importers figuring in the litigation include the Delta Bag Company, the Fulton Bag and Burlap Company, James F. White & Co., and the Ames-Harris-Neville Company.

The board, for the second time, handed down a decision in the case of Henry Wilhelm, an importer of glue. In the earlier case the board made a ruling unfavorable to the importer on the theory that he failed to appear at the hearing and that no testimony was offered to show that there was any error in the return made by the United States weigher. It appeared later that Wilhelm had appeared, and on this showing the case was reopened.

The importations consisted of glue. The importer alleged that duty was assessed upon an excessive weight of the merchandise, which increase of weight was due to atmospheric conditions attributable to the absorption of sea moisture. Judge Somerville remarks that while the testimony is somewhat indefinite, it probably tends to sustain the contention. At the same time the General Appraiser says there was no extraordinary absorption of sea moisture, and for this reason no allowance can be made. The Collector's action is upheld.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF LIQUIDATION OF THE CITY DEBT, ROOM 206 CITY HALL ANNEX.
New Orleans, La., Aug. 22, 1910.

The Board of Liquidation, City Debt, acting under authority of Act No. 19 of the General Assembly of the State of Louisiana for the session of 1906, and Act No. 116 of said General Assembly for the session of 1908, and Act No. 23 of 1910, which said acts, No. 19 of 1906 and No. 116 of 1908, have been ratified by constitutional amendment, and have become part of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, will receive sealed proposals at its office, in the City of New Orleans, Louisiana, up to 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, Oct. 4, 1910, for the purchase of seven million dollars in face value of the new public improvement bonds of the City of New Orleans, authorized by and to be issued under the provisions of the acts aforementioned, and the constitutional amendments ratifying same.

Said bonds are of the denomination of one thousand dollars each, and bear interest at the rate of four per cent, (4) per annum, evidenced by interest coupons attached, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year, respectively. They are by law exempt from taxation, State, parish, and municipal.

Said bonds are payable Jan. 1, 1942, and are subject to call at the option of the City of New Orleans after Jan. 1, 1928, and will be issued under and subject to the acts aforementioned, which are referred to and made part hereof for greater certainty and particularity.

Said proposals shall be received under and subject to the following conditions, to wit:

1st. No sale shall be made of any of the said bonds unless the aggregate of the bids shall be for the full amount of said bonds, to wit: $7,000,000 in face value.

2d. Said bonds will be adjudicated to the highest bidder or bidders, provided that said bonds or any part thereof shall not be adjudicated for less than par and accrued interest, less a commission not to exceed six per centum on the principal thereof.

3d. All matured interest coupons on said bonds shall be cut from said bonds and canceled, and the successful bidder, or bidders, shall pay the interest which may have accrued on said bonds up to the date of delivery.

4th. Said bonds shall be paid for by the successful bidder, or bidders, in cash as fast as they can be signed and delivered, said deliveries to be made on twenty-four hours' notice. First delivery to be made Nov. 5, 1910.

All bonds to be delivered within a period not to exceed one hundred and twenty days from date of final acceptance of bid.

5th. No bid will be received or considered unless accompanied by a certified check on same chartered bank in the City of New Orleans for three per cent. of the amount of each bid, the check, or checks, of the successful bidder, or bidders, shall be cashed and the proceeds retained by the Board of Liquidation as a guarantee that the said bidder, or bidders, will comply with his or their bids, and said proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the bonds last delivered to said bidder, or bidders, respectively. In case of neglect or refusal to comply with any bid, the proceeds of said bidder's check shall be forfeited to the Sewerage and Water Board.

6th. Any local bank, or banks, bidding for said bonds are referred to Section 2 of Act No. 23 of 1910, and may stipulate in its or their said bid, or bids, that they desire to be awarded the custody of the Public Improvement Fund after the 5th of November, 1910, as provided for in said Act No. 23 of 1910.

7th. If any local bank, or banks, should be awarded the depository as provided in Act No. 23 of 1910, the said local bank, or banks, shall be required to pay the rate of interest on daily balances in the amount and at the time provided therein, and shall comply with all the provisions of said statutes as to security and other matters.

8th. The Board of Liquidation City Debt reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Mark all bids: "Proposals for purchase of New Public Improvement Bonds."

Further particulars and information will be furnished upon application to T. Wolfe, Jr., Secretary of the Board of Liquidation, City Debt, Room 206 City Hall Annex, New Orleans, La.

SURROGATE CITATION.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW York, by the grace of God free and independent, to GEORGE H. RAYMOND, CHARLES E. RUDD, EDWARD D. McKOWN, LOUIS H. PORTER, ARTHUR F. REES, JOSEPHINE HUTCHINSON, MABEL REES COFFIN, EMMA REES RUDD, and FLORENCE REES, the executors and heirs and next of kin of NORMAN I. REES, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas George H. Raymond of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing and the codicil thereto relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Norman I. Rees, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of September, one thousand nine hundred and ten, at half-past ten o'oclock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

COTTON BULLS HOLD 100,000 BALES YET

Season Closed, and How Much Profit They Make Depends on Market for This Load.

ALL QUIET ON LAST DAY

Bears Were Out of It and There Were No Sensations—Campaign May Extend to Fall Options.

The 1909-10 cotton season, which has made more cotton Exchange sensations than any previous one, closed yesterday without fireworks. August cotton which had gone on Monday, during the bear panic, to 20 cents a pound, or $100 a bale, the highest price in thirty-seven years, closed at 18 cents a pound, after only desultory trading.

Traders who had become convinced on Tuesday that there was no longer any considerable short interest to bid for cotton on the closing day of the season devoted most of their attention yesterday to the new crop options, particularly September, the month in which any continuance of the bull campaign into the new season might be expected to appear. Even this month, however, could show but little activity, and the price movement was downward.

With yesterday the most successful bull movement ever engineered on the Cotton Exchange came to a close with the season leaving the Hayne-Scales-Brown clique with about 100,000 bales of cotton on their hands. What price this cotton cost them on the average the Street can only guess, but a currently accepted estimate puts it at 12 cents. The amount of the bull profits is even harder to estimate because it was not all smooth sailing for the bulls since the campaign began last Fall.

There were many ups and downs to the market in the Winter months which would have made it easy for individuals in the buying movement to have lost large sums. In January when the May option sold down from 16.42 cents a pound to around 14 cents the most active of the bull leaders was said to have been forced to sell practically all of his May cotton. His losses of paper profit were estimated by his friends at $3,000,000. Since the close of the May option the bulls have had the market practically all their own way, but in maintaining prices they have had to take over some 700,000 bales of cotton, of which the greater part has been sold. No account is obtainable of the profits above carrying charges and other expenses obtained for this cotton, which according to market reports has been sold usually at substantial concessions from the ruling prices on the Exchange.

A factor which adds to the difficulties of making even a guess at the profits of the bull campaign is the 100,000 bales said to be still in the hands of the bulls. If there is any real basis for the estimate that this cotton averaged its owners 12 cents a pound, or $60 a bale, at its present market valuation of 18 cents a pound, it would show a profit of $30 a bale, or $9,000,000. Whether the bulls will be able to find purchasers for this cotton at present prices is something that only the coming months and the marketing of the new crop can determine.

The charges of conspiracy on which the bull leaders were indicted in the Federal courts have never been brought to trial. If they are not molested, it is the general expectation that they will carry their operations into the new season.

In an interview given out a few days ago, signed by the three leading bulls, planters were advised to hold the cotton, which would ordinarily be coming into the market in quantity early in the Fall for still higher prices as the season advances. This statement has been taken by the trade as evidence that the same group which dominated the past season's market will attempt to repeat their campaign this year.

BOMBAY MILLS TO CLOSE.

Due to the High Price of Cotton and General Trade Depression.

BOMBAY, Aug. 31.—In consequence of the high price of cotton and the general depression in trade seven cotton mills here have announced that they will close down on Sept. 30.

Seven thousand hands will be affected by this curtailment.

A dozen other mills will, it is expected, follow suit.

COTTON MEN FACE PROBLEM.

How to Move Crop if British Banks Insist on Guaranteed Bills.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—With the close of the season to-night Southern cotton men declare that they are now face to face with what may prove a serious problem if they are forced to move the coming crop under conditions radically different from those which have prevailed in the past.

The situation was brought about by the declaration of British bankers that in future American banks will have to guarantee cotton bills of lading before they will be honored across the water. This being impossible, a conference of American and British bankers has been arranged for early next week in London.

The hopes of the Southern cotton men rest largely on the action taken by the Southeastern Freight Association, the Southeast Mississippi Valley Association, and the Southwest Tariff Committee, representing railroads covering the entire cotton belt. These roads have agreed upon a bill of lading certificate plan which the cotton men believe should satisfy the British bankers.

According to this plan only one original bill of lading is to be signed. As many duplicates as necessary may be made, but all of these will be stamped "Copy, not negotiable." Through bills of lading upon export shipments will be issued only from concentrating points. No local agent is allowed to issue such a bill. The cotton must go to concentrating points, according to the railroad officials, in order that the railroad can certify that the bales are in the railroad's possession.

Said He Was Ill; Died of Poison.

Complaining of being ill, a young man entered the Westchester Police Station and asked Lieut. Robinson to send him to a hospital. He scarcely had given his name as Joseph Stadk, and said he had no home, when he sank to the floor. Before Dr. Carey, of Fordham Hospital reached him, he was unconscious. He died a few minutes later at the hospital. There the case was set down as one of poisoning. The police could find no one who knew Stadk.

Jails Woman for Pension Fraud.

Mrs. Annie Abbott pleaded guilty in the United States Circuit Court yesterday to having assisted in the collection of a false pension claim. Judge Hough fined her $500. As she was unable to pay it she was committed to the penitentiary, where she will have to remain unless after serving thirty days she obtains a discharge as a pauper.

INDUSTRIES SHOW BIG GAINS.

With Wages Up, American Locomotive and Republic Steel Earn More.

The leading industries, the American Locomotive Company and the Republic Iron and Steel Company, issued their annual reports yesterday, both of which showed gratifying improvement over the previous year, when in common with other industries they were still feeling the effects of the 1907 panic. Neither report comments at any length upon the outlook, although both record unfilled orders in large amount.

The American Locomotive Company's gross earnings were $32,203,392, an increase of $13,194,758 over the previous year, its net earnings $2,597,949, an increase of $1,255,277, and its surplus after the payment of 7 per cent. on its preferred stock $334,758, compared with a deficit the previous year of $762,860. There was charged against the year's earnings for depreciation $808,484. The increase in wages allowed to its employes reduced the margin of profit, the report says, for the reason that the company's orders had been accepted at prices which were not based on the assumption of increased wages. The report does not say how far ahead the company is supplied with orders, but on July 1 it had unfilled orders to the amount of $17,550,000, compared with only $6,150,000 on July 1, 1909.

As the revival in plant activity, according to the report, was confined to the last six months of the year, it would appear that of the total earnings of $32,000,000 about $22,000,000 were earned during the second half of the year. The automobile department of the company has developed a five-ton truck, which will be placed on the market during the present year.

The report of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, which says that it is believed that the producing capacity of the company will be well employed during the coming year, shows unfilled orders on June 30 of 341,887 tons of finished and semi-finshed products and 82,906 tons of pig iron, compared with 392,420 finished and semi-finished products and 94,247 tons of pig iron on order on June 30, 1909. The gross business of the company this past year amounted to $28,296,265, compared with $19,595,944 in 1909 and with $31,200,000 in 1907. The gross profits were $4,227,368 and the net profits $2,902,915, the largest ever realized by the company except in 1907. Despite the payment of increased wages a saving estimated at $900,000 was effected in the cost of production by reason of improved condition of the company's plants and other favorable factors. The prices at which the products were shipped this past year were $4 a ton on finished steel and about $2.60 a ton on pig iron under the prices prevailing in 1907. The total amount of the outstanding dividend warrants and the discount on bonds totaling, along with other items, $2,198,994, were charged against the surplus account, leaving a net surplus of $4,954,660.

Drilling tests of the company's coal lands, the report says, have revealed the fact that in the report of the expert committee made in 1904 the coal reserve of the company was overestimated. The revision of this estimate places the reserve of coal at 164,031,406 tons, whereas the reserve as estimated on June 30 a year ago was 213,674,269 tons. The ore reserves on June 30 were 127,300,000 tons, compared with 125,200,000 the previous year.

NOT GOBBLED BY 'INTERESTS'

Mr. Higgins of Success Magazine Explains a Tale That It Has Been.

From several sources last night came word to the newspapers that control of Success magazine had passed to the "conservative" wing of the Republican Party, and its opposition to "the interests" would end in consequence, the magazine to become practically their organ instead. All of this was promptly denied by Edward E. Higgins, President of The Success Company, who organized the magazine with Dr. Orison Swett Marden, and controls it with him.

"There is absolutely no truth in that story," said Mr. Higgins at his home at Tarrytown. "The only change in the company or the management of the magazine in any way is the severing of connection with it of David G. Evans and Samuel Mervin. The former was Treasurer of the company and the latter Dr. Marden's assistant in the editorial offices. Together they controlled about 4 per cent. of the stock of the company, but were practically nothing but employes. We dismissed them for a peculiar reason after due consideration.

"They are both very ambitious young men and, after obtaining the backing of a man whose name I do not care to mention, they tried quietly to obtain a larger control of the magazine stock. Naturally, Dr. Marden and myself did not like this and, realizing that if the young men continued with us further there might be more dissension, we asked for their resignations.

"Politics had nothing to do with the dismissal of the young men. There will be no more change in the editorial policy of the magazine than there has been in its financial control. In fact I, myself, was largely responsible for the inauguration of our crusade against 'the interests.'"

The story as originally served to the newspapers was that the agent of the new interests in the control of the magazine was Harry A. Lewis, "a prominent up-State politician and member of the Old Guard." Of him Mr. Higgins said: "Mr. Lewis is a member of our Directorate, but is practically only an employe, having charge of the agency department. He has a farm at Petersburg, N. Y., in Rensselaer County, and I believe is rather active in Republican politics up there. His position in the company will not be affected by the removal of Mr. Evans and Mr. Merwin except that he will possibly take the former's place as Treasurer. He controls only a small amount of the stock."

Mr. Merwin is well known in the magazine world. He is the author of "Calumet K," "The Road to Frontenac," "The Short Line War," and other novels, and made a trip to China to investigate the opium traffic, writing "Drugging a Nation" on his return

ESCAPE FROM BURNING HOUSE

The Rev. H. S. Knabenschuh's Summer Home at Riverhead, L. I., Destroyed.

The Summer home at Riverhead, L. I., of the Rev. Henry S. Knabenschuh of 793 Quincy Street, Brooklyn, was burned to the ground early yesterday morning. It is believed he lost his home through his failure to extinguish the fire in several piles of leaves and dry grass which he had been burning the afternoon and evening before.

The Rev. Mr. Knabenschuh, who is pastor of the Lafayette Avenue Lutheran Church of Brooklyn, built a fine bungalow beside the beach near Riverhead, where he and his wife were accustomed to spend their vacations. On Tuesday evening he believed he had extinguished the fires in piles of leaves. He was very tired when he retired, and might have lost his life in the fire had not his wife been awakened by the smell of smoke. She aroused him and then called the housekeeper, Mrs. Sarhardt, and William Jacobs of Brooklyn, a guest. None had time to do more than grab some of their clothing from chairs as they ran from the burning house.

It was cold upon the beach and they were chilled as they scantily attired themselves in what clothing they had taken with them. Help was impossible, as the house, a frame structure, was some distance from neighbors' homes. By the time the neighbors had been aroused the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to check it, and everything was burned, a brisk wind fanning the flames. The loss was estimated at upward of $5,000 upon the building. The contents possessed sentimental value far above that figure.
